PRESIDENT-ELECT GREETED BY CROWDS

RAINEY NAMED NEXT SPEAKER BY DEMOCRATS

BYRNS IS SELECTED NEW FLOOR LEADER

South Trimble Is Reelected; Steering Committee of 10 Agreed Upon.

By J. BERNARD McDONNELL.

Representative Henry T. Rainey, of Illinois, white-haired veteran of many a brilliant legislative battle, yesterday was named by the Democratic members of the House as their candidate for Speaker of the House of the Seventy-third Congress. The nomination is tantamount to election.

Representative Joseph W. Byrns, of Tennessee, another veteran of House battles, was named floor leader to take the place made vacant by the promotion of Mr. Rainey.

Representative Rainey received 166 votes to 112 for John McDuffie, of Alabama. Representative John E. Rankin, of Mississippi, had 20 votes; Representative Marvin Jones, of Texas, had 2, and Representative William B. Bankhead, of Alabama, got 1.

Liberals Are Winners.

The contest resolved itself, in the final hours, into a contest between the liberals and conservatives of the House and the liberals won. Representative Rainey has at times been described as a wild-eyed radical, although in the closing days of the campaign for Speaker he often was described by some of his opponents as too conservative to please the liberals.

Representative John McDuffie, of Alabama, was the principal opponent of Mr. Rainey. Mr. McDuffie was considered the candidate of the conservatives.

South Trimble, of Kentucky, was reelected clerk of the House over Representative William L. Nelson, of Missouri. Trimble received 158 votes and Nelson 118.

Others Are Reelected.

The House reelected Kenneth Romney sergeant at arms, Joseph J. Sinnott doorkeeper and Finis E. Scott postmaster. The three were unopposed.

The Rev. James Shera Montgomery was relected chaplain, defeating the Rev. Dobney, of Joplin, Mo., 121 to 75.

Representative Thomas H. Cullen, of New York, was elected assistant leader.

There was a determined fight to District Gas Tax Raise Bill Trapped by Jam

Prospects of a 1 cent increase in the District gasoline tax rate, proposed by the Senate District Committee in a modification of the extensive Mapes tax program, were regarded as virtually dead last night as the short session of Congress entered its last lap.

Included in the long list of local bills caught in the last minute legislative jam, were the Georgetown-Washington Gas Light Co. merger bill, the bill to authorize the District to borrow from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and a host of less important measures.

Bomb Clew

Boy, 15, Watched Closely After Letter Regrets Zangara's Failure.

A threatening letter received by Edward J. Singleton, chief of police of Watertown, N. Y., may lead to the arrest of a 15-year-old Italian boy in connection with the sending of a bomb to President-elect Roosevelt two weeks ago.

The police chief announced yesterday that the youth, a resident of Watertown, sent him the letter some time prior to the time postal clerks in the City Post Office here found the bomb amid incoming mail. The boy, although not under arrest, is being carefully watched until his handwriting can be compared with the contents of a note sent with the bomb.

William J. Satterfield, chief postal inspector for the Washington area, said last night the note had been turned over to New York postal authorities and the Secret Service.

The letter received by Chief Singleton was signed "Paul Antonell of Italy." It read:

"Chief Singleton: Sir: I am friend of Zangara and I want to take up work that he fail to do. I kill all Presidents, Governors and Millionaires. I

CHINESE RECAPTURE CITY FROM INVADERS

Lingyuan Counter-Attack by Shock Troops Checks Japanese Drive.

Tokyo (Friday), March 3 (U.P.).—Japanese forces entered Pingchuan, 30 miles east of Chengteh-Fu, the capital of Jehol Province, at 12:30 p. m. today, it was announced here.

Peiping, China, March 2 (U.P.).—The Chinese high command issued a communique tonight, claiming that a desperate counter-attack had resulted in their recapture of the strategic city of Lingyuan and checked the Japanese advance into Jehol Province.

The Chinese declared that their soldiers, reinforced by picked troops, hurried into the front lines by Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang, in command of all forces in the war zone, had caught the triumphant Japanese by surprise and driven them from Lingyuan.

The reports were without confirmation in Japanese quarters, but the Chinese military headquarters insisted they had recaptured the strategic city controlling the highway to Chengteh-Fu, capital of Jehol.

The communique declared the Japanese held Lingyuan only briefly, and that the Chinese not only had recaptured it, but held heavily fortified positions in the surrounding hills, easily defendable.

The news, which served somewhat to relieve fears growing in native and foreign quarters as the Japanese advance swept on through town after town in the Jehol campaign, was followed by publication of a telegram which the military said came from Gen. Sun Tien-Ying, confirming his loyalty to China.

The telegram further reported that Gen. Sun retained the most important defenses at Chihfeng, north of Lingyuan on the highway, which the Japanese claimed to have captured.

Gen. Sun apparently abandoned the village of Chihfeng itself, withdrawing to hills around the town commanding its defenses, or defense of the road southward toward Chengteh-Fu.

Gen. Tang Yu-Lin, governor of Jehol, sent a dispatch declaring: "I intend to fight to the finish. I am going to Chihfeng immediately."

The Japanese had reported they captured Lingyuan following a break

Prominent St. Joseph Man One Victim; Chief of Police Target.

St. Joseph, Mich., March 2 (A.P.).—Apparently becoming suddenly insane, Peter Dombrowski, St. Joseph laborer, today shot and wounded two men, one seriously, fired at Chief of Police Ben Phairas as he rushed to the scene, then turned a gun on himself, ending his life.

Frank A. Kleble, prominent St. Joseph business man, was wounded critically, and Emil Weber, a neighbor, was shot in the hip. Dombrowski fired at Chief Phairas as he entered the yard of his home, then killed himself as the official dashed after him.

NOTABLES MEET BODY OF WALSH IN ARRIVAL HERE

Family to Decide Today on State or Private Funeral Rites.

CUMMINGS IS SEEN ATTORNEY GENERAL

(Associated Press.)

To a Capital stricken with grief at his passing, Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, returned in death last night while the Nation paid him tribute as one of its outstanding figures.

As a great throng at the Union Station stood in silence, the body of the veteran legislator—President-elect Roosevelt's choice for the Attorney General's place in his Cabinet—was taken from the Florida Limited and to his apartment here.

The widow, the former Senora de Truffin, of Cuba, to whom the senator was wed only last week, was prostrate in her grief, with a doctor in attendance and friends from the Cuban colony near her as well as relatives.

Cummings Seen Choice.

Friends of President-elect Roosevelt were convinced last night that Homer Cummings, of Connecticut, would be his choice to take the place of the late Senator Walsh, of Montana, as Attorney General.

It is understood that Cummings, originally slated for governor general of the Philippines, will hold the office temporarily and eventually go on to the important insular post.

Arrangements Not Complete.

No funeral arrangements have as yet been completed, a question which members of the family probably will decide today.

It is understood they have not determined whether there shall be a small private funeral in Montana or a state funeral from the Senate chamber in which Walsh served more than twenty years.

A distinguished group of notables met the body on its arrival last night, headed by Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Senator Walsh's colleague, and Senator David I. Walsh, of Massachusetts, representing the Senate.

Woman and Two Men at Fatal Party to Face Murder Charges.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., March 2.—A woman and two men were lodged in the Anne Arundel County Jail tonight awaiting a preliminary hearing on charges connected with the death of Howard Stonesifer, 28, whose charred body was found in the ashes of his home on Weems Creek, near Annapolis, early on the morning of February 15.

Those held are Rose Welch, of Eastport, charged with murder, and Irvin Ford and Albert Givens, taxi drivers of Annapolis, charged with arson and being accessories to murder. Their arrest came as a result of an investigation conducted by Detective Joseph Daugherty, of Baltimore. A coroner's jury which investigated the case held that Stonesifer came to his death from unknown causes. The Welch woman and Ford and Givens were witnesses at this inquest. All three were members of a party on the fatal night.

Stonesifer, a former Navy enlisted man, had been employed as a watchman at the Naval Academy until two weeks before his death.

FARM FINANCE UNITS MERGED BY ROOSEVELT

Henry Morgenthau, Jr., to Head Consolidated Agencies.

SENATORS ATTEND "BEDSIDE" PARLEY

Wheat and Cotton Stabilizing Operations Will Be Liquidated Rapidly.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt arrived here last night prepared with high courage and deep resolve to take up the office of President of the United States tomorrow. The smiling demeanor of the President-elect had taken on a tinge of grim reserve as he approached his high office in the midst of an economic and financial crisis. Grief for the death of his designated Attorney General had tempered the usual geniality of the former Governor of New York, and one of his first acts on arriving in Union Station was to inquire the hour of arrival of the funeral train bringing the late Senator Thomas J. Walsh.

Starts Confabs on Arrival.

Hardly had the President-elect arrived at his hotel than he began a series of conferences that brought forth announcements filled with importance in the economic crisis.

The first announcement was to the effect that he would consolidate all Federal farm financing agencies under the chairmanship of Henry Morgenthau, Jr., of New York, chosen to succeed James C. Stone, recently resigned as head of the Farm Board. The activities of the Farm Board, land banks, intermediate credit banks, production loans of the Department of Agriculture and loans of regional agricultural corporations will all be consolidated in the new agency.

"Bedside" Conference.

The wheat and cotton stabilization operations that have been carried on under the Farm Board will be liquidated as rapidly as possible under Mr. Morgenthau, it was announced.

Mr. Roosevelt convoked a senatorial "bedside conference" very soon after his arrival at the Mayflower Hotel. Almost a dozen senators were present, including such Democratic stalwarts as Secretary of State-designate Cordell Hull, Senators Robinson, of Arkansas; Byrnes, of South Carolina; Pittman, of Nevada; Wheeler, of Montana; Walsh, of Massachusetts; Dill, of

CHANCES ARE SLIM FOR CAPITAL BUDGET

$39,000,000 District Supply Measure in Jam With Few Hours Left.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

Caught in a last-minute maelstrom of national legislation, the District supply bill, carrying $39,000,000 in annual and permanent local appropriations, last night was accorded a bare fighting chance of enactment at this session.

"I think the bill is lost," House Appropriations Chairman Joseph W. Byrns volunteered yesterday, following unexpected early adjournment of the Senate.

To escape defeat, the bill must be passed swiftly today by the chamber, sent immediately to conference, agreement reached on widely controversial issues, and the conference report adopted by both houses.

This verged on the impossible, in view of the adamant stand against Senate increases all along the line, taken by Chairman Clarence Cannon of the House District Appropriations subcommittee and his Democratic colleagues.

Senator Hiram Bingham (Republican), Connecticut, chairman of the Senate District Appropriations Committee, refused, however, to abandon hope for the bill. He was optimistic as to its prospects.

If the measure is not sent to the White House before the death of the Seventy-second Congress all of the long-drawn-out legislative processes through which the bill already has passed must be repeated next session

Howell Reported "Losing Ground"

Veteran Senator Is Nearing Crisis in His Battle Against Pneumonia.

(Associated Press.)

Senator Robert B. Howell, of Nebraska, was reported last night at Walter Reed Hospital "to be slipping some" in his fight against pneumonia.

Earlier in the day the senator had been reported improved slightly. Since 8 p. m., however, he was said by physicians to have lost some of the ground.

It was indicated that the veteran Nebraskan, who was taken to the hospital Saturday, might be approaching the crisis in his pneumonia attack.

New First Lady Cuts Dates as Walsh Dies

Mrs. Roosevelt Will Not Attend Ball; White House Luncheon Dropped, But Guests Invited to Tea; Reception Status in Doubt.

By VYLLA POE WILSON.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, on her arrival in Washington last night, announced that she would not attend any social functions arranged for the inauguration on account of the death of Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, Attorney General-designate in her husband's Cabinet. Mrs. Roosevelt explained that she would keep engagements, however, of strictly official character.

She and her daughter will not attend the inaugural ball nor the inaugural concert tonight. The luncheon at the White House for tomorrow has been canceled, but Mrs. Roosevelt stated that she and her husband will be glad to see those who have been invited to the luncheon at the tea in the afternoon. This tea will be given because so many people invited have came to Washington from afar who will not have an opportunity to be received at the White House again soon. She stated that she did not regard this as official. The dinner in the evening will probably be held, as only relatives were invited.

Mrs. Roosevelt said that if the re-

Tidal Wave and Fire Add to Horror in 20 Towns; Homes Razed.

Tokyo (Friday), March 3 (U.P.).—Earthquake, tidal wave and fire caused heavy damage in a dozen prefectures of Japan today. A large death toll was feared. Twenty towns were damaged.

It was announced officially that 380 persons were missing in Iwate Prefecture, and that 1,962 houses there had been destroyed by the quake or the tidal wave. An official announcement issued at Morioka at 9 a. m. placed the Iwate Prefecture death toll at 300 and the number of buildings destroyed at 2,600, including 300 destroyed by fire.

Two Men in Tokyo Commit 'Harakiri'

Tokyo (Friday), March 3 (U.P.).—Two cases of "harakiri," or "honorable suicide," in accordance with an old Japanese custom, occurred today in an effort further to embarrass the government, already beset by war in China and an earthquake and tidal wave in Japan.

The first was committed by a youth, Yoshio Fuji, 26, identified as a member of the Proletarian party, who recently went on a hunger strike because of the government's alleged failure to punish the guilty parties in the Meiji Sugar Co. tariff scandal.

HOOVER POSTPONES VOYAGE DEPARTURE

Will Remain in New York for Several Days on Private Business.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

Because extraordinary pressure of official business during the last ten days has prevented his disposing of a number of urgent affairs in New York City, President Hoover yesterday announced abandonment of his plans to sail from New York tomorrow night en route to California.

Instead, he will remain in New York for several days, in the hope that he may start his projected trip through the Panama Canal by the next schedule sailing. The sailing date, however, still is indeterminate.

A meeting between President Hoover and President-elect Roosevelt has been arranged for the White House today, but the official word of this sudden change in the preinaugural plans gave no hint that it involved more than an informal exchange of courtesies.

Should the incoming and outgoing Presidents turn to a discussion of business affairs, at home or abroad, the occasion would mark their third exchange on those subjects since the election.

The text of the White House announcement of Mr. Hoover's personal plans follows:

"The President finds it necessary to attend to some personal matters which he had hoped to take care of by the end of this administration, but he has been too occupied with his official business. His sailing for California via Panama, therefore, has been postponed. He hopes to get away on the succeeding steamer. While in New York, he will stay at a hotel. He is chairman of three

MOTORCADE PASSES HIS COURT OF HONOR

Inaugural Weather

Prospects for a favorable weather setting on inauguration day, tomorrow, increased considerably last night when the Weather Bureau reversed previous dubious prophecies and forecast "probably fair" weather. The official bulletin for the District follows:

"Mostly cloudy Friday; Saturday, probably fair; not much change in temperature."

Franklin Delano Roosevelt last night came to the seat of the government he will head in the ensuing four years—steady of hand and eye as he faces the future and the "new deal" that begins when the clock has ticked off the few final hours of the Hoover administration.

Dour skies shed a chill drizzle as the President-elect and his entourage stepped off their special train on the lower level in Union Station just before 9:30 and were whisked out of a side entrance to the Mayflower Hotel.

Braving the cold rain, a crowd approximating 1,500 Washingtonians and visitors gave forth salvo after salvo of cheers as the incoming Chief Executive's cavalcade suddenly emerged from the station driveway and set off toward the hotel.

Large Reception Group.

A moment before Mr. Roosevelt had emerged smilingly on the observation platform of the train, his arms interlinked with those of his wife and his son, James. The group was immediately greeted with a barrage of camera flashes and he blinked, somewhat disconcerted for a moment, as the dull flash powder explosions sounded rapidly.

The station and its eastern environs swarmed with uniformed policemen, plain-clothes men and Secret Service operatives. The general public was excluded from the level on which the Roosevelt train came in and even newspapermen and photographers were held a couple of rods from the point where the President-elect stepped over a wooden gangplank to his waiting limousine.

Mr. Roosevelt was greeted by a large reception group in which were Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, inauguration impresario, and Warren Delano Robbins, chief protocol officer of the State Department, a cousin. Several

SENATE VOTE TODAY ON 'DICTATOR' PLAN

Program to Cut 150 Million or More From Costs Is Before Roosevelt.

(Associated Press.)

A comprehensive program for subtracting between $150,000,000 and $200,000,000 from the cost of the Federal Government lay before President-elect Roosevelt last night as a guide toward economy.

Most of the alterations may be carried out through executive orders, provided the Senate approves today the conference report on the Treasury-Postoffice Department supply bill carrying broad authority for the incoming President to reorganize the Government.

The House Wednesday approved the conference report. Senate adoption and signature by President Hoover remain before enactment.

The plan was drafted by Representative Lewis W. Douglas, of Arizona, who has been appointed Director of the Budget, and Swagar Sherley, a former chairman of the House Appropriations Committee and a Roosevelt adviser.

Speaker Garner, the Vice President-elect, in disclosing the completion of the program, said that if the next Congress would give the President power to reduce salaries and cut veterans' compensation that between $700,000,000 and $800,000,000 could be saved annually.

The Douglas plan is one of the items on the Democrats' budget balancing program that will be submitted to the special session of the new Congress.

Another economy move, to set up a special Congressional budget balancing program, is being considered by Democratic leaders. It is understood to be sponsored by the incoming administration, but the details have not been worked out.

Reports were current at the Capitol that the special session of the new Congress would be convened late in March instead of mid-April as originally suggested by Roosevelt. Speaker Garner said, however, that while he did not know of any change in the original plans, the sooner the special session tackled the incoming President's legislative program, the better it would be for the country.

Under the economy provisions of the $545,000,000 Treasury-Postoffice bill, Mr. Roosevelt would be empowered to abolish bureaus and their functions, consolidate and transfer agencies. This may be done through Executive orders, subject to a veto only by two-thirds majority of both branches of Congress and then only through affirmative action.

In addition, the Chief Executive may impound all appropriations made for the agencies abolished or curtailed. There are more than 70 independent Government agencies, and it is understood that Douglas' plan calls for the elimination of many and the consolidation of others with existing major departments.

RAINEY IS SELECTED AS NEXT SPEAKER

oust Mr. Trimble from his job as clerk of the House. There had been considerable criticism of Mr. Trimble because of his activity in support of Mr. McDuffie, and there was an effort to have him removed and put Representative William L. Nelson, of Missouri, in his place. Mr. Nelson was not reelected to the next House. Representative Arthur H. Greenwood, of Indiana, probably will be named party whip by Representative Byrns, the new party floor leader.

Nominated by Byrns.

When the party caucus began, behind closed doors, the election of Mr. Rainey was assured by Representative Byrns. Mr. Byrns, who had been a candidate for Speaker, took the floor and nominated Mr. Rainey. Representative Robert Crosser, of Ohio, who also had been a candidate for Speaker, seconded the nomination.

Representative William B. Bankhead, of Alabama, nominated Mr. McDuffie. There had been talk that Representative Bankhead would be chosen by the Rainey followers as the leader of the House. Representative Will Doxey, of Mississippi, put Mr. Rankin in the race. Representative William P. Connery, jr., seconded the nomination of Mr. McDuffie, but the final siren blew when Representative Thomas H. Cullen, of New York, arose and seconded the nomination of Mr. Rainey. That meant that, as was expected, the Tammany delegation was going for the Illinoisan instead of for Mr. McDuffie as had been predicted and counted on by the McDuffie camp.

Despite talk of bitternesses engendered in the campaign, Representative McDuffie took the floor and pledged his wholehearted support to party policies and the new administration. It was a deep blow to the Alabaman, but he refused to let anybody see how deep.

First In 50 Years.

Election of Representative Rainey as Speaker marks the first time that a northern Democrat has been elected Speaker of the House in more than 50 years.

When the caucus convened a few minutes after 4 o'clock, Representative Clarence F. Lea, of California, was elected chairman and Representative William V. Gregory, of Kentucky, secretary, and Representative Jed Johnson, of Oklahoma, assistant secretary.

The caucus convened behind closed doors to the disappointment of hundreds of visitors who crowded the corridors.

Probably one of the most important actions of the caucus, even if not the most spectacular, was approval of the proposal to create a steering committee, the first the Democrats of the House have had.

To Appoint Twelve.

Representative Lea, chairman of the caucus, is to appoint a committee of twelve members. That committee is to be given the job of dividing the country into nine geographical divisions. From each of these divisions there will be elected a House Democrat. This committee of nine, with the Speaker, as ex officio member, making the tenth, will consider legislative proposals, and in substance will be the boiling pot.

Formation of the steering committee was a pledge made in advance of his election by Representative Rainey, who said he believed in the seniority rule but that he was aware that the seniority rule did not always advance to the fore ranks of the party councils men of broad national vision.

CHOSEN BY DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS

R. F. C. HELD NEEDED TO RESCUE SCHOOLS

Educators Ask Legislation to Permit Loans for Aiding Instruction.

Minneapolis, March 2 (A.P.).—Reconstruction Finance Corporation money is needed to save the schools, American educators decided today.

The department of superintendence, National Education Association, by resolution asked legislation permitting loans to States and local districts for schools and advocated creation by Congress of a national planning council to coordinate economic and industrial activities toward averting depressions.

Sharply reduced school funds at present jeopardize the principle of equal educational opportunity for all, the department declared, calling for a revision of taxation systems, with State and Federal governments sharing more in the cost of education. This was urged to eliminate unfavorable situations in local school districts having financial troubles.

Coordination and unification of Federal agencies dealing with education, more stressing of methods for peaceful settling of international disputes, and greater emphasis on social studies were urged.

Communities with educational programs for boys and girls lacking employment were commended, as was the American Federation of Labor for its support of public education.

LABOR COOPERATION MISS PERKINS' GOAL

Green Opposition Discussed and Not Considered as Ill Will.

New York, March 2 (A.P.).—Miss Frances Perkins, in her first pronouncement on her new work as Secretary of Labor, said today she expects the cooperation of the American Federation of Labor, despite its objection to her appointment by President-elect Roosevelt.

The 50-year-old social worker and labor commissioner of New York State said: "William Green and the A. F. of L. are entirely within their rights in saying they can not become reconciled to my appointment. I am very glad they expressed themselves openly and frankly. It makes the whole situation more wholesome, and I don't regard it in any way as an expression of ill will against me.

"Inasmuch as Mr. Roosevelt will call a special session soon after his inauguration, there will be many matters for me to talk over with Mr. Green and the representatives of organized labor. And I shall certainly do so. If they can not find the time to come and see me, I will hasten to see them."

The Labor Secretary - designate spent her day rushing through the details of leaving her work in New York State. Her desk was piled high with letters and records.

MRS. ROOSEVELT CUTS SOCIAL AFFAIRS AS WALSH TRIBUTE

ceptions at the Woman's National Democratic Club and the Congressional Club this afternoon took place she would attend, as they are of an official character. The reception at the Woman's National Democratic Club, she said, is part of a conference and many of the members have come from long distances. She said that probably the Congressional Club would cancel its reception, but that she would attend if it did not. She will not attend the dinner to be given by the presidential electors tonight at which she was to deliver a message from her husband.

Mrs. Roosevelt and her husband will go some time tomorrow to call on Mrs. Thomas J. Walsh, widow of Senator Walsh, and also will call on President and Mrs. Hoover in the afternoon.

Mrs. Roosevelt came into her own in popularity as the small group of people gathered to meet the presidential train came into the station. She alighted from the train after her husband was seated in an automobile and with their two sons, John and Franklin, jr., started for the Mayflower. Mrs. Roosevelt wore a strictly tailored suit of black cloth made on simple lines, with a fingertip length jacket and skirt that came just to what has been called shoe-top length. She wore a biscuit colored blouse, held at the collar by a lovely scarab pin, almost as large as a nickel. Her hat was a new small spring model of black straw and her scarf was of silver fox. She wore walking shoes on a comfortable last. Pinned to her coat were two beautiful orchids.

With the good humor which always characterizes her, Mrs. Roosevelt noticed a number of newspaperwomen bent on hearing and seeing what was going on in the corridor outside her apartment in the Mayflower. They were invited in and scouts sent out to bring in any other newspaperwomen in the hotel. With easy grace she made the women of the fourth estate feel that she was interested in helping them do their work in the most unhampered way possible. They liked her, this group of women who have covered news in Washington and seen women leaders and women of rank come and go. There is a rare spontaneity about Mrs. Roosevelt, a real verve to her style of talking, and a straight commonsense habit of saying what she thinks.

Meggie Exclusive Dog.

When Mrs. Roosevelt invited the newspaperwomen into her suite she was in conference with Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins, wife of the State Department official in charge of ceremonials at the White House, her saucy dog, Meggie, who she had brought in the automobile with her and led about by means of a shining plaid leather leash, romped about the room. But Meggie does not like strangers, and Mrs. Roosevelt warned the newspaperwomen against petting her.

In the pretty drawing room which is to be Mrs. Roosevelt's own suite for a few days were many floral tributes and a huge basket of fruit. One of the flower pieces was made in red, white and blue candy and filled with bright spring flowers.

The "young Roosevelts" were enjoying their part in the opening scenes in the great national pageant and dashed about from one room to another to greet friends and relatives. Mrs. Curtis Dall, a tall, pretty young matron, wore a black fur coat over her beige dress and an intriguing black hat, placed smartly at the side of her wavy golden hair. She has her father's smile and her mother's frank cheerfulness. In fact these qualities were reflected in the faces of the entire family. The two children of Mrs. Dall could be heard excitedly talking in their room, although it was long past their "go-to-sleep time," and they had been awakened from their first slumber by the arrivals.

Maid Beams Pleasure.

One of the most important people at the Mayflower last night was Mary, Mrs. Roosevelt's colored personal maid, who beamed her delight at the welcome her mistress was getting as she hurried in and out of the room unpacking and doing the thousand and one things necessary to her mistress' comfort.

Mrs. Dern, wife of the new Secretary of War, and Mrs. Wallace, wife of the new Secretary of Agriculture, came down on the train as the guests of Mrs. Roosevelt.

At the flag-decked Mayflower Hotel excitement reigned as the hour grew nearer for the arrival of the presidential party. Scores of police and Secret Service agents mingled with the well-dressed holiday crowds, their keen eyes searching each group. Half an hour before the party arrived the entire block surrounding the Mayflower was cut off and no one was permitted to pass through the police lines.

Within the hotel various rumors spread as to which entrance would be used by the Roosevelts. It was somewhat of a toss-up for the spectators to know where to assemble. A large crowd gathered in the great lobby and filled the balconies above and stretched down into Peacock alley, banking on the belief that the presidential party would enter through the front doors. However, a wiser crowd assembled around the apartment entrance to the hotel, where a cordon of police, with lots of gold-laced captains and lieutenants and less conspicuously arrayed privates, kept every one, even the press representatives, beyond the margin of the doors leading into Peacock alley.

The guess of this group was right. It was through this entrance that, sharply at five minutes to 10, word spread, "He is coming!" And he was.

The first to greet the President-elect when he stepped out of the machine while an attendant held an umbrella over his head, to protect him from the downpour, was Manager Polito, of the Mayflower Hotel, followed closely by a White House naval aid. A trim figure in his smart uniform and graceful cape. Then advancing slowly into the foyer came President-elect Roosevelt. He was smiling broadly as he leaned on the arm of his stalwart eldest son, James Roosevelt.

The crowd cheered lustily. Shouts of "Good luck" and "Welcome! welcome!" were shouted at him and he smiled his acknowledgments. The waiting elevator boy stepped aside and in passed the distinguished visitor who, tomorrow, will become the Chief Executive of the Nation.

With him were his new Postmaster General, James Farley, and Mrs. Farley and some of their young children, while Ray Baker, former director of the mint and chairman of the committee to welcome the great who are coming to Washington to attend the inaugural, was nearby.

The spectators searched the crowd eagerly. Where was Mrs. Roosevelt? A gleam of flashlights at the hotel entrance gave the answer. She had been stopped by the news cameramen, eager for snapshots of her and her particular charge, Meggie, her black Scotch terrior, who tugged excitedly at the leash she held in her hand.

Mrs. Roosevelt flushed with pleasure when the crowd set up a second hurrah for her. But she only responded with a smile and with Meggie pulling ahead of her passed into a second elevator and was whisked upstairs to the Presidential apartments.

In these apartments every caution had been taken to insure the party complete privacy and comfort. A partition shut off the rest of the floor from their quarters and every one who approached the vicinity had to account for his presence satisfactorily or was escorted at once by Secret Service men from the floor.

Other members of the Presidential party included the President-elect's daughter, Mrs. Curtis Dall, and her two children; the Roosevelt boys, Elliott, John and Franklin; Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, and several close friends. In the party with Mrs. Roosevelt were her personal secretary, Miss Malvina Thompson, and her intimate friend, Miss Nancy Cook, of New York.

BIG PROFITS BARED BY NATIONAL CITY

Senate Inquiry Goes Over to Next Session After Financing Is Told.

(Associated Press.)

A succession of vice presidents and former vice presidents of the National City Co.—subsidiary of the second largest bank in the world—yesterday told a Senate committee of that concern's profitable financing in handling mergers and bond issues back in the boom days. The securities that came out of the transactions have sunk to feeble values since.

There was testimony that the present market price of a $22,000,000 bond issue of the Lautaro Nitrate Corporation, whose parent company is in Chile, is less than the difference between the $93.75 at which the bonds were received and the $99 at which they were sold to the investing public. At the close of the hearing, the committee recessed its investigation until the next Congress.

Farm Tool Firm Merger.

Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, lingered longest yesterday on the circumstances which led to the merger of three farm implement firms in 1929. They were the Nichols & Shepard Co., of Battle Creek, Mich., the Oliver Chilled Plow Works, of South Bend, Ind., and the Hart-Parr Co., of Charles City, Iowa. Out of this consolidation came the Oliver Farm Equipment Co.

Stanley A. Russell was the vice president who related how this happened and he said that Mason B. Starring, jr., a director of the Nichols concern, aided in beginning the negotiations and that Starring received a substantial share of the profits.

City Company's Profits.

"I don't know whether Starring told his company stockholders that he shared in the profits," Russell said.

"Do you think it ethical to withhold such information?" Pecora asked.

"If I had been in Mr. Starring's place I would have disclosed the information," Russell replied, adding that for all he knew Starring might have revealed it. The testimony also showed that Samuel White, was a director of one of the firms and that the company which White headed, the National Republic Co., Chicago bank affiliate, also shared in profits. The City company's part in these was about $1,288,000.

Russell said the City company got 21,000 shares of the Farm Equipment Company's common stock and put a value of $10 a share on it. Shortly afterwards the stock went on sale on the New York Curb Exchange at more than four times that figure, it was testified.

J. P. Morgan Connection.

"Who promoted the sale of that stock?"

"I don't know but I am certain we had nothing to do with it," Russell answered.

Much of the afternoon session was taken up by a scrutiny of the participation of the company in an issue of Lautaro Nitrate bonds, also floated in 1929.

J. P. Morgan & Co. and Guggenheim Brothers participated in this financing, although the latter turned their 10 per cent interest over to Lehman Brothers, the firm of which the present New York Governor was a member until 1928.

Morgan had a 25 per cent interest, but the concern failed to share in an additional bonus of 152,000 shares of Lautaro common stock which the City company received.

"There is nothing to show you told Morgan about this stock bonus?" Julius Silver, who was conducting the hearing, told Ronald M. Byrnes, former company vice president, who was on the stand.

"Not in writing apparently," Byrnes replied.

SIGNING OF COTTON MEASURE IN DOUBT

(Associated Press.)

Conflicting indications as to whether President Hoover will sign or veto the Smith emergency cotton relief bill yesterday came from White House visitors, while the Chief Executive himself maintained a strict and studied silence upon his eventual action.

Secretary Hyde, who conferred at length with Mr. Hoover concerning the measure, told newspapermen later that he felt the bill "fails to touch 4,500,000 famers," and indicated he was unfavorable to it.

Senator Smith (Democrat), South Carolina, author of the measure, also conferred with the President, and, while not saying he had received assurance it would be signed, asserted he was "more confident" after his call than before.

Would Slash Production.

The Chief Executive referred the bill for study not only to Hyde, who said he would make a detailed investigation, but also to the Farm Board. The Secretary of Agriculture said there was no chance of immediate action upon it, and failed to indicate whether his report could be returned by noon tomorrow, when the President leaves office.

The Smith measure would seek to cut cotton production sharply by means of a huge pool of all Government-financed cotton. Into it would be poured approximately 1,500,000 bales owned by the Farm Board's cooperatives, and 710,000 owned by the Department of Agriculture. The cotton pool would be placed in charge of a board of six men chosen from the Agriculture Department.

Growers of cotton then would be petitioned to cut their production immediately by 30 per cent or more from the standpoint of quantity, with shares in the pool allocated to each in proportion to the amount of their reduction. Profits would be given them from funds estimated to accrue from the difference in the price at present and the difference on August 15, under the decreased supply.

Three Billions Held Lost.

A total of $3,000,000,000 has been lost by the cotton business since the start of the depression, Smith said, adding that if this sum could be regained even in part it would start the wheels moving faster. In many of the depressions of the past, he asserted, cotton has "led the way out."

Secretary Hyde told newspapermen that he had been hopeful of some action by Congress upon his plan for the Government to lease lands from farmers on agreement that none of their land would be planted in cotton, corn, wheat or other cereals. Such action, he said, now seems impossible.

He added that this had changed the situation, and that the Smith bill would be studied carefully, but asserted that it would touch only a comparatively small percentage of the farm relief problem.

TRANSFUSION HELPS CERMAK IN BATTLE

Hiccoughs Checked; Physicians Deny Patient Has Attack of Peritonitis.

Miami, Fla., March 2 (A.P.).—Another blood transfusion today bolstered Mayor Anton Cermak against the effects of Giuseppe Zangara's bullet and the complications that followed when it seared into the body of Chicago's chief executive.

While Cermak slept, a pint of blood was pumped into his veins. Immediately his pulse firmed and better color flushed his cheeks, attending physicians said.

The transfusion, suddenly decided upon, was made "just as a matter of giving him that much more strength," said Dr. Frederick Tice, of Chicago.

Glucose Also Injected.

Simultaneously, a pint of glucose was injected into the veins. The substance provides nourishment. More of it was to be given later.

Doctors said they were undecided whether additional blood transfusions would be made. Their decisions will be governed by future developments.

An attack of hiccoughs, tearing at Cermak's strength since early morning, was reported checked later.

Doctors also said there was no spread of the peritoneal irritation which caused some "abdominal distress" as reported in one bulletin.

Peritonitis Attack Denied.

Reports that peritonitis—a dread poisoning in the abdominal area—had struck Mayor Cermak, were denied vigorously by the doctors.

They explained the peritoneal irritation was caused by absorption of disintegrated blood that leaked from the wound in Cermak's bullet-grazed liver and other organs. However, the doctor said, peritonitis sometimes results from peritoneal irritation.

Mayor Cermak's heart stood up well under the strain of the simultaneous blood and glucose injections, Dr. Tice said.

Beneficial results expected from the oxygen room into which Cermak was placed last night appeared as his respiration rate fell back toward normal. Pulse also was lessened. There were considered favorable developments. Temperature was not taken.

3,000 Armed Men to Guard Roosevelt As He Takes Up Reins of Government

100 of New York "Finest" Among Out-of-Town Reinforcements.

Three thousand armed men will protect the country's famous and maintain order in the Capital City while the new President of the United States is ushered into office with appropriate ceremonies here tomorrow.

As Franklin D. Roosevelt rides triumphantly up Pennsylvania avenue formally to take over the office of Chief Magistrate, more than 800 uniformed policemen will be standing guard along the avenue, backs to the parade, with the primary purpose of frustrating any attempt on his life.

At the Capitol, where Mr. Roosevelt will become President Roosevelt, will be stationed 500 U. S. Marines, the entire Capitol police force, and 50 of New York City's "Finest," as well as innumerable Secret Service operatives, whose primary object is to protect the life of the President.

At the Court of Honor in front of the White House, the new President will be flanked by 106 uniformed policemen, including local police and 50 more of New York City's "Finest," and a detail of Secret Service men.

The detail assigned to the route of parade along the Avenue will include 100 Philadelphia policemen, who will be conspicuous in their light gray uniforms.

Meanwhile, the detective or plain clothes force of the Police Department, augmented by about 70 detectives from other large cities, will patrol the hotels, and general gathering places. This force totals about 175 men.

Maj. Ernest W. Brown, superintendent of Washington police, will have the responsibility of guiding the new President from the Mayflower Hotel to the Capitol and thence to the White House, and will be riding in the lead car of the President's cavalcade.

President-elect Roosevelt's car, which will be open if weather permits, will be flanked by two cars loaded with Secret Service operatives under orders of Inspector F. S. W. Burke, chief of detectives, and Capt. B. W. Thompson, assistant chief of detectives.

Because of Maj. Brown's responsibility and duties, Assistant Superintendent L. I. H. Edwards will have general supervision over all police.

AERIAL PASSENGER PLUNGES TO DEATH

Hunt in South Carolina Rice Fields Fails to Locate M. D. King's Body.

Charleston, S. C., March 2 (A.P.).—A passenger identified from his baggage as M. D. King, of Miami, Fla., or Kalamazoo, Mich., dropped 800 feet from northbound Eastern Air Transport plane near here today and was believed to have fallen to certain death.

A search was started immediately in the Edisto rice fields over which the 18-passenger plane was flying, but late today the body had not been found. Airport officials said they entertained no hope that the passenger might have escaped with his life.

So far as could be learned, no one saw the man as he left the plane. One passenger was quoted as saying he saw the body just as it cleared the door on the right side.

The passengers said their fellow traveler had complained of a headache earlier in the day, but had shown no other signs of disturbance. He occupied a seat in the extreme rear of the cabin and to the left side. No one saw him cross over to the door from which he plunged through space.

A. P. MacReadie, manager here for the transport company, said an examination of passenger's baggage indicated he had recently left Havana and was on his way to Kalamazoo.

BODY OF WALSH IS BROUGHT TO WASHINGTON FOR FUNERAL

White House military aid, represented President Hoover.

Others Are Present.

Friends of the family and of Mrs. Walsh were present, including Breckinridge Long, former Ambassador to Cuba; Patricia Mencia, of Washington, a friend of Mrs. Walsh; Leandro Rionda, a Cuban; Mr. and Mrs. Rafael Cabrera, relatives of Mrs. Walsh's daughter-in-law; R. Ortiz and Portel Vila.

President-elect and Mrs. Roosevelt announced from the Hotel Mayflower that they would call on the widow today, while virtually every one in congressional circles planned to extend condolences at the apartment within the next day.

Huge floral tributes banked the apartment in fashionable Crescent place, where the senator had lived for years. Telegrams of condolence by the dozen poured into the apartment.

En Route From Cuba.

Mrs. Walsh's son was en route from Cuba to join his mother. Mrs. Charles Gudger, daughter of Senator Walsh, is here.

A touching scene was enacted at the station as Mrs. Gudger met Mrs. Walsh, the latter obviously suffering under deep emotion.

John Walsh, a brother of the senator; John Wattawa, a nephew; Father James H. Ryan, rector of the Catholic University, and Mrs. Frances Parkinson Keyes, wife of the Senator from New Hampshire, joined the funeral party at Alexandria, Va.

Until almost in Alexandria, Mrs. Walsh remained in her drawing room. There she left the room, apparently composed, only to collapse a moment later on greeting the senator's brother.

For upward of 5 minutes after the train reached Washington, she remained in her car, receiving there the condolences of Senators Wheeler and David I. Walsh, and of the President-elect's son.

Expresses Her Sorrow.

Hardly had she started to leave her seat before she was surrounded by the Cuban friends. To Miss Mencia, whose family and hers have been friends for years, she expressed first her sorrow and from her received condolences.

Then, supported by Mrs. Gudger, Senator Wheeler and John Walsh, she walked slowly from the train and out of the station toward waiting cars in which the party rode to the apartment.

Senator Walsh died of a heart attack early yesterday near Wilson, N. C., as he was hurrying with his bride to Washington to take his place in President-elect Roosevelt's Cabinet.

Mrs. Walsh found him lying unconscious shortly after daybreak on the floor of their drawing room of Atlantic Coast Line Train No. 72. He died at 7:10 a. m. without regaining consciousness.

Mrs. Walsh became almost hysterical as she told of his death, and required medical attention.

Doctor Is Summoned.

Apparently the 73-year-old, gray-haired Montana Democrat left his berth when seized with the attack and fell to the floor as he started to awaken his wife.

When Mrs. Walsh discovered the senator on the floor, she screamed and called a porter. Together, they lifted Senator Walsh to a berth and the porter raced through seven cars for Conductor Herbert Weathersbee. There was a faint pulse when the conductor arrived and he summoned Dr. Richard J. Costello, of Cambridge, Mass., a passenger on the train. Before the physician reached his side, the senator was dead.

The body was removed from the train at Rocky Mount, N. C., and prepared for burial. It was dressed in the suit Senator Walsh wore when he took Senora Perez Chaumont as his bride.

While she waited for the train which was to carry her and her dead husband's body to Washington, Mrs. Walsh told in halting English in her Rocky Mount hotel room of his death.

No Answer to Call.

She was awakened, she said, by the sunlight streaming through the window of the car as the train was between Contentnea and Wilson, N. C. She looked at her husband's berth and saw it was empty.

"I thought he was in the bathroom," she said brokenly, "and I called like this, 'Who-o-o, Tom, who-o-o, Tom.' He didn't answer.

"I tried to pick him up and couldn't lift him. I tried several times. Then I started screaming and ringing the bell. The porter, he came and we lifted the senator into the berth.

"I lifted his arms up and down. I patted his body all over. I opened his eyes. I blew in his mouth.

"Then a doctor came. He pushed me aside. I wanted to do anything to bring life to the senator.

"But there he was—dead."

Senator Walsh, long an outstanding leader of his party and of the Senate, was elected to the Senate in 1912 and had served continuously since. His selection for Attorney General by President-elect Roosevelt was announced this week.

Last Friday he flew to Havana and the next day married Senora Perez Chaumont. The ceremony first had been set for Monday and, explaining the change in plans, Senator Walsh said:

President-Elect Prefers Monday for Walsh Burial

President-elect Roosevelt was represented last night by one of his secretaries as preferring Monday as the burial day of the late Senator Thomas Walsh, of Montana.

A group of senators visited the President-elect and he expressed his preference, but was willing to defer to any other plans, it was said.

John Walsh, the brother of the late senator, asked that no curtailment be made of the inaugural entertainment program because "that is as the senator would want it to be if he was alive."

Among those who conferred with the President-elect on the funeral plans were Secretary of State-designate Hull and Senators Harrison, Wheeler, Dill, Long and Robinson.

Former Chief Justice Of Canada Dead at 68

Ottawa, Ontario, March 2 (A.P.).—F. A. Anglin died at his home today two days after his resignation as chief justice of Canada became effective. He would have been 68 years old next month.

Mr. Anglin had been ill for more than two years. Two weeks ago he visited Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, announcing that the state of his health made it impossible for him to serve any longer.

Senate Wins Fight For Trade Inquiry

(Associated Press.)

In the face of an adament Senate group, House conferees yesterday yielded and accepted the $1,161,000 fund for the Trade Commission in the billion-dollar independent offices appropriation bill.

The House had provided only $510,000 for the commission and only Wednesday voted, 89 to 8, to instruct its conferees to insist on the lower figure.

The Senate added the other half million dollars to the bill, to permit the commission to conclude its power, utilities and economic investigations. Unless the House accepts the higher figure now, the bill probably will not pass this session.

Pope Names C. U. Professor Legate

Mgr. Bernadini Appointed to Apostolic Post in Australia.

Vatican City, March 2 (A.P.).—Pope Pius today named Mgr. Filippo Bernardini, professor in the Catholic University at Washington, D. C., apostolic delegate to Australia.

Mgr. Bernardini, who will be made an archbishop, will try to leave Washington in time to be in Vatican City for a public consistory March 16, when the Pope will confer the pallium.

Mgr. Bernardini also was named titular Archbishop of Antiochia.

CAPITAL SADDENED BY DEATH OF WALSH

Colleagues Pay Tributes to Senate Veteran; Both Houses Adjourn.

(Associated Press.)

A Capital aglow with preparations for a gala inaugural was saddened yesterday by the death of the veteran Thomas J. Walsh on the threshold of his transfer from a place of power in the Senate to the Cabinet of Franklin D. Roosevelt. His colleagues and high Government officials joined in expressing regret at his death on a train in North Carolina.

A number of those with whom he had served in the Senate during the last two decades arranged last night to meet the train bearing his body back to the Capital. Previously, they had expected to extend a joyful welcome to the 74-year-old senator and his bride of last Saturday.

Whether there will be a state funeral in the Senate Chamber awaited decision after the party reached Washington. The senator will be buried at Helena, Mont.

Both Houses Adjourn.

Soon after the Senate and House adjourned out of respect for Walsh, who presided over the 1924 and 1932 Democratic national conventions and prosecuted the famous Teapot Dome oil scandals in 1924, Vice President Curtis named a committee to attend the funeral.

In addition to Wheeler, the Montana colleague of Walsh, the delegation consists of Robinson, of Arkansas; McNary, of Oregon; Pittman, of Nevada; Borah, of Idaho; Ashurst, of Arizona; Walsh, of Massachusetts; Carey and Kendrick, of Wyoming; Schall, of Minnesota; King, of Utah, and Dill, of Washington.

President Hoover was represented by his aids as deeply moved by news of the death of Walsh, who had been counted upon by Roosevelt to be one of the bulwarks of his administration. The Chief Executive sent a message of condolence to Mrs. Walsh.

Vice President Curtis said: "The new administration has lost a very valuable man and the Nation has lost an outstanding legislator and a man of wonderful ability."

Tribute From Borah.

Senator Borah, Idaho Republican, described the death as "a national calamity," adding: "With all due respect to the other members of the Cabinet, he was the man who had been tried and tested in public service and who stood out as an able and patriotic public servant."

Speculation immediately arose as to who would occupy the Cabinet chair reserved for some time by the President-elect for Walsh. They had been on intimate terms during and after the campaign.

Sympathy went out to the widow of the senator, en route to Washington with the body. Mrs. Genevieve Walsh Gudger, of Norfolk, daughter of Walsh, arranged by telephone for her to be met by one of her old friends—Mme. Victor M. Maurtua, wife of the Peruvian Minister.

Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, who began his Senate career on March 4, 1913, along with Walsh and George W. Norris, of Nebraska, presented the resolution for adjournment to his colleagues.

Praised by Mitchell.

Speaking slowly and obviously deeply moved, he described Walsh as "one of our ablest and most beloved members" who "has demonstrated exceptional ability and great loyalty to his duty."

The resolution was adopted quickly and the Senate quit until 9:30 a. m., today. It had met two hours earlier than usual with the expectation of putting in a busy day.

High praise for the Montanan came in a statement by Attorney General Mitchell, whom Walsh was to follow at the Department of Justice. Explaining they had been conferring recently about the duties of the office, Mitchell added:

"Senator Walsh's knowledge of the operations of the Federal Government would have been of inestimable value as legal adviser to the incoming administration."

Speaker Garner said the country "has lost a brilliant statesman and able lawyer." He added that "No man has been more conscientious and diligent in protecting the interests of the people as a whole."

Havana Is Shocked At Walsh's Death

Machado Sends Message of Condolence to Widow.

Havana, March 2 (A.P.).—Reports of the sudden death of Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Attorney General-designate in the Roosevelt Cabinet, came as a great shock today to Cuban official and social circles.

Senator Walsh was married less than a week ago to Senora Nieves Perez Chaumont de Truffin at the bride's home in Marianao, a suburb.

President Machado dispatched a message of condolence to the widow, while Orestes Ferrera, secretary of state, described the reports of the senator's death as "shocking news." Ambassador Harry F. Guggenheim, of the United States, expressed profound grief. Meanwhile, Marcial de Truffin, Mrs. Walsh's son, and a brother-in-law, Jose Rionda, announced they would leave for Washington.

Pinchot Addresses "Army" of Jobless

Is Going Ahead With His Relief Plans Despite Demonstration.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 2 (A.P.).—From the grand staircase in the rotunda of the capitol, Gov. Pinchot today told the "army of unemployed" that he is going ahead with his plan of relief, "whether you like it or not." The "army," which yesterday demanded a $100,000,000 dole from the General Assembly, was supplemented by hundreds of other spectators. Police estimated the crowd at 2,000. The governor spoke for about five minutes, completing his speech with the statement:

"I am going ahead, whether you like it or not, to do the best I can for the unemployed of Pennsylvania. Good-by and good luck."

Edward Bender, leader of the marchers, replied to the governor as he returned to his office: "That level best the governor promises to do will be the starvation community market plan. Are we going to accept it?" The marchers chorused a loud "No."

BOETTCHER KIDNAP SEARCH IS PUSHED

Father of Abducted Broker Pursues Hunt by Air, Radio and Auto.

Denver, Mar. 2 (A.P.).—Law enforcement agencies, backed by the power and weight of the Boettcher name and fortune, swept tonight into a remorseless search for the men who kidnaped Charles Boettcher 2d, February 12, and held him captive until last night.

Over three States grizzled plainsmen, police radio patrolmen and sheriffs posses, combed the prairies and mountains for the abductors, who forced Claude K. Boettcher, father of the victim, to pay $60,000 ransom for his son's safe return.

"I made them no promise of immunity," the elder Boettcher declared today. "I will spend my last penny to track them down."

Two men were held as suspects and two gun fights had been staged in Northern Colorado by sheriffs and men believed to be the kidnapers.

On the prairie stretches of northern Colorado and southern Wyoming, frontiersmen of the old school pushed their hunt beyond the range of automobiles. On a hundred highways and lanes police cars raced, sent hurrying from one place to another by a dispatcher in Denver, who was aided by wireless reports from airplanes which hovered over the area in which police believe the 31-year-old broker was held.

Meanwhile, safe in his home, young Boettcher talked of his captivity.

"There's really not much to tell," he said. "I almost got shot at the time I was taken away because I reached into my pocket for money, thinking it was a robbery.

"When they placed me in a car they told me to shut up and then they bandaged my eyes with adhesive tape. We rode about eighteen hours, and they put me in a basement. Sometimes they allowed me to read for an hour or two, but never did they allow me to see them.

"They treated me well enough, and Tuesday night they bundled me into the car and told me they were bringing me back to turn me loose. I knew of no ransom."

R. H. Gore Slated For Revenue Chief

Publisher to Be Appointed Monday by Roosevelt, Report Says.

Chicago, March 2 (A.P.).—Robert H. Gore, newspaper publisher and insurance man, was reported today to be slated for appointment as commissioner of internal revenue at Washington.

Democratic leaders said they had been informed President-elect Roosevelt would make the appointment Monday. Gore has left for Washington to attend the inauguration with his family.

Gore maintains winter homes at Miami and Orlando, Fla., and publishes three newspapers in that State. He operates an insurance business in Chicago.

Nobile Becomes Worse In Hospital in Moscow

Moscow, March 2 (A.P.).—Physicians at the Kremlin Hospital said tonight that Umberto Nobile, who piloted an Italian dirigible to the North Pole several years ago, was in serious condition with peritonitis.

He was taken to the hospital yesterday with appendicitis, but the appendix burst before an operation could be performed. His temperature and pulse were normal, but his general condition was very weak.

DISTRICT CASH BILL CHANCES ARE SLIM

—hearings, committee action, House and Senate passage.

For this reason, and because Democrats are sincerely anxious to make a clean-sweep of all appropriation bills, so there will be no routine barriers in the path of their special session program, a determined effort will be made today to squeeze the measure through.

The Senate will meet at 9:30 this morning, and Senator Bingham will attempt to get action at once on the Black motion to reconsider the vote by which the Senate approved committee recommendations for return of the meter system of taxicab operation.

Passage of the bill is in order immediately following this vote.

The Federal lump sum contribution to the District will be the principal bone of contention in the conference that follows. House conferees half-heartedly will make an effort to get an agreement on their $6,500,000 recommendations, but will be glad to accept the $7,775,000 appropriation allowed last year. Senate conferees will come down from their $9,500,000 recommendations as little as possible, but in the final showdown may meet the House halfway.

Then will come the usual battle over Senate restoration of budget estimates. If the Senate today backs its committee in its plan for return of taxi meters, with a 25-cent charge for the first two miles and 10 cents for every mile thereafter, there will be another issue for conferees to scrap over. The House has expressed itself emphatically against the meters' return.

TEN MORE STATES CURB BANK FUNDS

18 Others Have Taken Recent Action to Safeguard Finance Systems.

New York, March 2 (U.P.).—Ten States in the last 24 hours joined the list of those which have restricted banking operations in an effort to strengthen weak spots in their financial fabric.

Previously 11 States had taken such action, while eight banks in the District of Columbia were operating under a policy of limiting withdrawals. In seven other States legislation has been passed which legalizes restricted banking, although it has not been invoked in all of them.

Today's developments brought to 28 States and the District of Columbia the number which have moved to protect their banking structures against unduly heavy withdrawals.

Movement Is General.

In several of the States where banking holidays have been declared or where restrictions have been placed in effect the orders are "permissive"—that is, the banks have an option as to whether they desire to observe them. In others, however, banks have little choice.

Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Texas, Nevada, Arizona Oregon, Washington, Idaho and California were the States which joined the list last night and during today.

In New Orleans, where a three-day bank holiday was declared, the Cotton Exchange and the Stock Exchange were closed.

In Los Angeles and San Francisco the Stock Exchanges announced they would observe legal holidays declared there.

Situation in Detail.

The situation by States was:

Louisiana—Three-day moratorium declared, later modified to permit withdrawals of 5 per cent of deposits.

Mississippi—State superintendent of banks limited withdrawals to $25 plus 5 per cent of total balance.

California and West Virginia.

California—Gov. James Rolph, jr., proclaimed a three-day moratorium ending Saturday night and asked the Legislature to pass legislation to protect California banks against withdrawals from outside the State. Los Angeles and San Francisco stock exchanges closed.

West Virginia—State banking commissioner asked all State banks to place a 5 per cent limit on withdrawals.

District of Columbia—Eight banks operating with withdrawals limited to 5 per cent of deposits.

Tennessee—Five-day bank holiday in effect.

Detroit Reorganizing.

Maryland—Moratorium in effect remainder of week.

Michigan—Efforts to reorganize two large Detroit banks continue with business going on under limitations.

Ohio—Business being transacted with withdrawals still limited in some sections.

Pennsylvania—Restrictions on withdrawals subject to approval of bank superintendent, legalized by Legislature, not generally invoked.

Indiana—Some banks still limiting withdrawals but business nearly normal.

Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska, Minnesota, Indiana and New Jersey have legalized various forms of restrictive measures, but they have not been generally invoked in these States.

1 Killed, 96 Seized In Czech Red Day

Gendarmes Fire on Crowd at Communist Hunger March in Volovec.

Prague, Czechoslovakia, March 2 (A.P.).—One person was killed and 96 were arrested today when the government repulsed a communist attempt to stage a nation-wide "red day."

The communists planned to concentrate unemployed in all important cities for so-called hunger marches. The authorities dispersed the crowds without difficulties except in Volovec where the demonstration attacked the gendarmes, injuring three of them after six of the leaders of the crowd had been arrested. The gendarmes resorted to firearms, killing one person.

The biggest gathering was planned for Liberec, near the German border, where a few thousand communists assembled. The police dispersed the crowd before it was able to reach the inner city and 90 arrests were made.

Chinese to Recruit Aid in Nova Scotia

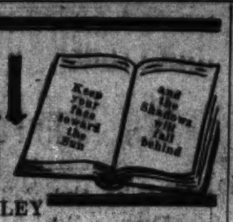
Residents Raise $5,000 War Funds; to Train Fighting Force.

Halifax, Nova Scotia, March 2 (U.P.).—Chinese residents of Nova Scotia are preparing to recruit and train a fighting force to send to Jehol Province, it became known today.

More than $5,000 has already been raised toward a "war chest" to be used in the conflict with Japan, it was understood. This money is to be sent direct to China.

Efforts are being made, it was reported to engage the services of a Canadian military officer to train Chinese youths in Nova Scotia.

The Federal Diary



By GEORGE D. RILEY

WASHINGTON tomorrow will be divided into two groups. Those who have lived here many years and still have not witnessed an inaugural parade and attendant pageantry. Those who have lived here just as long and who have never missed witnessing an inaugural parade and attendant pageantry.

Yet, from the 48 States and the Territories and dependencies will come thousands who have been here before and other thousands making their first trip for a look-in on the inauguration. Twenty-eight governors will be here tomorrow with their staffs, so officially more than half the Union will be well represented in the District of Columbia.

Inasmuch as the Democrats have not had their inning in twelve years, we know there'll be a good show along the Avenue.

WHAT is it that keeps Washington from getting keenly excited over the inauguration? We heard an old-timer recently say he would estimate that of the half-million population of the Capital, he would venture the guess that scarcely more than 100,000 would betray enough interest in the inauguration to stand or sit along the line of march to see another President ride along the historic route.

School children out over the States would give all their pretties to be able to come to Washington quadrennially just to see the show. They have taken their history chapters seriously. Disillusionment they profess in after years has yet to dawn. They still write their essays on the Constitution and what it symbolizes and the Declaration of Independence has been the theme many times for budding orators on the eve of Independence Day.

Government employes have expressed varied views on the inauguration. Some will stand eagerly at the department windows if they overlook the line of march. It is the new deal they want to see personified. Others are inert to the event.

THE switchover from the large-sized currency a few years ago to the present size recommended itself to the Government because of a sheer saving in materials of nearly $1,000,000 a year. But that was only one reason for the change.

There was a time when our currency was a bit too "dense"—that is, there was not enough "light" in it to assist in readily detecting counterfeits. The bills were beautiful examples of the designers' and engravers' art but an element of security was being sacrificed.

"We now put as much beauty into the designs as is possible under the law but the security factor guides us first in designing the money," we learn from Edward M. Weeks, who until February 23 was acting superintendent of the engraving division, Bureau of Engraving and Printing, and who has now been sworn in as superintendent of that division.

EDWARD M. WEEKS.

AS you must know from his title, Mr. Weeks directs all the processes involved in designing and producing the plates, preparatory to printing currency, postage and revenue stamps, as well as certificates used by the United States Government.

It was in 1900 that Mr. Weeks went into the bureau as engraver. Prior to that, for 10 years, he was with the American Bank Note Co., in Philadelphia.

In 1923 Mr. Weeks began his duties in a supervisory position. In his present capacity, Mr. Weeks succeeds the late E. E. Myers.

Mr. Weeks is a native of Burlington County, N. J. He passed his bar examination, after being graduated from George Washington University here in 1907. He has been actively interested in engravers' organizations many years, because of his wish to see the art of engraving progress in all branches.

World War members are getting laughs out of "We're Not Heroes," a book of cartoons on life in a veterans' hospital, by Eddie Wells and John Moss, members of the Veterans Administration Home, Virginia. It carries 24 original drawings by Wells, with descriptive matter, mostly good-natured satire on veterans in hospitals. Wells, the cartoonist, got his ideas for the book while he was a patient at Walter Reed Hospital.

The cartoons portray patients, chronic and otherwise, in Walter Reed Hospital, but in the main they can apply to any veterans' home or hospital in the country.

DEPOSITORS REGAIN CONFIDENCE HERE

Bankers Find Money Hastily Withdrawn Begins to Flow Back.

The mild apprehension of depositors because of unfounded rumors as to the local banking situation was virtually dissipated yesterday, bankers noted, as hastily withdrawn deposits began to find their way back to bank vaults.

Those who had withdrawn deposits on Wednesday were found at the receiving tellers' windows redepositing their savings, bankers said. "There seems to be a better understanding on the part of the people, since they have realized the untruthfulness of the rumors," one banker said.

Banks which had imposed limitations on the extent of withdrawals as a protective measure for all depositors, generally reported substantial increases in the amount of redeposits and new accounts.

The Security Savings and Commercial Bank has made absolutely no change in the status of commercial or checking accounts. The only limitation placed by this bank is on savings accounts.

Savings Accounts Rule.

The following plan has been placed in effect on savings accounts:

"Until further notice and in accordance with the rules and regulations for savings accounts, a two months' written notice will be required for withdrawals.

"The bank, however, will permit, without such written notice, the withdrawal of not in excess of 10 per cent (10%) of the total balance of any savings account during any period of two months, provided such withdrawal does not exceed one hundred dollars ($100), and provided further that where the balance in a savings account is ten dollars ($10) or less, the entire amount or any part thereof may be withdrawn at any time without such written notice."

District National Plan.

"For the protection of all of its depositors and with a view of maintaining a position in which their interests collectively would be fully preserved, the District National Bank has felt constrained to follow the policy, which has been adopted by many banks throughout the country in this crisis, of temporarily restricting withdrawals to 5 per cent of deposits, as of the close of business February 28, 1933.

"Substantial deposits were made yesterday under the plan of making the proceeds thereof available for checking 100 per cent, and the officers of the bank desire to express their appreciation of the fine spirit of cooperation evidenced by its depositors.

"We regret the serious inconveniences which have resulted from this temporary situation, which we will relieve as soon as practicable."

The rules on savings accounts adopted by the Security Savings & Commercial Bank have been adopted by the McLachlen Banking Corporation, President Lanier P. McLachlen said yesterday. There have been no restrictions placed on commercial accounts.

Third Try to Save Murderer Is Made

Slayer of Maryland Man Charges Defects in Jury Panel.

Special to the Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., March 2.—The third effort to save the life of Euel Lee, Negro, twice convicted and sentenced to be hanged for the murder of Green K. Davis, Worcester County farmer, was made in the court of appeals today when arguments for a new trial were presented. As in former instances, methods employed by the convicting tribunal in selection of jury panels were made the basis of the appeal.

Lee's trials took place in the Baltimore County court under change of venue, on the ground that a fair trial could not be obtained in courts of the Eastern Shore counties. On the first appeal, the appellate court reversed the lower tribunal, upholding the plea of defense attorneys that Negroes were excluded from the talesmen when the jury panel was drawn early last year.

The claim advanced today was that more than 52 per cent of the names used at the second trial, last September, were in the panel at the first trial, which the court declared unconstitutional. It was contended that the trial judge should have selected a new list under law, whereas he only selected 48 names and added them to the former list.

Air Armada

More Than 100 Planes to Take Part Tomorrow in Parade.

Assembling one of the greatest fleets of military and naval aircraft since the Air Corps maneuvers of 1930, more than 100 of the United States' aerial defenders tomorrow will participate in the inaugural parade, dipping in salute to their new commander in chief, if weather permits carrying out of the plan with safety.

Under command of Maj. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, chief of the Air Corps of the Army, bombardment pilots of the Second Wing at Langley Field, Va., will fly their big ships here, gathering over Alexandria, Va., for the aerial formation in which they will pass in review.

Approximately 75 Army ships are expected to participate, while the Marines will supply about 30 more. Other aircraft, including the U. S. S. Akron and a smaller Army dirigible from Langley Field, are expected to take part.

Marine planes participating in the review will be under command of Lieut. Col. Ralph Rowell, former commander of the Marine aviation units at Archibald Field, Managua, Nicaragua.

BOWIE RAID HEARING HELD AT ANNAPOLIS

Delegates of Prince Georges Also Consider Sunday Movies Bill.

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Annapolis, Md., March 2.—Pushing local measures while awaiting the appearance of the bank bill, the Prince Georges County delegation to the Legislature spent this afternoon in investigating a recent raid by the county police force and in holding a hearing on the county bill to allow Sunday movies.

After hearing the explanation of a raid in Bowie last week in which 77 persons were arrested, the delegates expressed themselves as being opposed to locking up all persons found in a disorderly house. Constable Warren E. Peake, who conducted the raid, said he considered all present disorderly, as they tore down a ceiling to get into an attic to hide from the officers, and one man jumped through a close window.

Both county policemen and constables were in the raiding party, but nearly all the warrants were sworn out by constables, who get paid a fee for each warrant. This is the usual practice when the information on which the raid is based is obtained by constables. Constable Peake said that his fees since September amount to only about $200, but in this time he has secured about $1,600 for the county in fines.

Dr. W. W. Davis, of Baltimore, registered lobbyist for the Lord's Day Alliance, marshaled the forces opposed to Sunday movies in Prince Georges County. Referring to the bill, Dr. Davis said, "The National Motion Picture Producers Association is back of it because it means seven rentals instead of a six-day rental."

The Rev. H. F. Baker, of Mount Rainier, insisted that the bill as drawn would permit boxing in the county, although the lawyers who drafted the measure told him it would not. He also threatened that passage of the bill would put preachers in politics, although he said that church people would not boycott Sunday movies. The Rev. C. H. Crutchley, of Laurel, said that two-thirds of the people of his town were opposed to repeal of the blue laws.

Others who spoke against the bill were Mrs. O. N. Eaton, county president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union; Mrs. D. J. Orcutt, of Mount Rainier, who said more young people would go to the movies if they were permitted on Sunday; Mrs. W. E. Beall, of Laurel, of the Council of Churchwomen; Mrs. Howard Hopkins, of the Laurel Women's Club and the council, and Mrs. H. B. Hoffman, of Hyattsville.

Sunken Vessel With Gold Believed Located in Sea

Crews of Mediterranean Salvage Ships Prepare to Go to Bottom After Electric Cable Indicates Finding of Liner Lost in War Period.

Tunis, Tunisia, March 2 (U.P.).—An exciting treasure hunt on the floor of the blue Mediterranean apparently met with initial success today when Italian salvage ships contacted a sunken liner believed to carry a rich cargo of gold.

The salvage vessels reported they believed the contact was with the Norwegian wreck, Thetys, lost early in the World War. It was but one of dozens sent to the bottom during the struggle, however, and until divers went down to view it they could not be certain.

The crews of the salvage ships Rostro and Cefalo excitedly prepared to go to the bottom in huge diving bells which can sink to 80 fathoms in calm weather.

The first indication of their find came when electric indicators on the bridges of both ships spun crazily, indicating the highly sensitive electric cable sunk in a 2-mile arc between them as they dragged the sea floor had struck metal.

The treasure hunters used modern methods in their search. They had been dragging the sea bottom off the coast of Tunis, about 20 miles north at Cape Bon, for the past month.

Their cable swung between the little boats as they moved back and forth over the area in which it was known several liners had been torpedoed. When it struck, cheers went up and the Italian crew looked forward to lives of comparative affluence if they succeed in raising a rich cargo.

The Rostro, which aided the salvage ship Artiglio in recovering millions in sunken gold on the wrecked liner Egypt, off the coast of France a year or so ago, planned to remain and carry out the work of recovering the cargo.

The salvagers had made a deal with the French government, with Lloyds, the insurance organization, and with the former owners of the wrecked steamers, before starting their search. They staked off the sea with buoys then and began dragging.

The Cefalo and another Italian ship, the Arpione, are to start similar dragging operations in another hunt in the Red Sea, where other ships went down with gold or other precious cargo.

MARYLAND'S SENATE GETS BANK MEASURE

Chamber Is Crowded When Haggard Group Reports Amended Bill.

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Annapolis, Md., March 2.—Filing haggard and tired, from 34 almost continuous hours in committee, the Senate tonight favorably reported the new banking bill upon whose passage awaits the end of the bank holiday.

A last-minute change to allow Baltimore City to realize on more than $2,000,000 in tax checks presented since the bank holiday began delayed tonight's session by almost three hours. The change will allow the city to draw cash for these checks. Final vote in the Senate will be taken tomorrow, and the measure will go to the House at once.

The galleries were crowded and a thick crowd of standees fringed the back of the Senate chamber as Senator Lansdale G. Sasscer presented the favorable report. It was adopted viva voce by a chorus of tired "ayes," and the tedious business of reading the amendments began.

Amendments' Provisions.

The amendments leave unchanged the provision that the bank commissioner may limit withdrawals, but increase the number of preferred claims against the bank. Originally, the bill provided that the deposits of city, county, and State money should not be subject to the limitation.

The amendments will allow the receivers of any other bank to withdraw the liquidated assets of the bank in receivership without limit, and provide that deposits of other banks may be drawn more quickly than individual deposits. This means that assets of a bank in receivership are not jeopardized, and that country banks with their cash reserve in city institutions may be allowed to draw the reserves.

Another amendment provides that the commissioner shall have power to limit withdrawals for a period of one year, and this time may be extended for a second twelve months. Other changes forbid banks to pay dividends without permission of the commissioner and provide that checks drawn for taxes before February 28 shall not be subject to limitation.

Would Fix Responsibility.

The House today was asked to fix responsibility for the banking crisis by learning what large withdrawals had been made prior to the declaration of the holiday. A resolution called on the commissioner to furnish a list of withdrawals during the ten days prior to the holiday, on February 25. The requested list would show names, addresses, amounts withdrawn and balances.

There was some objection to this, and an amendment asking that withdrawals of more than $10,000, or made by officials of the bank, was suggested. They were not pressed, however, and the resolution was referred to the rules committee.

Prince Georges County's deposit situation provided one objection to the new bank bill today, but this was later cleared up. In this county the treasurer's deposits are secured by county bonds owned by the bank but deposited with the county to guarantee the deposit. The bill provides that this security may be taken in lieu of the limited deposits when a county needs cash. Prince Georges County would then take over its own bonds, but would need special authorization to borrow on them. It was thought likely that this authority might be given to provide the county government with ready cash, if necessary.

Sinking Fund Measure.

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, in a statement issued tonight, said that he would not attend all the inaugural ceremonies unless the banking bill were out of the way. He does plan to attend the actual inaugural, but will not be present at any of the other festivities.

The House today also received a bill requiring that sinking funds for the retirement of Government bonds be invested only in other Government securities. In the Senate a law was introduced forbidding oyster dredging in the Potomac between January 1 and October 31. The Senate also finally passed two bills prohibiting the trapping of fur-bearing animals in Montgomery County and changing the line between the fourth and seventh election districts.

Insurance Heads Meet in Chicago

Will Consider Effects of Curb on Withdrawals From Banks.

Chicago, March 2 (A.P.).—The executive committee of the national convention of insurance commissioners met in executive session here today.

J. B. Thompson, State superintendent of insurance for Missouri, issued a statement saying the executive committee "met today to consider the effect of the general financial situation of restrictions on bank deposit withdrawals which have been made effective in several States."

There was no other comment. The sessions will be continued tomorrow morning.

W. H. Moran, chief of the Secret Service, could not be reached for a statement last night. Satterfield said he was "marking time" in his investigation from this end.

The bomb was found in the postoffice here February 21. It was postmarked "Watertown, N. Y." and addressed to "Franklin D. Roosevelt, Washington, D. C."

Rome Denies Shipping Gas Supply to Hungary

Rome, March 2 (A.P.).—The semi-official Stefani News Agency issued a categorical denial tonight of reports said to have been published in France that supplies of asphyxiating gas have been shipped to Hungary from Italy.

The reports are said to have appeared in French newspapers after protests had been made against a shipment of 40,000 rifles to Austria from Italy which, it was suggested, were bound indirectly for Hungary. The French and British governments recently insisted to Austria that these arms be reshipped to Italy or destroyed.

Death From Sunstroke Not Mishap, Jury Says

Springfield, Ill., March 2 (A.P.).—A Federal jury today decided that death resulting from sunstroke is not accidental and refused double indemnity to Abbie E. McCreery, of Rushville, who was beneficiary of Francis W. McCreery, 62, his foster father.

Officials of Arizona Freed But Rebuked

3 Members of Industrial Board Accused of Misapplying Funds.

Phoenix, Ariz., March 2 (A.P.).—Three members of the Arizona Industrial Commission, indicted last December on charges of misapplication of public funds, were acquitted today by a Maricopa County jury in Judge Howard C. Speakman's court.

Although it exonerated the commissioners, Robert B. Sims, chairman; Charles W. Hartman and William E. Hunter, the jury rebuked them.

The commission members were tried in connection with their expenditures in a campaign to defeat an initiative measure to abolish the workmen's compensation act and an initiative measure which sought to consolidate the industrial commission with other State departments under a State welfare board.

HOOVER AND ROOSEVELT.

A strange, eventful chapter of American history closes today, and another opens tomorrow which may be even more strange and eventful.

The national skies were unclouded when Herbert Hoover became President. The country was prosperous beyond precedent. No sign that this prosperity was fictitious was visible anywhere. The world was buying heavily of American goods, indicating that good times prevailed abroad. It was not known that the nations were honeycombed with weakness resulting from the ravages of war.

In the first year of the Hoover administration the United States suffered a collapse of security values. It was a staggering blow, but the country bore it with magnificent courage. Mr. Hoover brought into consultation the leaders of industry, finance, agriculture, railroads, and labor, and cooperation was secured which prevented disastrous wage cuts, strikes, and panic. The people set about the work of repairing and upbuilding, and by 1931 the country was recovering. Then Europe threatened to collapse, and President Hoover was compelled to propose an intergovernmental moratorium or suffer a world panic to strike this country another blow. The universal panic was prevented, but adverse conditions affecting every country kept them in depression, stopped commerce, and provoked unrest everywhere. One government after another was overturned. Others could not preserve their financial stability. Popular resentment in the United States concentrated upon the President, and politicians took advantage of the situation to bring about the defeat of the Republican party.

Conditions were ripe for a sweeping change when the presidential campaign was waged. Nothing that President Hoover could have done or said would have abated the demand for a change. He fought a good fight, and was strongly supported by Calvin Coolidge and other stalwart Republicans. On Nov. 8 the people rendered their verdict in favor of a new deal by electing Franklin D. Roosevelt. Since December the dying Congress, neither Democratic nor Republican, has fumbled with one emergency proposal after another, and foreign governments have sought in vain for safe anchorage.

Tomorrow the new President will take the helm, and President Hoover will become a private citizen. He has worked incessantly, up to the last hour, in the public behalf. "No man with a spark of humanity," said Franklin Roosevelt at Pittsburgh during the campaign, "can fail to sympathize with our responsible leaders in hours of crisis. Politics or no politics, I pay my tribute to the devotion of the President. It is not true that he has not been unremitting in his efforts, and I have not heard it said."

Mr. Hoover has earned the gratitude of the country for his services. He has battled with gigantic and unprecedented forces of destruction, without sparing himself. Now Mr. Roosevelt, with fresh strength and with a united country and Congress behind him, will grapple with these forces. In his own words it should be said, "No man with a spark of humanity can fail to sympathize with him in this hour of crisis."

The skies were unclouded when Mr. Hoover took office four years ago. The skies are heavily clouded now. Even the near future is invisible. But the American spirit is unconquerable, and the elements of recovery are available. Wholehearted support of the new President is one of these elements that will not be lacking. The outgoing President can not but wish from the bottom of his heart that his successor will not be hamstrung by malice and misrepresentation while fighting the people's battle.

THE NEW SPEAKER.

Henry T. Rainey, of Carrollton, Ill., will be the next Speaker of the House of Representatives. Having been chosen by the Democratic caucus, his election over Bertrand H. Snell, the Republican candidate, is certain. Joseph W. Byrns, of Nashville, Tenn., the Democratic choice for floor leader, will also be elected.

Mr. Rainey is the logical successor of Speaker Garner. Since the Democrats took control of the House after the 1930 congressional election Mr. Rainey has served as floor leader. His legislative experience began in the Fifty-eighth Congress, 28 years ago. With the exception of one term he has been a member of the House ever since, steadily climbing to the highest honor within the gift of that body.

The choice of Mr. Byrns as leader will be widely approved. He, as well as the new Speaker, has the confidence of the House. Mr. Rainey was nominated with the aid of Mr. Byrns, and in turn he threw his strength behind the Tennessee leader. No doubt they will work together to facilitate President Roosevelt's economic program.

The Democratic party is fortunate in naming a Speaker without a bitter struggle. A number of candidates were in the race and a sharp contest was expected. Agreement between the two leading candidates made it possible to select Mr. Rainey on the first ballot and thus avert animosity and intraparty schisms.

A remarkable degree of harmony prevails in the Democratic party as it takes over the reins of Government. It is the hope of all citizens that the majority party may act with unity and strength to alleviate the grave economic conditions afflicting all parts of the Nation.

ABETTING UNREST.

The Clerk of the House has made public a record of loans made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in January, without comment on the banking situation or the sharp decline in the activities of the R. F. C. Loans to banks during the month totaled $46,915,255, a decrease of about 41 per cent since December.

Such a drastic shrinkage in the volume of credit extended to banks can have only one meaning. Banks do not care to borrow from the R. F. C. Many bankers testify to the fact that the offer of the Government to help them through a critical period has been made useless by the publicity rule. The House of Representatives has published the name of every bank obtaining money. Regardless of how the House intended that this publicity should affect the banks, it has disturbed depositors, who do not realize that if a bank can borrow it has good resources. The publicity feature of the R. F. C. act has done more to bring about the present situation than any other single factor.

Prominent Democrats recognize the grave mistake made by their party in the House last spring. Former Gov. Smith and other distinguished members of that party appearing before the Senate finance committee made urgent pleas for repeal of this publicity clause. Yet these reports are published at the very moment when more than a dozen States are resorting to bank holidays and other expedients to conserve the interest of depositors.

There is no necessity whatsoever for the publication of these reports under the existing law. The R. F. C. reports to Congress. The Senate has persistently refused to publish this information, but the House leaders have stubbornly insisted on releasing it. Not even the present crisis can turn them from this grave blunder. As a result thousands of banks consider that a loan from the R. F. C. is a liability and not a help.

It is to be hoped that the new Speaker will have the sagacity to announce that no more R. F. C. reports on loans to banks and insurance companies will be published.

RELIEF BY GAMBLING.

During the recent campaign there was bitter condemnation of the stabilization activities of the Farm Board. President Hoover agreed that the attempt to uphold the prices of wheat and cotton on a falling market was unsuccessful, and called for repeal of the stabilization section of the agricultural marketing act. Public opinion leaned in the same direction. Opposition to artificial price-raising ventures was unanimous.

In spite of this emphatic opposition, both houses of Congress have passed another stabilization measure known as the Smith bill. Its provisions are confined to cotton. A cotton board would be created in the Department of Agriculture with power to take over all cotton now held by governmental agencies. The necessary funds would be supplied by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Such cotton would be held until after the 1933 crop is harvested. Producers who would sign a contract agreeing to reduce their acreage in 1933 by 30 per cent would be allowed the privilege of buying from the board the same amount of cotton by which their production would be reduced.

Sponsors of this measure believe that the reduction of acreage would immediately raise cotton prices. After the rise had taken place it is contemplated that producers would be able to sell their purchases from the cotton board at a profit. In this way they would be compensated for their reduction of acreage.

The most that can be said for this scheme is that it is a make-shift arrangement for disposing of surplus cotton. Hope that it would lift cotton prices to a higher level for any length of time is largely fanciful. If prospects of higher prices were in sight, a majority of farmers might prefer to take advantage of them without signing any contract for reduction of their output. Farmers who entered into the agreement might thus be penalized. Their crops would be 30 per cent below normal and they would be in debt to the Government for the purchase of cotton.

Another stabilization fiasco would be a hard blow to agriculture. It is time for the Government to stop trying to relieve the farmer by speculating in the products which he produces. This measure has obtained support in Congress only because members of both houses feel a deep obligation to "do something for the farmer." President Hoover is also in sympathy with the restoration of agriculture, but he may be expected to veto this bill to save the farmer from the disastrous effects of another fiasco in governmental price control.

SENATOR WALSH.

The new administration and the country suffer a heavy loss in the death of Senator Thomas J. Walsh. President-elect Roosevelt contemplated with satisfaction the prospect of having an Attorney General of first rank, both in experience and prestige. Senator Walsh was regarded by the people as one of the happiest selections for the Cabinet. His counsel would have been invaluable to the President, not only as to matters affecting the laws, but as to general national policy.

Senator Walsh's loyal friendship was cherished by Gov. Roosevelt. At the Chicago convention the Montana senator was in the thick of the fray, gladly subjecting himself to the test which resulted in his election as permanent chairman and thereby demonstrating Gov. Roosevelt's mastery of the convention. Senator Walsh was a heroic figure as chairman, but it may now be surmised that he well-nigh gave his life for the cause. The ordeal through which he passed unquestionably overtaxed his heart and shortened his days.

Speeding to Washington to participate in the inauguration ceremonies, happy with his bride in anticipating the social amenities of the new administration, and busily planning for his work as Attorney General, Senator Walsh was stricken down. Death has been doubly cruel in his case.

As senator, as famous prosecutor of the oil investigation, as party leader, and as a man, Senator Walsh met every duty with fidelity and conspicuous ability. For his public services the country is grateful, and it keenly regrets that it is deprived of the still greater service that was in prospect.

Next to the new President, the weather man is the center of interest in Washington.

AN OLD DUTCH BIBLE

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

A compliment to the plucky land whence his ancestors sprang will be paid by President-elect Roosevelt by taking the oath of office on the Dutch family Bible, containing records of births back to a year when the residents of Manhattan hadn't yet become accustomed to calling New Amsterdam "New York."

The Dutch have left an indelible impress on the city at the mouth of the river Hendrik Hudson explored. Their names have come down in families of long social, business and political prominence, such as Astor, Vanderbilt and Roosevelt. A Dutch governor purchased Manhattan from the Indians at a reputed price of $24 in trinkets.

While the far-sighted French took the capacious Gulf of St. Lawrence, nearest Europe, and affording access to the Great Lakes and the continental interior, and the English were scouring the coast, a mariner from the Lowlands picked out the nearest first-class, ice-free port to Europe, the one destined to become the world's greatest commercial center. Chance may have played a part, but the Dutch knew a harbor when they saw it. They have their own Zuyder Zee, which they conquered, and the mouth of the Rhine. It was command of the Rhine terminus of the route to the Orient that made Holland the distributing point for the Oriental trade of the Hanseatic League. When Portugal captured the business the Dutch put to sea and brought the goods from Lisbon, and when Spain closed that port to them the Dutch went after the spices in their own ships.

They had no seventeenth century superiors in commercial enterprise. They were the forerunners of the modern age. They lacked the manpower to retain a foothold on this continent. The Netherlands now is only about a fourth the size of New York, with a population equal to that of New York's principal city, but it rules an empire in the East and West Indies 50 times as big as the mother country with 7 times its population. It is the oldest colonial power and ranks third in its holdings. Like Great Britain, the only other one of the seventeenth century maritime nations to save its outlying possessions, The Netherlands expanded through the agency of the joint stock company as the Hanseatic League began to wane. The Dutch East India Co. seized the islands for stations in the Chinese and Oriental trade.

If ever the law of survival called forth the resources of adaptability to environment the Dutch have exhibited them all. The region they possess was coveted by others. Their history embraces a succession of conquests and rebellions, the bloody Thirty Years War and commercial competition which required merchant vessels to be armed. With it all, they had to fight the sea. True to their dominant characteristic, they not only subdued it, but converted their difficulty into an opportunity.

The happy choice of the Dutch family Bible may be a symbol of the stout heritage Mr. Roosevelt received from that line.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

A MAN MAKES A DISCOVERY.

The proud man from his dwelling strode
To find a less ornate abode.
With solemn face he went his way
Thinking in splendor and display
And all man's many selfish prides
The genuine joy of life abides.

Into a humbler street he turned
Which heretofore his feet had spurned.
The little houses, side by side,
He gazed on, sad and terrified
Till from a door, he fancied glum,
He saw a smiling woman come.

"I hear it told," to him said she "Our neighbor soon you're going to be.
I hope you'll like the house next door,
The occupants of it before
Were happy there! It may be you
Will find the place enchanting, too.

"We think our little street is gay
With friendly people all the way;
In spring the lawns grow green and then
The gardens come to bloom again."
The proud man put away his pride
And was no longer terrified.

If There Is an Incendiary in Town, Will You Drop Your Fire Insurance?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THIS is addressed to the parents of small boys.

Let's suppose that the school your boys attend is housed in a firetrap. If the building should burn during school hours, nothing short of a miracle could prevent panic and tragedy.

If that should happen, certain officials would be morally responsible for the death of your sons. Perhaps you could hold them legally responsible. But that wouldn't bring your boys back to life.

You would hate the officials, of course, but part of the responsibility would be yours. If you had demanded protection for your boys, and thus aroused the sensible anxiety of other parents, the officials could have been persuaded to do their duty.

Why are literate and sensible parents so indifferent to the danger that threatens their sons now?

Despite our professed love of peace, we have had six major wars. In each of them our boys have been sacrificed by the thousand—slaughtered like rats in a trap—because responsible officials failed to provide reasonable safeguards to give them a fighting chance.

Now there is ever-increasing danger of war with Japan, and again our Nation is like a Samson shorn of his locks.

Do you realize that America and the allies escaped many traps and achieved many successes by reason of their ability to intercept and decode Germany's messages?

There are thousands of Japanese who are masters of English. Where are the Americans trained to interpret and decode messages broadcast by the Japs?

And where are the ships to match Japan's fleet?

The war will be fought on the sea and in the air. And we simply haven't the equipment necessary to win it.

Of course we shall win in the end. Our superior wealth and greater resources will make ultimate victory certain. But many thousands of our boys will be sacrificed and many billions will be spent before we are ready to fight.

It is too late to prevent the threat of war. Our weakness has invited that. But it isn't too late to begin the building of adequate weapons of defense.

You may teach your boy not to pick a fight. But if a bully threatens him, it is shameful to tie his hands.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Investors Need Protection.

Brooklyn Eagle.

A peer of the realm was jailed in England not so long ago because he allowed a company report to be issued in which no acknowledgment was made of the fact that dividends had been partly paid out of reserve instead of being wholly paid out of earnings. English law does not prohibit highly speculative ventures in finance, but it does insist that intending investors shall not be beguiled by misleading statements or by withholding of the truth. American law should do at least as much as that for the American investor. The testimony given at Washington shows conclusively that investors in Peruvian bonds were induced to purchase them while the selling agency was in possession of facts which, if commonly known, would have made them the sheerest gambling venture.

Call Congress Now.

Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The probability that Mr. Roosevelt will call a special session of the new Congress this month instead of waiting until April will give general satisfaction. There will be so much for the next Congress to do that the sooner it gets started the better. The fifteenth of this month would not be too early for the special session to get down to business.

Chance for Jim Farley.

New York Herald Tribune.

That Mr. Farley is a first-class politician is generally known. That he is also an able business man and has an extraordinary ability for hard work and for getting things done is not so widely appreciated. In the operation of the Postoffice Department, which for years has shown a deficit, Mr. Farley will have great opportunity to show his business ability. His loyalty to Mr. Roosevelt should lead him to extraordinary efforts to help the President reach his announced goal of a 25 per cent reduction in the cost of the Federal Government.

Douglas, Budget Director.

New York Herald Tribune.

A separate and special word of commendation is due Gov. Roosevelt for his choice of Representative Lewis W. Douglass, of Arizona, for the post of Director of the Budget. Here awaits one of the vital tasks of the new administration. With much reason, the Director of the Budget has been ranked with the heads of the State and Treasury Departments as the first concern of the country in the present crisis. If the budget is to be balanced through economies, if the veteran is to be shorn of his unjustified allotments, here is the man who must lead the fight.

To say that Mr. Douglass measures up to this task as well as any one who could be suggested is high praise indeed. We think he deserves it. By his campaigns in Arizona, as by his votes in Congress, he has shown that he has the sort of two-fisted courage which not only enables a man to stand for the right but to make that right prevail. He has been a gallant figure in the House, and we feel sure that he will make his mark in the Roosevelt regime. It could not have a better liaison officer with Congress.

A Senator's Appraisal.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

Senator Logan says the Senate should be the greatest power in this Government, but it is not. "It would seem," said he, "that the Senate has a case of the jitters. Hours are spent in arguing inconsequential subjects and, in the meantime, the most urgent business of the country waits."

The situation presents the Senate in an unfavorable light, says Senator Logan, but it is easily understandable, he believes. "Tempers are frayed, and we see such outbreaks as those occasioned by Mr. Barry's article. I can not agree that there are crooks in Congress, but I am not so sure about demagogues—men who stand for something because they think such a stand will benefit them."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mr. Yamazaki Defends Japanese Policy as Bulwark Against Communism.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The League of Nations is an institution upon which minor powers fall back for protection, whatever the consequences to major powers. If these United States had a dispute with a weak neighbor and if the dispute were taken over to the bank of Lac Leman, these United States would be sure to be pronounced the bad boy. The league assembly, had it been convoked at the turn of the century, must have voted for the return of the Republic of Cuba to Spanish sovereignty, then an incarnation of banditry and warlordism. Small wonder that these United States are not yet prepared to join the league.

The league covenant, the pact of Paris, the nine-power treaty—they are all nice papers. Nice, provided that their invocation is preceded by the realization of the spirit of the instruments. The process of delving into the spirit does not lie in unconscionable practice of egoism under the academic cloak of humanitarianism, but in viewing the dire realities, past and present. The World War did not originate in the two bullets fired at Sarajevo. Nor did the 13 American States come into being by the dumping of British tea into the Boston Harbor. The present Manchurian conflict is but one link in the 40-year chain of events.

Should the Stimsonian principle, which spoke of Japan alone, be applied rampantly, should all the great powers of the world yield the fruits of their aggression, then the ensuing pandemonium all over this planet will be simply hellish. Not only will pacifistics sentimentality be of no avail, but the world realistic existence will be consigned to doom.

Watchman, what of the night? If Japan withdraws from Manchuria today, a world conflagration is bound to shoot up to the appalling detriment to major powers, while minor powers can afford to look on and smile. Japan is the only power that can stay the triumphal march of Communism to the Pacific Ocean, and Japan renders that service, too. The service so rendered is a service to the Western civilization. Japan can not tolerate an evolution to make Manchuria safe for democracy and banditry. YUJI YAMAZAKI.

New York, March 1.

Ambulance Siren Should Be Heeded, Says Driver, Who Points Out Dangers of Traffic.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: After reading your editorial of March 1 about "Emergency Speeding," I can not help but write to you, and as a driver with over seven years' experience in Washington, disagree about placing blame on the ambulance driver.

If Mr. Oren Lentz was jogging along Fourteenth street at 20 miles per hour and could not hear the siren or stop his car before it got even half way across this wide street, either his hearing was defective or his brakes. In either case he was to blame.

He was probably just like a lot of other careless drivers. With so many in his smaller car, his windows all closed, he entered Pennsylvania avenue, looking not at the right as he should, but to the left, and in all probability would have been hit by any motorist who did not see him and give him right of way.

Any motorist who can not hear an ambulance siren at least three blocks away has defective hearing and his driver's permit should be suspended or revoked. Any motorist who can not stop his car when going 20 miles per hour within 25 feet should not be allowed to drive the rattletrap on the streets of Washington.

Naturally, I sympathize with the victims of this accident, but I can not subscribe to placing the blame on the ambulance driver, or on any emergency vehicle under the same circumstances. HARRY KIDDER.

Approves Rigorous Punishment of Lawbreakers as Deterrent of Crime.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I read with interest Mr. George T. Vaughan's article in regard to the punishment of hardened criminals, and those possessing criminal inclinations.

He is perhaps a little severe (but at the same time, I think, just) in saying that corporal punishment should be administered to those convicted of offenses such as arson, theft, &c., and I might add, were it applied oftener than is done, fewer crimes of this character would occur.

"Inherited tendencies" and the "mind" are fine subterfuges for the culprit when apprehended, but as Mr. Vaughan says, by destroying the poisonous serpent or spider, we need not fear his venom; likewise by condemning to death, and in short order, the cold-blooded murderer, we are reducing crime to a minimum. Until this action is taken, justice will always be delayed or defeated. Reformation is not accomplished by imprisonment, as this course furnishes plenty of time on the criminal's part to think out, and upon release, to commit other and major offenses.

Inmate of Soldiers' Home Cites a Case Where Economy Might Be Justified.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have read your editorial, "Review Veterans' Doles." Here is a concrete case:

Mr. Blank, able-bodied, having a slight impediment of speech, receives $35 compensation, has $1,500 in the United States Soldiers' Home treasury and owns 200 shares of stock in telephone company. Why is this veteran entitled to domiciliary care? Why are veterans in the home allowed to have automobiles? B. J.

INAUGURAL DETAILS WILL BE BROADCAST

By ROBERT D. HEINL.

The progress made in modern radio engineering will be demonstrated in the technical arrangements for the inaugural broadcasts tomorrow. Many of the engineering phases of the broadcasts, such as the large automobiles to follow President-elect Roosevelt, fully equipped with short-wave broadcasting apparatus allowing communication with the transmitter without the use of wire lines, are feats which were not possible four years ago.

The radio engineer, and unsung hero, is always the most important person in any broadcast because without him there would be no music or speech when the radio is turned on. The engineering staffs of the national chains have had one of the hardest tasks of their careers in arranging for the inaugural broadcasts.

However, they have succeeded in setting up and putting in practically perfect working order the most complicated wire-line and short-wave system ever attempted in radio broadcasting. The radio audiences will be allowed to participate in all the highlights of the inaugural ceremony through the ingenuity of these engineers.

Detailed Description Promised.

The technical men have planned it so that the announcers will begin their descriptive work when President-elect Roosevelt leaves the hotel to journey to the White House. He will be followed from the White House to the Capitol, through the Capitol to the east front, where the inaugural takes place, then, as President of the United States, back to the White House.

The interval between the inaugural and the parade will be filled with the music of the bands, the observations of the announcers all along the line of march and one or two special features.

Doing away with the conversations between announcers which was formerly necessary because they had no other way to give cues, will be a sort of "radio central." With the modern equipment now in use, any microphone point will be in direct communication with the "radio central."

Widely Separated Positions.

The "radio central" will receive reports every few minutes from each of the widely separated microphone positions of what is going on there, will determine which point is the most interesting at the moment, and will instruct the announcer at that point to go on the air for a certain length of time.

While he is talking, the "radio central" will decide which of the other points is the most exciting, and so on. Thus the listener should be at the peak point for every important happening.

This plan will be followed by both the national chains.

One of the high lights of the broadcasting day will be the following of the movements of President-elect Roosevelt with the short-wave apparatus.

Broadcast From Plane.

Another will be a broadcast from a N. B. C.-Army plane, commanded by Capt. Thomas Rives, U. S. A., assisted by Lieut. Wallace Smith, Lieut. Tom Haloman and W. G. Eaton, of a description of the City of Washington for those in the radio audience who have never been here.

The National Broadcasting Co. will have fifteen microphone positions in different parts of the city. Among these points are the Capitol corridor, the east front of the Capitol, a plane, the White House, roof and lawn; a roaming transmitter, roof of the reviewing stands, the mobile transmitter, and others.

Columbia will have about the same number of microphone positions.

One of the tricks possible with the N. B. C. set-up is the blending of the applause and band music at one point with an address at another point.

Engineering Arrangements.

The N. B. C. engineering arrangements are in the hands of George McElrath, operating engineer of N. B. C., New York; A. E. Johnson, engineer in charge of WRC and WMAL, while William Burke Miller, special events director of N. B. C., will be in charge of the "radio central" operations.

The Columbia chain plans to use a staff of fifteen engineers, under the direction of Edwin K. Cohan, technical supervisor, and Henry Grossman, field supervisor. The Columbia "nerve center" organization is headed by Herbert B. Glover, of New York, director of news broadcasting, assisted by Clyde Hunt, WJSV engineer.

There will be a large staff of announcers for each chain.

In addition to the elaborate preparations broadcasting networks are making to convey word pictures of the inauguration proceedings throughout the country and to the far corners of the earth, extra arrangements are also being made to keep the overflow crowds along Pennsylvania avenue informed of the momentous doings at Capitol Hill. Likewise they will be told about the progress the inaugural parade is making.

Giant Loud Speakers.

Arrangements have been made with the RCA Victor Co. for the installation of large clusters of giant loud speakers on the roof of the old Postoffice Building at Eleventh street, on the roof of the new Postoffice Building at Thirteenth street and at Fourteenth street and the Avenue, and near the south end of the Treasury, at Fifteenth street.

With the aid of powerful amplifiers, these loud speakers will send forth every word spoken by the expert radio observers, to the waiting throngs in the streets simultaneously as it goes out over the great national network.

The engineer is the man who will really count tomorrow. Without the assistance of the engineers sitting at each remote point, waiting patiently for a signal, no announcer or news commentator could be heard. Far above the city and sitting in small enclosures along its main thoroughfares, the radio engineers sit, unseen, unsung, symbolic of modern radio.

of those of his Cabinet, who were not with him, were also at the station.

The motoreade sped out Massachusetts avenue to H street, thence to New York avenue and switched into Pennsylvania avenue. At East Executive avenue the Court of Honor, where Mr. Roosevelt will view the procession in his honor Saturday, was traversed.

The Court of Honor was illuminated with blue-shaded electric lights with the Presidential reviewing stand thrown into relief with the use of amber-hued shades.

Retires by Midnight.

Reaching the end of the Court of Honor, the limousines turned up Jackson place and into Seventeenth to DeSales street where the hotel was entered by a side entrance.

Reporters hurrying to get in behind the official party, found Mrs. Roosevelt in an inimitable predictment. In her anxiety to see that her dog was taken care of, she had become separated and had to be escorted in with the puppy on a leash in an arriving party all her own.

The President-elect and party went immediately to the suite he has occupied on previous visits. He was understood to have retired by midnight after brief conferences with his secretariat.

A considerable crowd had waited outside the hotel in hope of a sight of the prospective new White House household, but most of the throng were doomed to disappointment because of the side entrance entry.

The Mayflower lobby, always a blaze of color, became a kaleidoscope as officials, detectives, newspapermen and the entourage of the President-elect mingled with the cosmopolitan night throngs in the hostelry's corridors.

Tremor of Sadness.

The death of Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, Mr. Roosevelt's Attorney General-designate, caused a tremor of sadness in the Capital out inaugural activities went on undiminished, Admiral Cary T. Grayson, general chairman, explaining that it was too late to provide for any change to be made in plans unless the President-elect himself so ordained.

As the Roosevelt train sped here from the north, the first of inaugural events got underway—the Promenade concert at the Pan American Union Building. A large throng from officialdom and from private life was in attendance.

The Marine Band, the Washington Choral Society and Chief Yowlache, Yokama Indians bass-baritone, provided the renditions forming the musical initiation of inaugural events.

Meanwhile it developed late yesterday that 1,200 choice seats in the court of honor on the White House side are untaken. Melvin D. Hildreth, executive secretary of the ticket committee, expressed wonderment that these points of vantage where the bands play their best and where the parade reaches its peak should be selling so slowly.

Mr. Hildreth said 800 of the $7 chairs were unsold at the ticket office, 1419 G street northwest, while 400 of the $6 seats were not sold. He said that only a scant allotment of $3, $4 and $5 seats remained, but that about 2,000 of the tickets for the uncovered stands remain.

A report that the ushers in the official reviewing stands are being paid $7 for the day was denied by Mr. Hildreth. Honor students from local law schools and Eagle Boy Scouts, picked after some vying for the honor, will act as ushers, he said.

Personnel of Party.

The President-elect's train left New York at 4 p. m. In the party were the incoming Chief Executive, Mrs. Roosevelt, Mrs. James Roosevelt, sr., his mother; his son, James, and Mrs. James Roosevelt, jr.; Elliott and his wife.

James A. Farley, new Postmaster General, and George H. Dern, of Utah, the Secretary of War, and their families were with Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt on the special train as it pulled in.

Mrs. James Roosevelt, mother of the President-elect, and the children, Elliott and wife; Franklin and John, were on the Roosevelt car.

Mrs. Anna Dall, the daughter, came here earlier yesterday with her children, Anna and Curtis, 5 and 2, respectively, James, the oldest son, and his wife joined the family at Baltimore.

The inaugural special also included Mrs. Henry Wallace, wife of the Secretary of Agriculture; Louis M. Howe, Roosevelt secretary; Gus Gennerich, personal aid, and William Green, State trooper; Basil D. O'Connor, Roosevelt law partner; Josephus Daniels, Raleigh, N. C., publisher; Frank Walker, party treasurer, and Mrs. Walker; Robert S. Jackson, party secretary; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, jr.; Mr. and Mrs. William H. Howes, of Huron, S. Dak.; Prof. Raymond Moley, economic adviser who is to be First Assistant Secretary of State; W. Forbes Morgan, distant relative; Vincent Daly, assistant to Farley; Charles Hand of New York; Eddie Dowling, actor-politician; Marvin H. McIntyre, secretary; and the personal secretarial staff, Miss Margarite Lehand, Miss Margaret Donnelly, Miss Grace Tully and Miss Frances McKenner.

Hotels Like Beehives.

The city last night had taken on the boom-town atmosphere imparted by inaugurations of old. Streets downtown swarmed with visitors.

Hotel lobbies were like beehives. All the hosteries were filled to capacity. Rooming houses were likewise beset with patronage. Many private homes were throwing open their doors to inaugural trade.

The small child taken for a stroll would have been overjoyed. Cowboys and Indians in full regalia were often seen on main arteries strolling along, taking in the sights of the Capital.

Trains, buses and private automobiles still continue to bring in inaugural visitors, with the peak expected late today.

Plenty of entertainment has been provided for visitors for today. In the morning a military and naval display will be given in Potomac Park and at the navy yard. In the afternoon, the navy yard will continue open with exhibits, while at Fort Myer crack cavalrymen will stage a drill.

In the afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock, an aboriginal exercise, Indian ball, will be presented by a group of Indians proficient in the sport, which is declared to be thrilling. A professional lacrosse game also will be held in conjunction. Both events take place at Central High School Stadium.

At 6:30 p. m. the quadrennial presidential electors' dinner will be held. It is the only preinaugural function at which the President-elect will take part. Vice President Garner and most of the incoming Cabinet will be present.

Electoral College Dinner.

James A. Farley, Postmaster General-designate, will preside at the electors' dinner. Practically all the members of the Electoral College will be present. The United States Navy Band Orchestra will provide music for the function, which will take place at the Willard Hotel.

At 8:30 tonight an opera concert will be given at Constitution Hall. Although the President-elect will not attend, his mother, Mrs. James D. Roosevelt, is expected to be there and possibly other members of the Roosevelt family.

Internationally famed artists will take part in the concert tonight. Rosa Ponselle, Lawrence Tibbett, Efrem Zimbalist and the National Symphony Orchestra will be the principal artists.

The reception to governors of States of the Union present and other distinguished guests will be held tonight at the Pan-American Union Building and will begin at 10 p. m., continuing until midnight.

The inaugural ceremonies will get under way just after 12 noon, with Vice President Curtis administering the oath of office to Vice President-elect Garner.

Brief Inaugural Address.

At 12:45, the axis event, around which the entire inauguration activities rotate, Franklin D. Roosevelt will take the oath of office of the Presidency on the east portico of the Capitol. Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes will administer the oath, which will be taken on the Roosevelt family Bible.

The inaugural address of President Roosevelt will then ensue. It has been estimated that it will consume only a few minutes, following which the President and his military and Secret Service escort will leave for the White House for lunch.

At about 1:30 the parade will begin. The events have been timed so that the new President and official party will meet the inaugural procession as it turns into Fifteenth street from Pennsylvania avenue.

Mr. Roosevelt's party will then lead the parade into the Court of Honor, where a momentary halt will be made while the presidential group assume their seats in the reviewing stand. It is estimated that the President will be in his place in the stand at about 2:30 p. m.

A tea will be given by the new President for the Cabinet, Congress, Diplomatic Corps, high officialdom and distinguished personages immediately after the parade.

In the evening a great fireworks display has been arranged preceding the inaugural ball.

The inaugural ball will be held under one great roof at the Washington Auditorium. Although the President is not expected to attend, Mrs. Roosevelt has signified a probability that she will be there.

CONCERT LAUNCHES INAUGURATION JOYS

Visitors Throng Pan-American Union; Marine Band and Chorus Perform.

Gusts of snow and rain without were forgotten, for the moment, when the Marine Band played "La Paloma" and the gaudy macaw screamed at the scarlet-coated interlopers of his patio at the inaugural "apertif" last night at the Pan-American Union.

Thousands crowded the building at the promenade concert which officially opened the entertainment program of the inauguration. So filled was the building many were able but to catch a glimpse of the band among the palms and other tropic plants of the patio.

The Marine Band and the Washington Choral Society divided honors in entertaining the crowd. Chief Yowlache, the Indian bass-baritone, who was scheduled to sing, could not keep the engagement because of illness, it was announced.

It was an informal affair, and the several thousand guests, most of whom were inaugural visitors to the city, walked the marble halls, sat on the staircases and leaned over banisters and balustrades.

The program was informal, too, but none the less enjoyable. It was a program of songs and marches known to every one—"Dixie," Victor Herbert's airs, songs from "The Student Prince" and patriotic airs. The audience responded to a request to join in the singing of "America."

Inaugural Dinner For Oklahomans

Visitors and Others Are Guests of Yukon Business Men.

An informal dinner to Oklahoma visitors to the inauguration, State officials, and members of the House and Senate from Oklahoma, their wives and friends, was given last night at the Raleigh Hotel by John F. Kroutil, prominent business man from Yukon, Okla., well known in Washington.

Among guests were Senator and Mrs. Thomas P. Gore, of Oklahoma; Representative Jed Johnson and Mrs. Johnson, of Oklahoma; Mrs. Elmer Thomas, wife of Senator Thomas, of Oklahoma, who was unable to attend because of illness; Representative Wesley E. Disney and Mrs. Disney, of Oklahoma, and Col. E. E. Sheed, secretary of State, Oklahoma.

Following the dinner impromptu speeches were given by the guests.

Pilot Ready

Man Who Chauffeured Taft in Steam Car to Serve Again.

"Gee!" small boys will say tomorrow, "I wish I was him."

Referring not to President-elect Roosevelt, as one might expect, but to the man behind the wheel of the presidential car—Francis Robinson, better known as "Robbie."

Robbie has been the presidential chauffeur since 1910. In those days he chauffeured William Howard Taft in a steam automobile, and there was a railing along the top of the car, devised by Robbie, which Mr. Taft—a large man—found helpful when he was getting out of the machine.

Taft, Theodore Roosevelt, Wilson, Harding, Coolidge—Robbie has driven them all.

Theodore Roosevelt and Wilson preferred a horse and carriage for their inaugural drive. Robbie will call for Mr. Roosevelt at the Mayflower Hotel tomorrow morning and drive to the White House for Mr. Hoover, and thence to the Capitol.

Toby Cook Broadcasts On Post's Air Program

Toby Cook, the 7-year-old boy who rode on a pony from Georgia to ride in the inaugural parade, made his radio debut last night. He was guest artist on the Washington Postilion, The Post's broadcast period over Station WMAL of the National Broadcasting Co.

Introduced by the Postilion, Toby suffered a slight touch of "mike fright," but finally said that he was glad to be in Washington and that he had two spare ponies in case there were any more traffic accidents, such as the one which took the life of his favorite mount last week 35 miles from Washington.

Another Famous Composer Pens March for Roosevelt

Author of "Hot Time in Old Town" to Be at Inaugural.

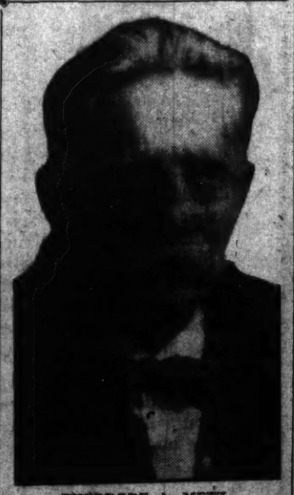
When the United States Navy Band marches up Pennsylvania avenue in the inaugural parade tomorrow it will play a new march, dedicated to President-elect Roosevelt, composed by Theodore A. Metz, who wrote the world-famous "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight."

This march is not to be confused with the one composed by William H. Woodin, next Secretary of the Treasury, which will also be played.

Mr. Metz's Roosevelt march is a simple, stirring tune, having the same number of bars as "Hot Time," and is as easy to pick up. Capt. Charles Benter, director of the Navy Band, is enthusiastic over it.

"Hot Time" was adopted by Theodore Roosevelt as the marching song for his Rough Riders. They sang it when they went into action. Today it continues to be one of the most popular tunes in the world. Mr. Metz composed it on a railroad train traveling through Louisiana with McIntyre and Heath and their minstrels.

A cabin in Old Town, La., was burning. Negroes were throwing buckets of water on the place.



THEODORE A. METZ.

Legislators in Minnesota Warned to Cut Car License

Anonymous Letter Tells Three Lower House Members That "Bunker Hill Will Be Reenacted" If Reduction Fails to Pass.

St. Paul, Minn., March 2 (A.P.).—Warning legislators "Bunker Hill will be enacted all over again right here in Minnesota," an anonymous letter writer advised three members of the Lower House today it will be "sic semper tyrannis for yours" if a 50 per cent cut in automobile license fails of passage.

The communication was addressed to E. J. Children, of International Falls; H. H. Barker, of Elbow Lake, and Joseph Koziak, of Minneapolis, members of a House committee conferring with Senate members on the automobile license bill.

Gov. Floyd B. Olson denied early reports he also had received such a letter.

The House has opposed a 50 per cent cut, while the Senate bill favors it. For that reason, Representative Children said, senators probably escaped the threats.

The letter, written in ink and mailed in Minneapolis, reads:

"Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their country."

"That is what I learned in school and this what the voters of your State demand of you.

"You three are against the cut in tax on automobiles and are trying to hold it where it was.

"The voters want a 50 per cent cut and we demand it. And we are going to get it.

"Therefore, take warning and do not try to do anything to oppose this cut.

"Bunker Hill will be enacted all over again right here in this State.

"Should this tax cut fail to go through you three will get what is coming to you. We are sick and tired of having to pay so high a tax for everything and you was put there to reduce them. See that you do it now. Think this over well before you vote to maintain the tax as it is, and if it fails to be cut 50 per cent on all cars 'sic semper tyrannis for yours.'"

The letter was turned over to postal authorities.

Proper Method of Salute To Colors Bared by Moss

Due to the question of proper saluting of the hundreds of American flags which will be carried in the inaugural parade tomorrow, the following statement was issued by Col. James Moss, president general of the United States Flag Association:

"The average American wants to do the correct thing in connection with the saluting of the flag of this country. If he fails to do so it is due to lack of knowledge. In connection with the inaugural parade tomorrow, in which hundreds of flags will be carried at short intervals, it is not considered necessary for those who are sitting in stands or at windows to rise and salute every flag that passes.

"When frequently rising and saluting tends to make the act irksome and unnatural, it is considered proper for the men, without rising, to remove and place their hats on their left breast as each flag passes and for the women to place the right hand over the heart, as prescribed in the flag code. The same procedure should be followed by those who are standing."

JACOBY-BURNSTINE PAIR LEAD TOURNEY

Two Foursomes Will Meet Today for Title and Reisinger Trophy.

New York, March 2 (A.P.).—Oswald Jacoby and David Burnstine, who won the Eastern team championship last year as teammates on P. Hal Sims' "Four Horsemen," led opposing teams of their own to the finals of the 1933 tournament today.

The two foursomes, survivors of four days' play, will meet tomorrow for the title and the Curt H. Reisinger trophy. Playing with Jacoby are Louis H. Watson, Theodore A. Lightner and Michael T. Gottlieb. Burnstine's associates are Richard Frey, Howard Schenken and Charles Lochridge.

Sims did not enter this year's competition. Willard S. Karn, his partner in the "Four Horsemen," was a member of the team Burnstine's four defeated in the semifinal today by 530 points. The others were George Reith, Charles Goren and B. Jay Becker, of Philadelphia.

Jacoby's quartet today eliminated Lee Langdon, John Matthews, Harry Raffel and L. R. Bachner by the slim edge of 60 points.

The Eastern Bridge Teachers' championship, completed after a third session today, was captured by Mrs. H. R. Taylor and A. J. Ferris, who had led the day before. The defending holders of the Elizabeth Hanfield trophy were Mrs. Dorothy Roberts and Mrs. Daphne Tench.

A third event, the "preliminary pairs," found 24 twosomes qualified for the third and final session tomorrow. The event is being played for the first time this year. Mrs. Herman Liberman donated the cup.

In the Eastern pair championship, from which many favorites have been eliminated, 28 survivors played a fourth session tonight. The finals are tomorrow night.

HOOVER POSTPONES VOYAGE TO PANAMA

charitable organizations, the Belgian Scholarship Fund, the American Child Health Association and the American Relief Administration Children's Fund. He has matters incident to these organizations, all of which he founded some years ago, as well as other personal matters to attend to. Mrs. Hoover will go on to California, as planned. This change in plans involves no departure from the announced arrangements for the President's journey to New York after the ceremonies at the Capitol."

Mills Foregoes Voyage.

Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills, who had been invited to accompany the Hoover party on the pleasure jaunt through the canal, announced his own abandonment of the trip several days ago. Personal affairs in New York also were given as the reason for this last-minute change in plans.

Undersecretary Arthur A. Ballantine and Assistant Secretary James J. Douglas will remain in Washington for several days to assist incoming Secretary Woodin in taking hold of the Treasury routine. During recent weeks Mr. Douglas has been in charge of all details of the Government's fiscal program, which contemplates important refunding operations on March 15, and Undersecretary Ballantine has devoted himself almost exclusively to the domestic banking situation.

The Federal Reserve Board met until a late hour last night in the Treasury Building. No announcement came from the conference.

Although officials in charge of Government fiscal affairs appeared to sense some relaxation in the banking situation yesterday, there was no official comment upon whatever encouraging reports may have come in from the States.

Neither was there any comment on the suggestion put forward on Capitol Hill by Senator-elect William G. McAdoo, a former Secretary of the Treasury, that the New York Stock Exchange be closed "until the country gets its bearings."

The regular weekly statement of the Federal Reserve Board, published last night, showed an increase of $732,000,000 in money in circulation for the week ended last Wednesday. During the same week there had been a decrease of $116,000,000 in the total gold holdings of the Federal Reserve Banks.

The free flow of currency from the twelve Reserve Banks during the week suggests a vastly increased use of cash in daily business transactions. Regarded in that light, the weekly statement offers a degree of encouragement.

Gold Movement Changes.

The sharp outward movement of American gold last week marks a change in the recent trend, but this change had been expected by American banking circles for two weeks or more. For some six months, prior to February, American gold holdings increased steadily. Many factors apparently have conspired to reverse this salutary trend during the last two or three weeks.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (Republican), of Michigan, was a White House caller late last evening, several hours after the time usually allotted for legislative conferences in the Executive Offices. After the visit, however, there still was no confirmation of current reports on Capitol Hill that Senator Vandenberg's bill to insure national bank deposits had gained important momentum during the day.

The possibility of emergency banking legislation during the last hours of the present session still appeared remote at a late hour last night, but advocates of such efforts had not entirely abandoned hope that some agreement might be reached today.

DALADIER STUDIES LONDON DEBT TRIP

French Premier Is Anxious to Get British View at First Hand.

Paris, March 2 (A.P.).—Premier Edouard Daladier, eager to get first-hand information of the British attitude on current international problems, including war debts, is considering a trip to London during March.

The trip has not reached an official stage, being essentially a personal idea. The premier's final decision is still to be made.

The foreign office said it had no knowledge of the trip while at M. Daladier's office it was said no plans were made at present.

It was stated semiofficially, that in view of the cordiality of France-English relations and the importance of the problems of disarmament and interallied debts, it was quite possible that M. Daladier would go to London. It is probable also he will go to Geneva next week to take part in the disarmament discussions.

Now that he has obtained passage of the government's financial proposals, the danger of his overthrow is slight and he is expected to devote more time to the pressing problems of foreign relations.

Letters of a Capital Society Divorcee to Her Mother

Dearest Mother: I have secured the service of the best lawyer in Reno for $250, which any one living at a good hotel out here must regard as the minimum fee. The other girls at the Riverside are paying an average of $1,000, or perhaps I should put the average higher, as no one is paying less than $750, and several are paying $5,000, and one that I know is paying $10,000. That is because I "shopped" for mine (he was the only one I went to, though, as I have learned that none of the good lawyers ever touch a case for less than that), and theirs were arranged by their lawyers at home. You see what a difference it makes. My lawyer at home then sent him a resume of my case and warned him that, from past performances, he didn't think Reggie was of a mind to sign accommodatingly and promptly so Mr. Stevens (that is my new lawyer's name) suggested the brilliant plan that we send him two complaints to choose from—mental cruelty and nonsupport for one year. The answer came back from his lawyer to mine in the East, to Mr. Stevens, that "nonsupport" would be more acceptable, but they gave no promise to sign. Yesterday I learned from several other girls that they had done this same thing, and in each case their husbands have also chosen nonsupport. I find it hard to understand the masculine point of view on this. If you were a man, wouldn't you far rather have your wife divorce you on grounds of mental cruelty, a mild case of which seems almost like the "incompatibility" they use in other States?

Anyhow, I feel pretty sure he will sign now, for wouldn't any man be touched by the choice I gave him? If he doesn't sign the papers I will have to wait 40 days more for a default decree. Since we have no children, and since I am not asking for alimony, and since Reggie is a gentleman and would never contest my will, or sue me for bigamy if I marry again, a default decree would be all right for me. It is only when one's husband is a crook that a default divorce is dangerous. Or when she marries a crook afterward. Here is a case of the latter. Mrs. A. divorced Mr. A. with a default decree. They both remarried. Mrs. A.'s second husband, Mr. B., tired of her when he met a younger and richer woman. Mrs. B. was unwilling to divorce him, so his lawyer proved the Reno default decree invalid and declared her still the wife of Mr. A. Of course, he didn't want her either by then, having married another wife in the meantime, but she brought suit against the second Mrs. A. on the grounds of adultery and won the case. I heard that from a New York member of a Reno firm who chases up clients for them in the East, and ties up the ends of delicate cases. But you can imagine the kind of people who would do such things. With people of our class there is only one consideration, and that is children. If a man kidnaped his children after they had been awarded to the wife in a default decree, she would have to bring suit to get them back. So for that reason an unsigned divorce is of no practical value to a woman with children. And gentlemen have been known to kidnap their own children if they want to see them badly enough.

But in my case we haven't anything to worry about except the 40 days, and I feel sure he will sign, so we haven't even got that. They say the biggest day in Reno is the day your papers arrive signed. I find out that lots of the girls have them signed before they ever leave home. All the ones with children or they wouldn't come at all. The few exceptions to this engage detectives before they leave New York, and simply wait on in Reno with the children until their husbands are caught. Then they are forced to sign. One woman who was married to a Roman Catholic, who, of course, didn't believe in divorce, had to wait in Nevada for two years. So it goes.

I have just been interrupted by a visit from Clare. Her husband has just written that he is not satisfied with the agreement about the children (three) and that he wants to suggest changes. That means that her papers have to go back and forth twice again and since she is to get her divorce two weeks from Monday and be married in Chicago two days later, she is nearly crazy for fear the papers won't come back in time. Or that he will suggest unacceptable terms about the children. She thought it was settled and is terribly upset. That is the kind of little tempest that is always happening. She tried immediately to get her husband on the telephone and finds he is away. It is quite complicated where there are children and money arrangements to be made. In any case, Clare is paying half of the children's support and education and by the agreement she has them for the school year, her husband has them for "the long summer vacation." I am becoming very familiar with that phrase. Much love,

ELIZABETH.

Measles Serum Is Blamed for Death of Tots of Blood Poison.

Kansas City, March 2 (A.P.).—Two children are dead here from a virulent attack of blood poisoning, said by their physician to have been introduced into their systems by injections of measles serum which had been contaminated.

They are Edward Tilgham Connell, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Connell, and Rosalie Thornton Gill, 26-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Fairchild Gill. Her sister, Carolyn Mayo Gill, 5, is in a serious condition at a hospital.

DOCTOR IS INDICTED ON PERJURY CHARGE

Alienist Accused of Helping False Veteran Claims Against Government.

Chicago, March 2 (A.P.).—Dr. Orlando F. Scott, psychiatrist, was indicted by the Federal grand jury today on two charges of perjury, resulting from his testimony for two war veterans who sought unsuccessfully to collect compensation from the Government for alleged injuries.

The first indictment alleged that Dr. Scott, who has figured in a number of prominent trials here as alienist, gave perjured testimony in the plea of Richard Birdwell, Negro former soldier, to collect on his war risk insurance policy.

The psychiatrist testified an X-ray picture of Birdwell revealed a tubercular condition. Expert testimony for the Government was to the effect that the X-ray showed no such condition. Federal Judge John P. Barnes in that case directed a verdict for the Government and turned the case over to the district attorney for investigation. Birdwell was also indicted on a perjury charge.

The second indictment against Dr. Scott was similar, alleging perjury in the suit of George Breen, another veteran, for compensation.

Bond in each indictment was fixed at $2,500. The penalty on conviction is a maximum sentence of five years in Federal prison and $2,000 fine.

The Meanderer

Has Usual Friday Suggestions for Week-End Entertaining — Choice Bits for Inaugural Guests.

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4205, Extension 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Thick, round slices of crisp cucumber pickles centered with plump bits of pimiento are colorful and appetizing as served with the hors d'oeuvres or with the meat course. The Meanderer listed these gay pickles when she visited a bake shop adjoining one of our department store tea rooms.

Anchovies rolled with pimientos, anchovies rolled with capers, or anchovies in plain fillets are much less expensive than they used to be. The Meanderer suggests that you call her to know where to find lower prices on anchovies.

Olives stuffed with anchovies, crushed olives seasoned exotically, jumbo size olives, red-black olives from Greece—one or all of these types of olives should be on your marketing list this week-end. They're all on the Meanderer's list of Sunday night supper embellishments.

"I'm a New Englander and I'm particular about doughnuts," the personable young woman who manages a tearoom in Washington told the Meanderer. So, if you want just a satisfying "snack" after your bridge game, you won't do better than have some of these doughnuts, made so carefully under the direction of the tearoom manager from New England.

Blueberry jam will associate well with the hot biscuits for your special inaugural supper. The blueberry jam neighbors the doughnuts in the New Englander's tea shop just mentioned.

Cooked Virginia ham of a famous brand will save work and worry in meal preparation this week-end. The marketer who sells this cooked ham so delightfully seasoned is located in a market on K street which will be open all day Saturday.

Cakes, pies, cookies and all baked goods in a women's farm to home market are offered all day today and tomorrow morning for 10 per cent less than the usual price.

When you see apple dumplings made before your very eyes in the show windows of two bakeries in the heart of the shopping district you'll want some of them for week-end serving. The apples for these dumplings are sweetened with brown sugar and saturated with wild cherry sauce.

Brownies, and the rich, toothsome cookies made of dates, coconut and many other good things are featured six for 25 cents in clever "window boxes" in the bakeries just mentioned. "Window boxes" are bright, modernistically designed containers with transparent tops.

The recipes for making tea after the correct English method are ready in plentiful supply and the Meanderer is mailing scores of them to those who send their self-addressed, stamped envelopes. This recipe may be helpful to the hostess at tea parties for inaugural guests.

Pumpernickle, or round rye bread loaves, is selling today only for 4 cents a loaf in two downtown bakeries.

Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur Delivers Howard Talk

Declaring that the present econmic life must be dealt with by experts, Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Department of the Interior, told students at the charter day exercises at Howard University yesterday that there was never a more important time in which to advance the interests of the race and its institutions than now.

Dr. Wilbur expressed the hope that Howard University, like Leland-Stanford University, will some day have independent leadership, with its own buildings and endowment, without the necessity of Congressional aid.

YOUR INCOME TAX

No. 32.

CHECKING DELINQUENTS.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue has at its command many sources for checking up delinquent taxpayers. One of these is the "information at source" provision of the revenue act, under which persons, "in whatever capacity acting," are required to report to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue at Washington, D. C., payments to another in any calendar year of $1,000 or more if the recipient of such payment is single. If the recipient is married, reports need not be made unless the payments aggregate $2,500 or more. If the marital status of the payee is unknown to the payor, the payee is considered a single person for the purpose of filing an information return.

Fixed and determinable income includes wages, salaries, royalties, premiums, rent, interest, etc. A separate return of information for each employee is required of employers. The requirements are not limited to periodical payments, but a single payment must be reported. Corporations are required to make a separate report of dividends or distributions for each individual, fiduciary, or partnership holder who was paid $500 or more during the calendar year.

Information returns are carefully checked with individual returns of taxpayers. Thousands of delinquent returns and additional revenue amounting to millions of dollars have been secured as the result of the examination of information returns.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

A new note has invaded the coat world, and this straight box coat with odd fastenings is an example. For sports wear only, of course. The coat for street wear is slightly less fitted than last year, but not as straight hanging as the coat for sports. (Selected on Fifth avenue.)

It looks as though flutters are certainly in. Chanel, no less, predicts tulle summer nights—figure that one out, now. And even though I shouldn't, I predict an organdy fluttering summer.

We hope you like it! And we hope that you see to it that everyone else likes it, too—on you. For oh, the ladies who should not flutter!

Still, if you must flutter in either tulle or organdy this summer, because a kind fashion says you may, and if you aren't best in flutters around the face, try confining them to wrists, of even skirt hems. At least wrists—there is scarcely a type that can not half hide the hand in ruffles without being charming. 'Tis these very same ruffles when they go a traveling—up to the shoulders, that sometimes become trivial.

I'll tell you something about ruffles, though. If you are going to do it, don't be sparing. And oh, be sure they are always crisp and fresh! The laundering problem was solved in Hollywood recently by having all tulle or organdy ruffles cut and finished on both edges, miles and miles of strips—and gathered on with a basting thread where they were wanted. Perhaps more than a basting thread—something, at least, that would not be in danger of breaking and spilling yards of deruffled ruffles onto the dance floor—but anyhow, you get the idea. Then these ruffles, which are oh, so-o-o-o wiltable, were simply laundered as strips of material, starched for the organdy, and ironed flat—then regathered onto their respective foundations.

This can be done to tulle, also—and it's a wise woman who cleans her own tulle—unless she is a millionairess!

* * * *

Do you think you could ever make a pajama from less than 3 yards of material, and a size 40 at that? Yes, and ample everywhere, even at the trousers hems! Well, you can, and the way to go about it is to send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this week's pajama leaflet, which is a continuation of last week's, if you don't know that already. And between the two of them there are four of the loveliest and smartest and most practical pajamas you ever saw—one for every pajama occasion there is, and each made from remnants! And so few remnants, and so easy to make, and so-o-o-o inexpensive. Well, you can have both leaflets if you really forgot to send for last week's—just mention this when you send for this week's!

* * * *

Coats are trying to straighten the matter out—but it takes a sports coat for sportswear to actually go about it in a straight (laced) sort of way! The shoulders needn't be widened unless you have sloping and narrow shoulders, but they must be straight and square, and the coat hang from them and be unbelted. Ample pockets, chic fastenings of distinction and originality, comfy collar, cuffs as you please, armholes wide and sometimes raglan—and there you have it. Illustrated today, I mean, is where you have it. And a little spot of a dressier coat, also emphasizing the straightening out of coatdom.

Au revoir!

What Today Means

"PISCES."

If March 3 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a. m. to 9:45 a. m. from 12:30 p. m. to 1:10 p. m. and from 7:15 p. m. to 8:15 p. m. The danger periods are from 10 a. m. to 11 a. m. and from 5 p. m. to 5:50 p. m.

Influences should make for a happy day with great jollity in evidence. People generally will seek amusements of a frivolous nature. Intimate personal attachments will be sorely tried but will not come to permanent grief. Happenings on this day will not furnish good landmarks by which to judge future events.

The child born on this March 3 will quite possibly be backward in his school work. This will be due to lack of interest rather than to any deficiency inherent in him. He will prefer an outdoor existence. Life in the country during his early years will enable him to lay a firm mental and physical foundation on which to build and plan his life.

If March 3 is the date of your birth, yours is a well-defined personality. You may be either a very strong or a very weak person; certain it is that there is nothing half-way about you. Your success in life depends very largely on whether or not you "find yourself" at a young enough age; without a worthwhile and lasting interest in life you will be inclined to let yourself "go to seed." You have a good mind, an inquisitive mind, one that likes to get at the bottom of things, but you are not pryingly curious.

EXTRAORDINARY PLAY.

OCCASIONALLY a hand is dealt at the Contract table that seems to defy all principles of correct play as laid down in the textbooks and as exemplified by master players of the game. For instance, we have all mastered the principle of the finesse, which is a maneuver for position in order to limit or perhaps entirely eliminate losers in a certain suit. Of course, any maneuver for position in Bridge involves the question of entries, and the tactics of play must be governed by the exigencies of the occasion. Thus, in playing a hand at a suit bid, if the Opening lead reduces the security of our trump fortress by forcing a trump from the Declaring Hand, the player playing the combined hands may be forced to devise rather startling tactics to assure the safety of his contract.

An illustration of this occurred recently in an unusual deal in a Duplicate game at Crockford's Club, New York, in which generally a game contract in spades was reached, but only one Declarer, Mr. Huntington Norton, found a way to make the hand.

West, Dealer.

Neither side vulnerable.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
	1♣	Pass	1NT
Pass	2◇	Pass	Pass
2♡	2♠	Pass	3♠
Pass

The bidding requires no special comment. While the spade suit is rather weak, the pattern of the West hand certainly requires a disclosure of all three suits, and when East supports the spade bid, the bid for game is quite obvious.

The Opening lead was the heart 3, upon which a small card was played from Dummy, South played the Ten, and Mr. Norton ruffed with the 6. The contract looked extremely difficult, but the problem was attacked in an unusual manner. A large number of entries were needed in Dummy if all the honors were to be finessed against, so the Declarer rightly decided not to attempt all the finesses, but to conserve entries in his own hand so that an end-play might be made if occasion arose.

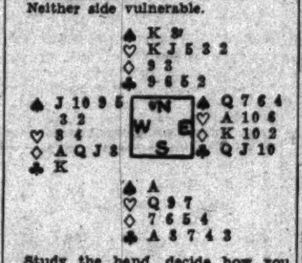
The Queen of clubs was laid down, and North won with the King and laid down another heart, which the Declarer ruffed. He had definitely adopted the policy of conserving his trump length in the Dummy, and his own trump strength was now practically non-existent. The next play was to lead the Queen of diamonds, and again North won with his King. Possibly he would have been wiser to have refused this trick, as it was certain the taking of a diamond trick could be deferred. Again a heart was led and again the Declarer trumped, thus reducing his trumps to the King alone. However, if the trumps were not too badly divided and the Declarer could find one key-card in the South hand, he had a chance for his contract. A small diamond was led and won with the Knave in Dummy. Dummy's last club led and the finesse against the Knave taken. When this succeeded, Mr. Norton laid down the Ace of clubs and discarded the Queen of hearts in Dummy. The King of spades was now led, overtaken with the Ace, and a second round of spades led from the Dummy. South was now definitely "on the spot." He could win this trick or refuse to win it, but in either event the success of the contract was assured.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

North, Dealer.

Neither side vulnerable.



Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

CONSUMPTION AND NURSES.

THE battle among physicians as to the efficacy of vaccination against consumption continues. In America the majority are in opposition, but even they are watching the reports as they appear, willing to reverse themselves when they consider the evidence justifies it.

Dr. J. Heinbeck, of Norway, periodically reports in its favor. He is in charge of a large sanitarium in his own country and a considerable number of young women come to his institution to be trained as nurses. Years ago he became convinced that many of his nurses in training contracted consumption as a result of the exposures of their work and that it was his duty to find a method of prevention.

Other physicians connected with tuberculosis sanitariums have found too many of their nurses tuberculous, and why not? Young women are a shining mark for consumption. The disease, as it appears in adolescent women, is being found hard to bring under control.

Dr. E. K. Geer, of Minnesota, has recently advised that before any young woman is taken on as a nurse in a consumption hospital that her chest be X-rayed and that she be carefully examined for tuberculosis, both active and latent. Dr. Geer would deny training to all except those picked by this test.

In the case of smallpox, typhoid fever, diphtheria, and scarlet fever, hospitals will not permit a nurse to care for a patient suffering from either of these diseases unless she has been immunized by vaccination. To this list Dr. Heinbeck adds tuberculosis.

All nurses are given a Von Pirquet skin test. In his experience nearly one-third of the nurses who are negative to this test develop consumption while in training. Of those who are positive to the test only about one in 40 develops consumption. He has found that if those who are negative to a Von Pirquet are vaccinated with B. C. G. they become positive to the test and thereafter, for the term of training, they are not prone to develop consumption.

This method of protection he has been operating for more than five years and he appears to be satisfied with it. When Calmette proposed his method he limited its use to newly born babies. And that is still the favored field for it. A few years later others proposed that it be used on children below school age. It has had some trial on adults, principally on soldiers drawn from Africa, and, for the first time, in close contact with the complex social life of Europe.

This experience of Dr. Heinbeck's adds to the rather scant experience with tuberculosis vaccine in adults.

TRAINING EYES.

Mrs. M. S. writes: When my oldest daughter was about a year old I noticed that her left eye was crossed, as is mine. When lying awake in her crib, buggy, or high chair she seemed to favor looking at articles to her right, which naturally would cause the left eye to focus in and thereby cause it to cross. Immediately on discovering this I applied a little common sense, together with what I had been told by eye specialists, and did the following:

Turned her crib around, making things on her right hand unattractive and to her left exceptionally attractive, placing bright objects and toys on a table, bright pictures on the wall, bright colored drapes on the window, all to the light, and nothing but the dull blank wall to the right. I changed the position of her chair so that it would always be in the least interesting corner of the room and she would have to look at the left to see me, the window, and the children in the street. I also bandaged the right eye for an hour in the morning and afternoon with a small wad of cotton and some adhesive tape.

I am very happy to say that the desired results were accomplished and required only about eight months training. She is now thirteen years old and her eyes are perfectly straight.

I might add that in some cases an open bed rather than the closely barred crib, where there is a tendency to mixed fusion, is more desirable.

A New Yorker At Large

By MARK BARRON.

NEW YORK—This is just by way of observation, a story without moral appended because there is no desire to become involved in a treatise on economics. I merely pass it along as one of a myriad of tales that make up the fabric that is New York.

It was only a few nights ago when I sat in an obscure restaurant on Sixth avenue talking to a New York business man who was when I first met him (six years ago) head of a firm that could risk a millions dollars without hesitation on any enterprise. Money rolled into his bank accounts in a flood.

"You remember when we first met," he recalled. "I was riding the boom market then like a fellow on a surf board. I wouldn't fool with anything less than a million dollar deal.

True Frog Story.

"At that time I had some dealings with a Kentucky financier, one of those big frogs in a little puddle type. I had made him an offer to come in with me. He not only refused, but offered me a counter proposition.

"He told me that I was riding high in New York then, but such a ski ride must tumble sometime. He asked me if I wouldn't send him $100 a week to invest in the small town where he lived, and $100 was like a penny to me. I couldn't be bothered fooling with such small amounts.

"Well, the end of the story is that my Kentucky friend is still the big frog in his home town, his business enterprises are going great and I would be comparatively prosperous now if I had taken the trouble to send him that $100 a week. Instead, New York finally crumbled under my feet, and here I am with a skinned nose and a bank role that totals $4.28."

Getting By.

There are many other such tales that would convince one that the folk back in the small towns are riding through the troublesome economic months with more gracefulness than the people in metropolitan centers.

In New York many people are actually hungry and suffering, and their only sources of aid are charity organizations or bread lines.

Now, I'll point out why I think the people in rural districts fare better.

A few weeks ago I was visiting a man who owns a huge plantation in South Carolina.

"The depression has done one thing for us out here in the country," he told me. "It's taught us how to live without money. There is an amazing lack of cash around, but you'd be surprised how well we live without it. And I think we are much happier for it. Life is much more serene and lovely when we aren't grasping for more and more money.

"Now we live pleasantly, love our neighbors, have plenty to eat and have a good time."

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

WHITEHEADS are as troublesome and as stubborn as blackheads. Similar in origin to the blackheads the treatment is very similar, too. When circulation is sluggish and the tiny pore openings fail to throw off their excess oil, this oil gathers, and forms a white mass. It is imbedded below the skin's surface, whereas the blackhead is formed when surface oil attracts dust.

Exercise generally to stimulate the circulation may sound a little far fetched, but actually it is one of the most important steps in clearing the skin of whiteheads. Often the whiteheads will completely disappear as a result of simple stimulation induced by exercise as well as the warm, cleansing bath at night and cold morning shower. To help remove the whiteheads a sterilized needle may be used to prick the spot and the spot squeezed out with fingertips covered with linen or tissues. Be sure, however, to touch the spot with an antiseptic, such as peroxide or alcohol, before and after the process and also be sure that needle is sterilized. The same rules for diet and hygienic living apply in the treatment of whiteheads as blackheads.

FORCED FLAG FLYING EASED BY GERMANY

Republican Colors Lowered; Reichstag to Meet at Frederick's Tomb.

Berlin, March 2 (A.P.).—A return to the spirit of imperial days was heralded today by the cabinet's decision to hold the first session of the new Reichstag over the tomb of Frederick the Great, in the Potsdam Garrison Church.

The Prussian commission government also decided it no longer was compulsory to fly the republican colors on public buildings.

The symbolism attached to holding the Reichstag meeting in the historic church at Potsdam recalls the fact that Germany's first Parliament met after the revolution of 1848 in Paul's Church at Frankfort, under the present republican colors.

Among the many measures continuously being taken by the government, one of attracting international attention most is the decision to hold foreign correspondents responsible for reporting "in malicious manner."

Documents Are Seized.

Following a raid last night on the quarters of the Jewish Citizens Central Union, members of that organization issued a statement today that documents seized in the raid had to do with the campaign against anti-Semitism and always were available to the public.

They emphasized that the fundamental principles of their organization preclude any attempt to construe its work as antigovernment, antireligious or pro-Communist.

Auxiliary police, recruited from the ranks of political organizations known to be loyal to the government, are continuing their activities against Communist organizations.

Writer's Home Entered.

Today they entered the home of Lilli Keith, Berlin correspondent of the Moscow newspaper Izvestia, and took her to police headquarters after confiscating some of her papers. She was held for two hours, then released by instruction of the foreign office after the Russian Ambassador had protested.

Maxim Litvinoff, the Russian foreign minister, also filed a protest with the foreign office, leaving no doubt that the Soviet government disapproved the treatment accorded the correspondent.

The Hitler government looks forward with confidence to the Reichstag election which will take place on Sunday, but returns today from an election for the works council in the Berlin municipal electric and gas works showed that Socialist delegates had scored a sweeping victory despite official repression of the Social Democratic party.

Carr and White To Retain Posts

Hull Will Keep Assistant Secretaries for Some Time.

(Associated Press.)

Senator Hull, of Tennessee, the new Secretary of State, last night told newspapermen that Assistant Secretaries Wilbur J. Carr and Francis White would be retained for several months after the new administration comes in.

The Tennessean said Carr would be retained because of his experience and knowledge of international affairs, but that it would not prevent the appointment by President-elect Roosevelt of a man to take his place. He pointed out that White "is a career man."

He indicated that no definite arrangements had been made, however, about Carr and White and said that consideration was being given the appointment of other individuals, including Prof. Raymond Moley, one of Mr. Roosevelt's closest advisers on international affairs.

CHINESE ANNOUNCE LINGYUAN CAPTURE

in the Chinese secondary defense lines at Taipingfang, when Gen. Tung Pu-Ting with one battalion went over to the invaders.

The Japanese columns advanced northward through Yakow on Lingyuan, they reported, and thus attacked from the east and south.

Their advices said the Chinese were making a fresh stand in the hills west of Lingyuan.

It was admitted there was considerable uncertainty concerning the battle of Chihfeng, where communications have been cut since midmorning.

Peiping Unrest Grows.

Prior to the dispatches given out by the Chinese from Gen. Tang and Gen. Sun, the Chinese military intelligence had stated last lines of defense were being strengthened before Chengteh-fu, the capital, between Pingchuan and Sutaokou, each about 35 miles northward of the highways running to Lingyuan and Chihfeng, respectively.

Unrest among foreigners as well as Chinese in Peiping meanwhile grew, following reports from Nanking that the central government feared the Jehol fighting would extend into north China, below the Great Wall.

The Japanese maintained their consistent policy, insisting that they would remain out of China proper unless the Chinese forced them to take action below the wall. The action they feared was not explained.

Invasion Spread Seen.

Nanking, China, March 2 (U.P.).—Spread of the Japanese invasion of Jehol Province across the Great Wall into north China, where thousands of Americans and other foreigners reside, was predicted by the National government of China today.

In an official communique relating the collapse of the Chinese defenses in Jehol, the central government regarded the future with little hope, and said:

"It is inevitable that fighting will spread to north China as a result of the rapid Japanese advance and the dogged Chinese resistance in Jehol."

Confident that this invasion will occur, residents of Peiping and Tientsin were reported digging in for protection against air raids. Foreigners remained within the concessions, guarded by foreign troops.

Military forces from the United States, including Marines and, at Tientsin the Fifteenth Infantry, together with troops from Great Britain and other powers, erected defense barriers.

Chinese Delegates Resign

Dr. Yen and Dr. Koo Urge Firmest Resistance to Japanese Invasion as They Tell Nanking of Leaving League.

DR. W. W. YEN AND DR. WELLINGTON KOO.

Geneva, Switzerland, March 2 (A.P.).—Dr. W. W. Yen, head of the Chinese delegation to the League of Nations; Dr. Wellington Koo and Quo Tai-Chi, his colleagues, submitted their resignations today in a telegram to Nanking.

In their view, they informed the government, the center of the dispute between China and Japan has shifted from Geneva to Jehol. They recommended that the firmest resistance be offered against the invasion of that province.

JEWISH MASSACRE IS SEEN IN GERMANY

600,000 Are Living in Fear, With Action Due Soon, Paper Declares.

London (Friday), March 3 (A.P.).—The London Daily Herald said today that plans are complete for an anti-Jewish program in Germany on a scale as terrible as any instance of Jewish persecution in 2000 years. The paper ascribed its information to a "highest source," otherwise unindicated.

The whole Jewish population of Germany, totaling 600,000, is living under the shadow of a campaign of murder which may be initiated within a few hours and can not at the most be postponed more than a few days, the Herald said.

Tens of thousands of Jews, the newspaper continued, have been secretly indicted as Communists and Marxists and already are marked as victims, and the list is growing hourly.

The Herald declared that complete evidence of the intentions of the German National Socialists has reached London and has been considered in the highest quarters. Intervention is imminent, according to the newspaper, but the form it is to take is a matter of extreme delicacy. In the Herald's opinion, only the massed pressure of world opinion can avert catastrophe.

An official spokesman for Chancellor Adolf Hitler's National Socialist government in Germany said earlier this week that rumors of an impending massacre were "completely groundless."

Chemistry Speech Made by Dr. Howe

Cosmopolitan Club Hears Editor Tell About Discoveries.

Glass wall paper, synthetic leather and rubber, more durable automobile finishes of synthetic resins, a new alloy of metals lighter and stronger than aluminum and various other chemical accomplishments were described in a talk by Dr. Harrison E. Howe, editor of the Chemical Journal of the United States, before the Cosmopolitan Club at the Carlton Hotel yesterday. Dr. Howe was introduced by Dr. Edwin H. Silver, of the forum committee, an old friend.

Dr. Howe emphasized the value of the research chemist to the big manufacturer and showed how by-products often prove of immense value. He exhibited a substitute for cellophane and a flexible wallboard with a wood panel effect. The spun-glass wall paper is a German product.

Col. William H. McCarty, vice president, assembled the members and after getting their consent to no lunch, led the party into the next room, where a buffet luncheon was served.

SNELL PLEDGES AID FOR COMMON GOOD

G. O. P. Leader Promises to Cooperate to Assist U. S. Recovery.

(Associated Press.)

Republican cooperation with the Democratic administration's attempts to work for "the common good" when it takes office in two days was pledged last night by Representative Snell, of New York, G. O. P. leader in the House.

"The Republicans in the House," said his statement, "greet the new President not as a partisan opponent but as the head of our common Government, taking office under circumstances of tremendous difficulty."

But the statement did not go so far as to promise support of the new President's program; nor did it even hint at the concerted Republican drive, already begun at the recent House conference, to obtain control of the Congress that will be elected next year.

Snell, being backed by many Republicans for actual leadership of his party, said:

"We share the universal regret at the sudden death of Senator Walsh. His loss, that of a highly-trusted adviser, adds another complication, which we all regret, to the situation which President Roosevelt faces. For death to invade the ranks of his Cabinet at this time is a most distressing blow of fate.

"The new administration may be assured that in all its efforts to restore the confidence of the American people in themselves it will have the loyal support of the Republicans of the House. This is no time for partisan sniping or for party war. Rather let us all unite in a common purpose to end the economic evils which we now face.

"While the Republican members of the House of Representatives are loyal and devoted Republicans they are, above all else, loyal and devoted citizens of the United States, and it is as such that they face the grave days which are to come, and, as such, that they will work with the incoming President of the United States for the common good."

Steel-Concrete Buildings Are Swayed in Manila

Manila, P. I. (Friday), March 3 (U.P.).—An earthquake was felt here at 10:19 a. m. (6:19 p. m., Thursday, P. S. T.) today. Steel reinforced concrete buildings swayed perceptibly.

The shock was felt at Baguio, on the northern tip of Luzon Island. No damage was reported there. It was believed there was no damage in the vicinity of Manila.

Washingtonian Finds Bird That Whistles Like Boys

Is Among Rare Zoological Specimens Received by Smithsonian From Africa; Breed Frequents Temperate Climate of Mountain Sections.

A bird that whistles like a boy is among the rare zoological specimens just received by the Smithsonian Institution from southwest Africa where it maintained an astronomical observing station on a high mountain top for three years.

This bird, a variety of shrike, was collected by Mrs. L. O. Sordahl, wife of the former director of the station, who describes it as follows:

"They fly in pairs. When resting in the bushes, first one calls and then the other answers. Their call is a whistle of many notes. The whistle is exactly like a human being's whistle and if one did not see the bird one would think it was a human being."

Many birds migrate north and south with the varying seasons, but Mrs. Sordahl found one that apparently migrates up and down. During the four winter months, the hot season in South Africa, they are found only on top of the mountain where they enjoy a comparatively cool climate. When the cold season approaches many of them retire down the mountainside and into the foothills where they will be comfortable. This bird, one of the finches, frequents the aloe trees on the mountainside in flocks.

Among the birds collected by Mrs. Sordahl was a starling with a song like that of the northern meadow lark, which had bright orange eyes. Another, a member of the bulbul family, had bright red eyes and a rim around each eye like a circle of orange beads. She also collected specimens of a northern thrush whose song varies strikingly according to where the birds may be.

When hopping along on the ground they have only a monotonous call but once in flight, or sitting on posts or wires, they have a lovely musical song which is long and warbling, according to Mrs. Sordahl's description, and has a whole scale of notes.

Although Mrs. Sordahl was able to collect 27 varieties of birds on Mount Brukkaros and in the nearby countryside, seven of which were new to the collections of the United States National Museum and two of which were entirely new to science. They were creatures of a desert environment in which there is a temporary freshness of vegetation during the summer rains, this being the breeding season of the small birds.

ADM. J. A. RODGERS DEAD IN MARYLAND

Retired Officer Was Named to Naval Academy in 1863 by Lincoln.

Havre de Grace, Md., March 2 (A.P.).—Rear Admiral John Augustus Rodgers, U. S. N., retired, died tonight at his home at Sion Hill, near here, following an illness of three months. He was 84 years old.

Admiral Rodgers, who had been in good health since his retirement in 1910, was taken ill with a cold while attending the unveiling of the Wright Memorial at Kitty Hawk, N. C., last November.

He was born in July, 1848, in the room in which he died, of a long line of distinguished men in the Navy of the United States and was appointed to the United States Naval Academy in 1863 by President Lincoln.

He saw service as a midshipman during the Civil War and later served at European, Asiatic and home posts. During the Spanish-American War he was advanced to rear admiral for eminent and commendable conduct in battle.

Admiral Rodgers was chairman of the naval board which in 1904 investigated and adopted wireless telegraphy for the Navy. Since his retirement he was recalled to service, being commandant of the naval unit at Harvard and M. I. T. during the World War.

One son, John Rodgers, was killed in an airplane accident in Philadelphia after he had tried in 1925 to fly from San Francisco to Honolulu and was lost adrift several days on his plane.

Another son, Robert P. Rodgers, was the designer of the memorial at Kitty Hawk. His widow also survives.

300 ARE KNOWN DEAD IN JAPANESE QUAKE

and Hakodate were damaged. Electric lights in Yokohama failed but there was little damage there.

Joseph Clark Grew, American Ambassador, was visiting at Miyanoshita, in the mountains north of Tokyo, with his family. That place reported only a slight quake.

The seismograph in Yamanashi Prefecture was destroyed.

Kamaishi felt the most severe quake since 1895, when the entire town was destroyed.

Many boats anchored at Port Miyako were washed away by the tidal wave. A section 130 meters in length was broken from the Miyako-Yamada Bridge. At the ports of Fukishima, Miyagi and Iwate, scores of fishing boats were lost.

The town of Kamaishi was believed to have suffered the greatest damage. A tidal wave swept 1,000 of the flimsy Japanese paper houses away. Three thousand more homes were destroyed by fire that followed the quake, the home department officially announced. Business houses, including a branch of the Industrial Bank and two theaters, were destroyed.

Tokyo, rebuilt following the great earthquake of 1923, when 142,807 persons perished and 702,495 buildings were destroyed, withstood today's severe quake without heavy damage.

The modern industrial cities of Kobe and Osaka likewise escaped severe harm.

Warning

Is Issued to Taxi Drivers Against Overcharging of Visitors.

Taxicab operators were warned yesterday by the Public Utilities Commission that they will be prosecuted for any attempts to overcharge visitors during the inaugural ceremonies. In a formal statement the commission pointed out that each cab should prominently display the zone system he uses or be plainly marked if he is operating with a meter.

"Strangers in the city using zone cabs should locate their travel on these maps for their protection," the commission stated. "They should also inquire as to the charge to their destination before entering the cab.

"In case of any dispute as to fare, call a policeman and he will determine the proper rate.

"The commission expects all taxicab owners and operators to use every effort to aid and protect inaugural visitors and to extend them every courtesy. Efforts to defraud visitors will be prosecuted."

Oxford Union Hold To Pacifist Views

Undergraduates Refuse to Cancel Motion Against Fighting for King.

Oxford, England, March 2 (A.P.).—In an atmosphere tainted by stench bombs and tumultuous with the contemptuous snorts of undergraduates, the Oxford Union tonight emphatically reaffirmed its position of three weeks ago and rejected by 750 to 138 a motion to expunge from the records its previous motion:

"That this house will in no circumstances fight for its king and country."

Police attempted vainly to maintain some semblance of order in the packed house as orators argued the motion, which drew fire from the London press and from members of the House of Commons when it was adopted two weeks ago, 275 to 153.

Closing Rise in Stocks Cuts Losses of Earlier Trading

Rumors of U. S. Bank Aid Spurs Prices; Sales up to 1,003,966 Shares.

New York, March 2 (A.P.).—The cumulative wave of banking troubles bore down on most financial markets today, though stocks recovered smartly around closing time on rumors that national action might be taken toward limited guarantees for deposits.

The effect of these unconfirmed reports, which gained wide circulation through the financial district, was to snap shares out of a dull 1-to-4 point slump. In some cases losses were completely recovered, in others, declines were sharply reduced, though the net result was an average loss of nearly a point. Sales totaled 1,003,966 shares.

Rising money rates signalled the ready demands being placed on New York banks by the increasing number of "bank holidays" or withdrawal restrictions, and this situation prompted an increase of 1 per cent in the New York Federal Reserve Bank's rediscount rate of 3½ per cent. Call money renewed at 2½ per cent, the highest since last July, while off the stock exchange 3 per cent was quoted.

Brokers reported some selling from the interior, such sales were naturally associated with the banking situation, since many security holders found themselves in need of quick cash. Offerings were moderate but supporting orders were thinly placed and a number of pivotal shares floundered heavily at times. However, the late recovery cancelled 3-point losses for American Telephone and Allied Chemical, erased a 2 point loss for American Can and converted Union Pacific's 2½ drop into a net gain of ¾. Delaware & Hudson cut in two a 4-point break. Many rails were off fractions on the day.

Utilities, on the average, halved extreme losses. Consolidated Gas and Public Service of New Jersey closed down 1 and 2 points, respectively; numerous air pockets existed in utility preferreds. In industrials, small net declines ruled for Westinghouse, General Electric, National Biscuit, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Chrysler and Union Carbide. International Business Machines jumped 2 on its 1932 earnings, which showed $9.11 for the common against $10.55 in 1931. Loew's sagged in response to the dividend reduction to 25 cents from 75 cents and Johns-Manville was affected by omission of the preferred payment. Corn products, reporting earnings of $2.77 a common share for last year compared with $3.54 in 1931, closed unchanged.

Unchanged	130	161

Stocks.

Losses as a result of cumulative banking difficulties were trimmed by a rally in final trading. Rumors that the Federal Government plans aid in protecting depositors caused the market to firm. The net loss was ninetenths of a point. Sales totaled 1,003,966 shares.

Bonds.

Federal loans continued to lead the market in losses. Institutional selling of gilt-edge issues was blamed for the slump. Losses averaged ninetenths of a point. Trading volume increased to $15,242,000.

Curb.

Earlier trading cut into prices, but a moderate rally was recorded near the close. Some sharp losses were made. The turnover was boosted to 160,000 shares.

Wheat.

Bullish crop reports and reduced estimates of wheat in the hands of growers failed to prevent price slump. Corn and oats joined the decline. May wheat sold at 46⅞ to 47 cents.

Cotton.

Prices firmed in the face of uncertainties. A lower opening was followed by rallies. May sold at 6.06, with the general market 2 points down to 1 point higher. Liverpool reported a quiet market with small offerings taken by trade buying.

Dried Fruits Steady.

New York, March 2 (A.P.).—Dried fruit steady, unchanged.

U. S. TREASURY RECEIPTS.

(Associated Press.)

Treasury receipts for February 28 were $3,510,373.97; expenditures, $14,682,816.40; balance, $221,480,376. Customs duties for the month were $16,442,256.28.

The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability is 40.30 per cent compared with 38.70 last week.

Rate of discount, 2 per cent.

CURB PRICES RALLY AFTER EARLY LOSS

New York, March 2 (A.P.).—The tide again ran against prices on the curb today, but the market enjoyed a moderate comeback at the close. Sales totaled 160,000 shares compared with 130,000 yesterday.

Some rather sharp losses occurred in the "thin market" issues, but this trend was offset by a generally better action in the market leaders.

On very light selling New York Telephone dropped 2 points, Columbia Gas & Electric preferred 1, Empire District Electric preferred 4, Pacific Light preferred 2 and Southern California Edison preferred 3.

Industrial specialties brightened somewhat in the late trading on demand from the shorts. Novadel Agene was lifted more than 2 points, Chesebrough Manufacturing 1, Pan-American Airways 1, and Montgomery Ward 1. A. O. Smith firmed fractionally on news that the company had arranged for the refinancing of a note issue maturing in May.

Oils continued heavy on selling which traders attributed to recent unfavorable price and output developments. Standard of Indiana had a considerable turnover and yielded fractionally. The gold mining stocks were steadier, with Lake Shore showing the best gain.

England's Leading Bankers Divided on Money Inflation

London, March 2 (A.P.).—Monetary inflation as a panacea for economic ills finds here a variety of receptions.

Particularly clearly has this been brought out in the forum of financial opinion formed by reports to shareholders from the chairmen of the country's "big five" joint stock banks.

There is general agreement, in this cross section of bankers' views, that a rise in wholesale prices of primary commodities is desirable, but a dissimilarity in opinion as to how this may be accomplished.

Management of Money.

Standing alone among them as an ardent inflationist is Reginald McKenna, chairman of the Midland Bank and chancellor of the exchequer in 1915-16.

"Controlled inflation," he said, "from being a remedy of fools or knaves, has become widely regarded as the best available solution of our troubles * * *

"It is, I believe, possible to achieve a rise in the internal price level by monetary management, and I am unshaken in this opinion by the frequent charge that 'reflation' has already been tried and found wanting both in Great Britain and the United States.

Inflation Still Untried.

"If we examine the course of affairs in these two countries, we shall find that deliberate monetary management specifically designed to raise the price level has not been tested in either."

So far as Britain is concerned, the two conditions he named as essential for success of an expansive policy are that it must be pursued wholeheartedly and, at least for the time being, all thoughts of returning to gold should be set aside.

Rupert E. Beckett, chairman of Westminster Bank, sees "the supreme problem" as the restoration of confidence.

"Until quite recently," he said, "the view was widely held that internal economic recovery could be stimulated by cheap money and credit expansion.

Unemployment Is Cited.

"The history of the last twelve months both in the United States and in this country has done much to discredit this theory * * * the lack of success attending that policy is illustrated by the large increase in American unemployment and by the rapid decline in American industrial production.

"The United States is a country which approaches so nearly to economic self-sufficiency that it provides the most favorable territory for the try-out of the inflationary experiment, and in so far as it has been tried out it has failed.

"I am not attempting to argue that if a deflationary policy had been pursued the present state of affairs, both here and in the United States, might not have been even more unhappy than it is now * * * (But) credit expansion is of active usefulness only when the manufacturing and trading communities of the world have sufficient confidence to make plans ahead and to borrow money to finance them."

Employer And Employed.

F. C. Goodenough, chairman of Barclay's bank, looks for recovery to come from the employer and employed, especially in the smaller industries, "who, between them, can do more toward bringing about a real and lasting recovery than can be achieved as the result of measures in the direction of the introduction of monetary changes based upon theory and not upon all that constitutes the human and personal element."

Inflation, he says, "would tend to raise internal prices and costs of production and therefore lessen our ability to sell our goods abroad, eventually bringing about further exchange depreciation."

J. W. B. Pease, chairman of Lloyds Bank, finds in the increase of bank deposits by the public a proof that "the mere existence of plentiful money supplies is not in itself sufficient to have any marked effect on prices."

Confidence Is Prerequisite.

A revival of hope and confidence is the prerequisite of real trade recovery, in the opinion of Sir Harry Goschen, chairman of the National Provincial Bank.

"Such a revival," he said, "would soon produce that rise in wholesale prices that is essential to the solvency of debtors and debtor countries, and the release of hoarded money from its hiding places would show that there is more than enough money available to finance any trade that is likely."

He charges the American people, Congress and the nations of Europe with "excessive nationalism," which must be cured or renounced.

(Associated Press.)

London—Trading was quiet on the stock exchange with most interest centered around the foreign sections. Japanese bonds advanced smartly owing to covering operations and Chinese and German issues were also better. Giltedged securities, gold mining shares and transatlantic issues lost a portion of their early gains and the market closed irregular.

Paris—Prices were irregular on the bourse, especially international issues, firmness in rentes supported the better tone of the French stocks. The closing was irregular.

Berlin—The bourse was firm throughout the session on expectations of a quieting down of inner-political conditions.

FEDERALS CONTINUE TO LEAD BOND DROP

Institutional Selling Blamed in Decline; Sales Up to $15,242,000.

New York, March 2 (A.P.).—United States Government securities led a rather sharp decline of "gilt-edge" issues in the bond market today as institutional selling for further liquidity found little resistance.

Although there were some moderate rallies in late trading, most of the depressed groups closed around their lows of the day. The volume of transactions jumped to $15,242,000, par value, of which the Federal section accounted for more than $5,600,000. The average for 60 domestic corporate loans dropped nine-tenths of a point.

Speculative liens, for a change, held fairly steady. Most of them confined their losses to around a point or less, and some even retained small gains. The foreign market was rather quiet, with various obligations of Japan, Germany and Brazil moving up 1 to 2 points. British 5½s lost 2 points, the largest day's decline in this issue in some time.

In the Government section, the principal casualties were among the Treasurys, although the heaviest turnover was in Liberty 3½s and fourth 4¼s. The latter were off eleven thirty-seconds and the former fifteen thirty-seconds of a point. Six Treasury bonds recorded declines ranging from 1 to 1 28-32 points.

The most active and heavier rails included issues of Alleghany Corporation, Santa Fe, Atlantic Coast Line, Baltimore & Ohio, Canadian Northern, Chesapeake & Ohio, Chicago & Western Indiana, Great Northern, Hudson & Manhattan, New York Central, New Haven, Norfolk & Western, Northern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Pere Marquette, Southern Pacific and Union Pacific.

Buying of Silver Sends Price One Cent Higher

New York, March 2 (A.P.).—Active speculative buying of silver futures on the National Metal Exchange sent prices from ¾ cent to 1 cent an ounce higher in the late trading today.

Traders said the spurt was due to technical market conditions and to hopes of legislation that might benefit the metal.

WHEAT VALUES DROP ON FINANCE OUTLOOK

Bullish Crop Reports Fail to Affect Prices; Corn and Oats Down.

Chicago, March 2 (A.P.).—Despite extremely bullish crop reports and notwithstanding sharply reduced estimates of wheat in the hands of growers, grain prices went down hill today.

Bank tie-ups and other adverse financial developments had a decidedly unsettling effect on cereals. An average of unofficial estimates today indicated about 39,000,000 bushels less wheat held by farmers in this country than at this time last year, and suggested a 1933 domestic winter wheat crop of 376,000,000 to 380,000,000 bushels compared with 462,000,000 harvested last year and 787,000,000 in 1931.

Wheat closed nervous, ½ to ¾ under yesterday's finish; corn, also ½ to ¾ down; oats, ¼ to ½ off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10 cents.

Winter Wheat Crop.

Only a slight transient advance in prices was associated with reports indicating that the coming yield of domestic winter wheat would be sensationally small. In some quarters it was suggested the crop reports had been discounted in advance, and that they were about in line with what was to have been expected. Furthermore, price setbacks had served to call attention again to assertions that influences foreign to wheat were the dominating market factor.

Corn and oats declined with wheat. Rotterdam was reported to have purchased some United States corn, but at prices below replacement cost. Oats established a new all-time low record for the Chicago market, 15¾ cents, May delivery.

New York, March 2 (A.P.).—The Chrysler Corporation today omitted the quarterly dividend of 25 cents on the capital stock due at this time.

The company reported for 1932 net loss of $11,284,282 after all charges compared with net profit of $1,488,938 in 1931.

The International Printing Ink Corporation today announced that its net loss of $181,479 for 1932 compared with a loss of $333,213 in 1931. A recent Associated Press dispatch from Cincinnati placed the 1931 loss at $33,213. The company's current assets on December 31 last were $6,212,186 and current liabilities, $632,828.

Corn Products Refining Co. today reported 1932 net income of $8,781,638, equal to $2.77 a common share, against $10,709,778, or $3.84 a common share in 1931. Directors of Johns-Manville Corporation have voted to omit the quarterly dividend of $1.75, due to be paid on the 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock April 1.

Directors of Loew's, Inc., ordered a dividend on the common stock of 25 cents, as reduced from the 75 cents paid quarterly since 1929. In addition, extras of $1 were ordered in 1930 and 1931. The Borden Co. and subsidiaries report net income for 1932 of $7,524,489, equivalent to $1.71 a share on the capital stock. Net income in the previous year was $16,068,828, or $3.66 a share.

Sales for the year totaled $212,348,871 compared with $284,586,877, the decrease being attributed by the company to the "uncontrollable general conditions prevailing throughout the year and the further drastic liquidation of dairy product values with accompanying market chaos."

ELMAN IS SYMPHONY SOLOIST AT CONCERT

Violinist's Masterly Playing Wins Much Applause From Audience.

Mischa Elman, poet of the violin, was the solo artist at the National Symphony Orchestra concert in Constitution Hall yesterday afternoon. Dr. Hans Kindler directed.

Mr. Elman was in fine form and won much applause from the audience by his masterly playing of Brahms' "Concerto in D Major," a test always for any violinist. In accompanying the soloist, the National Symphony, under Dr. Kindler's baton, proved anew its capacity for classic music as well as the more popular forms of orchestral entertainment.

His skill in harmonics, his artistry and command of his difficult instrument and expertness in double stopping, won him much acclaim and he gave a vivid interpretation of the three movements in the concerto, particularly in the second or adagio movement.

The other portion of the program, "The Dream Pantomime," from "Hansel and Gretel," by Humperdinck; overture, "Russian and Lummilla," by Glinka, and Saint-Saens' "Danse Bacchanale," from "Samson and Delilah," were adequately presented by the orchestra.

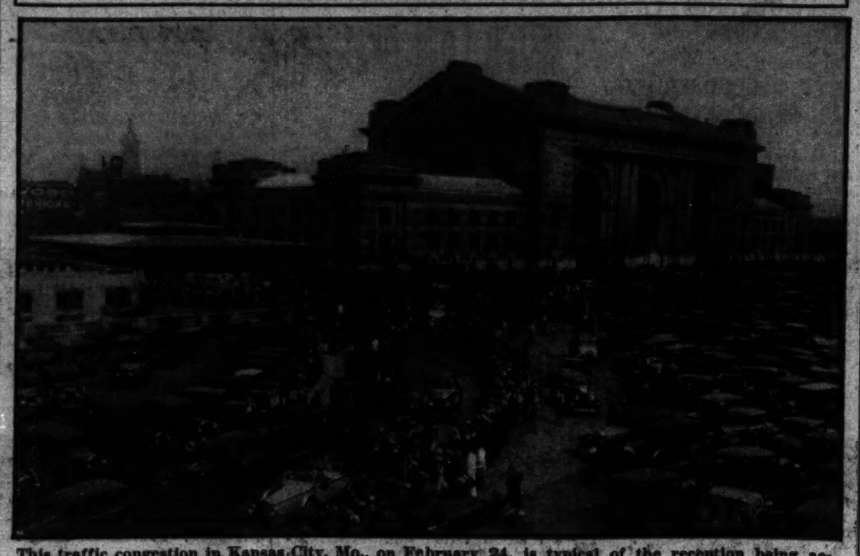
WHEN THE "42D STREET SPECIAL" PULLS IN



This traffic congestion in Kansas City, Mo., on February 24, is typical of the reception being accorded the Warner Brothers' "Forty-Second Street Special" at every stop in its transcontinental journey bearing a group of the screen's foremost stars to take part in President Franklin Delano Roosevelt's inaugural parade in the National Capital on March 4. The "Special" arrives in Washington tomorrow morning in time to transfer its cargo of beauties to the "Better Times Float," Section 4, of the big procession.

HOLLYWOOD STARS ARRIVE TOMORROW

Will Be Met by Delegation of Washingtonians; to Be in Parade.

Warner Bros.' "42d Street Special" will arrive in Washington at 9:15 a. m. tomorrow to participate in the inaugural parade. The train will pull in on a spur at Fourteenth and Water streets southwest, opposite the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

A delegation of Washingtonians, headed by Capt. Howard T. Clark, Assistant Engineer Commissioner, representing the Board of Commissioners, will welcome the train. Other members of the group will include Norman Landreau, Department Commander of the American Legion; Col. John Thomas Taylor, chairman legislative committee of the legion, and Capt. Watson D. Miller, chairman of the national rehabilitation committee.

The stars on the train will include Bette Davis, Joe E. Brown, Tom Mix, Glenda Farrell, Claire Dodd, Lyle Talbot, Preston Foster, Laura LaPlante, Leo Carillo and Eleanor Holm.

They will be introduced over special loud speakers at the train. Following the broadcast they will be taken to the Warner Bros.' offices here and later participate in the inaugural parade.

FARM FINANCE OPERATIONS ARE MERGED BY ROOSEVELT

Washington; Costigan, of Colorado, and Harrison, of Mississippi.

The conference lasted until 12:40 a. m., and the presence of Jesse Jones, leading Democratic member of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, was taken as indication that the banking situation had been the principal subject of discussion. Shortly before 1 o'clock, Senators Robinson, Byrnes and Pittman made this statement:

"All we can say is that we had a talk with the governor and discussed various matters including the banking situation. There is no announcement to make at this time as to policies but it is expected that some definite statement will be made in the near future."

Phillips Undersecretary.

Senator Hull, who was present most of the evening, said that Mr. Roosevelt has decided on William Phillips, of Massachusetts, as Undersecretary of State, and Prof. Raymond Moley and Wilbur J. Carr as assistant secretaries. Francis White, at present assistant secretary in charge of Latin affairs, is expected to be sent to Spain or Chile as ambassador. Mr. Carr is the only one of the present staff to be held over.

Several members of his Cabinet had already arrived here and were waiting to see him when he arrived at the Hotel Mayflower last night. During the day he had been in conversation over the telephone with leaders of Congress regarding the convocation of the special session of the new Congress. The new Secretary of the Treasury, William H. Woodin, had remained over in New York to finish some final personal details of his businesses, but the President-elect lost no time in getting in touch with him regarding the developments in the last hours of yesterday in financial circles.

The problems of foreign policy which had heretofore loomed menacingly in the future have been to a very considerable extent eclipsed by the banking reports from States all over the country. "Bank holidays" are in force in 28 States, and the chief concern of the new Executive will be to check this sentiment of defeatism.

There was some talk last night of a possible conference between the President-elect and President Hoover, especially in view of the implications of the banking situation. Gov. Roosevelt, however, has been watching this situation slowly develop, but he intends to maintain his habitual policy and initiate his own program when he is in the White House. For the same reason, the conversations that were begun last night in the Mayflower Hotel by the President-elect and his senatorial advisers revolved about the date of the special session.

Exchange Closing Reports.

Rumors were current yesterday in financial circles that the Stock Exchange might close today or that a stock exchange holiday of three days beginning Monday might be necessary. Senator-elect William G. McAdoo has been urging this move as a means of allaying the general financial uneasiness. In addition to this consideration, it is believed dangerous in some quarters to permit the exchange to remain open for the operations of several foreign accounts who might readily precipitate an unreasonable dumping of American stocks at this juncture.

In response to several anxious queries, it was learned that the earmarking of large quantities of gold for foreign account in the last few days is no unusual or emergency measure. This was done in the course of normal business transactions from one country to the other and has no relation with the course of the present situation.

Alternatives Offered.

At the present time legislation offers two possibilities of dealing with the financial crisis. They are the Glass banking bill, which was stillborn in the Senate after the Long filibuster, and the Steagall bill in the House to guarantee bank deposits. Yesterday afternoon Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, held a lengthy conference with Senator Carter Glass, and last night at the Democratic "bedside conference" the results of this conversation were discussed.

The Steagall bill, which is still in the House, offers another possibility of relieving the tenseness in banking circles. Following the conversations last night, time was devoted to the exploration of the possibilities of immediate action on either or both of these two legislative measures. The President-elect himself has not yet indicated his preference for the method of settling the present acute situation. Today he will confer with Senator Glass, and after that discussion he will probably be able to draw his course of action.

West Virginia Corps To Be in Parade Line

Capt. Walker H. Colston, commander of Rea Chapter, No. 5, Disabled American Veterans, announced last night that all members desiring to participate in the inaugural parade should gather at Second and D streets southeast, two blocks southeast of the House Office Building, at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow.

He also announced that the Parkersburg, W. Va., American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, numbering 45 men, will participate in the parade. The organization holds the State championship and placed fifth in the American Legion national championships.

Al Smith Will March As Sachem of Tammany

New York, March 2 (A.P.).—Alfred E. Smith will march with Tammany in the inaugural parade at Washington Saturday.

Clad in the nile green and gold regalia of a Tammany sachem, he will step with six other sachems. All doubt as to the part Smith would take in the parade was removed yesterday when he telephoned the secretary of the Tammany Society and said: "I'll march with the other sachems where I belong."

Stimson Will Remain Next Week to Aid Hull

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Stimson will remain in Washington until the end of next week to render any assistance Senator Cordell Hull, the incoming head of the department, may desire.

Secretary and Mrs. Stimson are planning a long vacation before they resume their residence in New York, and will motor to Charleston, S. C., and other Southern points. He may also visit the Rocky Mountain country before resuming his law practice.

ABOUT THE SHOW SHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

PROBABLY the most valuable service that can be performed this morning will be to devote the early footages of today's column to an urgent suggestion that before launching any uncharted expeditions to the citadels of celluloid entertainment, careful heed be paid the detailed information contained in today's tabulation of the Film Time Tables, appearing elsewhere on this page. They embody numerous and unexpected innovations, experiments and surprises.

For example—to cite but one, as a starter—the Palace begins its day's goings-on at 10:30 a. m., and does not begin its final showing of the feature, Mae West in "She Done Him Wrong," until 12:50 a. m., next day, which is by way of being ten minutes to one Saturday morning, E. S. T. Approximately the same thing is being done by all of the downtown first-run houses, although the Palace rather captures the biscuit for lateness of the final feature. The runners-up are the Earle and Loew's Fox, with 12:30 a. m. as their final starting hour. The Metropolitan is not far away with 12:15 a. m.

In point of getting going in the early morning, RKO-Keith's leads the pack with its first feature at 9:15 a. m. It will be found, I think, that 10:30 a. m. is the next earliest, all of the Loew houses having adopted this hour, with 11 and 11:35 prevailing at the Earle and Metropolitan, respectively.

At the Rialto, instead of extending their regular daily schedule by adding an extra projection of Lee Tracy in "Private Jones," the special midnight performance tonight will be in the nature of a public preview of "Rome Express," a foreign-made picture of exceptional merit, which will begin its scheduled week's engagement tomorrow, with Esther Ralston and Conrad Veidt heading a cast of uncommonly fine selection.

If you plan to be promenading Ninth street in the vicinity of the "witching hour" tonight, there will be midnight performances at both the Gayety and Central Theaters also available.

In case it is Amos 'n' Andy in whom you are particularly interested, at Loew's Fox, it will be of interest that they, in the persons of Freeman Gosden and Charles Correl, will appear in person on the stage today at 12:37, 2:56, 5:15, 7:34, 9:53 and 11:36 p. m. Well, I understand the boys asked for work when they came here!

Daniel Frohman, dean of the American theater, returned to Washington last night, apparently happy in the realization that he is becoming something of a commuter between here and New York.

"Seems I make a trip here every month, now," beamed Uncle Dan, as he is affectionately called by all members of the profession. "I was here some time last month for a lecture at Constitution Hall. Otis Skinner introduced me to the gathering and it was at that time that we decided upon our Inauguration Benefit scheduled for the Belasco Theater this Sunday night."

This Actors' Fund Benefit, arranged in every detail by the indefatigable Mr. Frohman, bids fair to be a notable theatrical event, without regard to the worthiness of the cause for which it was conceived. It will be participated in by a long list of famous stage and screen personalities, augmented by almost the entire roster of celebrities appearing on local stages during the forthcoming week.

The bright particular star of the occasion will be Noel Coward, a brilliant young man in great demand. Mr. Coward will appear in a skit of his own writing, with Beatrice Lillie. His appearance here on this occasion will be especially welcome, since his "Design for Living" has already been seen locally and the Fox picturization of his "Cavalcade" is about to be—at the National Theater, beginning Monday night, March 13, to be precise about it.

A special car bearing a load of Broadway's most distinguished "names," among them, in addition to Eady Poel and Mr. Coward, William Faversham, Cecilia Loftus, Fannie Hurst, Robert Emmett Keane, Montague Love, Fannie Ward and numerous others, will arrive at Union Station late Sunday afternoon.

Thirty-six hours earlier the "42d Street Special," concerning which detailed information will be found in other columns of today's Post, will have arrived in the Capital, bearing ten stars from Hollywood and a dozen of the film colony's most beautiful show girls, all of whom likewise will contribute to the glamor and glory of Uncle Daniel's swell show at the Belasco.

The overtures to be heard in the only two picture houses supporting orchestras will do with a bit of listening this gala week-end and ensuing seven days, too.

At Loew's Fox, Phil Lampkin has arranged an overture which he has dedicated to the new President and Vice President and dubbed, "A Democratic Fantasy." It is a specially arranged medley of "Happy Days Are Here Again"—a tune you may have heard stealing vagrantly through your loudspeaker now and again as the campaign progressed—"Blue Skies"—and won't it be nice if they have some tomorrow!—"The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You" and "Row, Row, Row With Roosevelt."

And at the Earle, for the first time in any theater, the orchestra, under the conductorship of the veteran, Freddie Clark, will play "The Franklin D. Roosevelt March," dedicated to the President of the United States to be, come Saturday, by its composer, William Hartman Woodin, Secretary of the Treasury-designate.

"The Franklin D. Roosevelt March" will be played as a timely overture selection and also as accompaniment of "The Parade of the Presidents," a specially compiled film presentation of the Presidential inaugurations from the time of George Washington, the first President, to Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the thirty-second.

And the smart eateries, where floor shows are presented as an added condiment, have not been unmindful of the unusual circumstances surrounding the week-end and the desirability of stepping out with extraordinary entertainment.

Senor Peter Borras, panjandrum of the Madrillon, has planned to step up the pulse with "perilous adagio rhythms, wailing blues, tricky syncopation and the caressing melodies of Herb Gordon's dance numbers." Midnight and dinner floor shows feature Doreane & Douglas, adagio artists; Elaine Manzi, a tiny chunk of bouncing India rubber; Sue Chrysler, songstress, and Ted Holt, crooner.

Now, all you have to do is try and get in these charming places!

There is one screen actor who seems to be content only with roles that span a lifetime. Probably if some one should ask him to play a part that was involved in events that lasted no longer than a day or two, he wouldn't know what it was all about or how to go about it.

That, you are no doubt saying to yourself, would be Richard Dix. Quite right.

In "Cimarron," Dix appeared as Yancy Cravat, whose life Miss Ferber traced from young manhood to old age; in "The Conquerors" he again picked up a character in early youth and stuck with it to old age and senility. Now, in "The Great Jasper," opening at RKO-Keith's at 9:15 this morning—practically the middle of the night—blessed if he doesn't go and do the same thing once more! Jasper lives a long life, which he measures not in years but in love affairs, and survives long enough to see a flock of his sons in bitter rivalry over the same girl, or something.

That ought to prove Dix a bit of an actor, for, if you stop to think about it, here is one screen star whom the breath of scandal has never touched. So when he goes gay in the film, he must be play-acting.

Speaking of roles, Alison Skipworth—"Skippy" to her friends—remembered for some gorgeous scenes with Mae West in "Night After Night," can not for the life of her tell you the exact number of plays she has been in, because she never keeps any record of programs, scrap books or press clippings. "Live in the present, not in the past," says she. Yeah, but suppose they stop giving you presents!

All right, Hagerstown, let's see your snowstorm!

4 CAPITAL SCHOOL FIVES WIN IN W. & L. TOURNEY

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

I AM taken to task by Mr. Henry P. Edwards, of the American League service bureau, for a recent notation to the effect that with the passing of John Quinn as owner of the Red Sox, Clark Griffith remains the only club owner in the league who founded his fortune in baseball.

It seems, according to Mr. Edwards, who dispenses all league information to the newspapers as he gets it officially from the inner sanctums of Will Harridge's office, that this department overlooked Connie Mack, who is a half-owner of the Athletics.

Apparently I am guilty as charged by Mr. Edwards, but I am indebted to him for clearing up a situation that has long been a moot question among baseball men. It was known that Connie Mack was a stockholder in the Athletics, but just how far his control extended was never announced. But if Mr. Edwards says he is half-owner, then he is doubtless a half-owner. And maybe, after all, I can console myself with the thought that Mr. Mack, being only half-owner, I was only half-wrong.

Bradley Once Cornell Flyhawk.

Mr. Edwards, who operates from big league baseball headquarters in the Strauss Building, Chicago, and whose duty it is to scan closely what is written about the American League in particular, enlightens me further on the subject of the men in control of the American League clubs.

I had made point of the fact that the big league clubs of this age were controlled in many cases by men who had never fingered a baseball, who nosed into the game by the power of their brewery millions, their railroad fortunes, real estate, chewing gum, oil and airplane wealth, as contrasted with the ownership of a generation ago which was usually comprised of players who graduated from the ranks.

"It also might be of interest to know," says Mr. Edwards, after reminding me of Connie Mack's status, "that Alva Bradley, president of the Cleveland Indians, played in the outfield for the Cornell Varsity 25 years ago and that Lou Comiskey, who succeeded his father as owner of the White Sox, was a crack third baseman for a Catholic college in Chicago in his younger days.

Both Shibes Amateur Players.

"Both Tom and John Shibe, who share control of the Athletics with Connie Mack, were amateur players of more than passing skill, as was Tom Yawkey, the new owner of the Red Sox. L. C. McEvoy, vice president and one of the stockholders of the St. Louis Browns, was a varsity player at Canisius College in Buffalo and was also coach of the St. Joseph College team in Philadelphia in 1911.

"Incidentally, McEvoy's team of schoolboys in 1911 defeated the Athletics the day before the season opened despite the fact that Bullet Joe Bush was on the mound for Connie Mack's team. Phil Ball, owner of the Browns, was a sandlotter during his days of work in the oil fields, and even Col. Ruppert was a member of the track, baseball and bicycle squads at Columbia University in the days when.

"So, you see, it was but natural that they came back to their early love. Of course, I might add that Eddie Collins, who is a stockholder in the Red Sox, has played a little base ball."

Thanks, Mr. Edwards. It's all very interesting. Glad to know that Col. Ruppert made the bicycle squad at Columbia. It must have been way back in the days when.

A. A. U. Court Feature to Higbees

Colonial Canoe Club Bows, 26 to 21, as Tourney Opens.

Olmsted, Crescents Win; 4 Games at Tech Tonight.

HIGBEE, Richardson and Franklin tossers last night won the feature game as The Post's A. A. U. tourney opened before a large and enthusiastic gallery in the Tech Gymnasium. The Colonial Canoe Club fell victim in a hard-fought unlimited class thriller, 26 to 21. In the two other games on the program, the Olmsteds triumphed, 68 to 18, over the Black Hawks, and the Crescents took the District Cleaners to the cleaners, 33 to 25, both of these games being in the 145-pound class.

The H. R. & F.-Colonial Canoe fracas was a humdinger from start to finish. Never more than two or three points separated the teams at any stage until at the very end. At the intermission the Canoeists led, 11-9, but their foe clung tenaciously on their heels and gained its margin of victory in the waning minutes of the game. Harris and Estes starred for the winners, with A. Duryee and Woodward featuring for the Colonials.

Crescents Always In Front.

Crescent basketers always were in front in their game with the Cleaners, enjoying an 18-9 lead at the half. The Cleaners had a slight edge in the final, but it was not enough to do anything but make the score a little closer. Barker and Lovell, each with 11 points, were high guns of the game, while they also played bang-up defensive games. Jeweler scored 10 points for the losers.

The Grillmen went to work on the Virginia Black Hawks and sent a steady stream of balls through the baskets, emerging with a 68-18 victory. The Virginians fought every inch of the way but could not successfully cope with the brand of basket ball played by the defending champions. The Hawks' best showing was made in the first half when they scored all but two of their points.

Dantzic, at center, and Willis and Sebastian, at forwards, did the bulk of the scoring for the winners with 22, 16 and 13 points respectively.

Typo Grays and Saranacs In Feature Game Tonight

Eight more teams will receive their tournament baptism tonight. One 130-pound, a single 145-pound and two unlimited class games are scheduled for the second night.

Headlining the bill is the United Typewriter Grays' game with the Saranac A. C. at 9 o'clock. The Grays are slight favorites to win from the younger Saranac tossers.

Pressing the big boys for recognition will be the Comet Club's tilt with the Boys Club representatives in the 130-pound division. The two teams are primed for the best game of their young careers and action should be swift.

Interstate Commerce tangles with the Northern Preps in the lone 145-pound engagement, starting at 8 o'clock, while Crop Production meets Atlas Sport Shop at 10 o'clock in the second unlimited class battle. Since it is the A. A. U. tournament, which thrives on upsets, no attempt is made at selecting the winners.

Serious Business at Nats' Camp and Business Not So Serious

C. U. Boxers Win From Maryland

Post Scorecard Gives Cardinals Victory by 4-2 Margin.

FOR the first time this season the walls of Catholic University's gymnasium reverberated mildly with the subdued cheers and rah, rahs incidental to collegiate fisticuffing as an overcapacity crowd witnessed exhibitions between University of Maryland and C. U. boxers and the C. U. intramural finals. Although no decisions were given at the ringside, in the intercollegiate matches, this paper's score sheet credited Catholic University with four wins out of the six matches.

The high spot of the night was reached in the final round of the Burns-Thibodeau 135-pound match, in which the C. U. slugger pounded out a surprise win over the Southern Conference finalist. Undefeated this season excepting by Bobby Goldstein, for the Southern Conference title, Burns figured to easily outbox his rugged opponent, which he did in the first round. Thibodeau bounced back at the bell in the second to rush Burns through the ropes, but the Old Liner gave a beautiful exhibition of counterfighting to even the round. In the final session, Thibodeau loosed a furious flurry of rights and lefts that sent Burns to the canvas twice and staggered him repeatedly.

Keener and Stines In Thriller.

Another sizzling match was staged by the captains of the two teams, Keener and Stines. Stines' long reach puzzled the Maryland boys for a while, but he finally adopted a policy of taking two to get in one, which carried him through a hair-line decision.

Thompson and Doherty, 145-pounders, put on perhaps the best exhibition in the intramurals, with the latter taking a not-unanimous decision.

Danny Pyne and Babe Gearty, both of C. U., gave a two-round exhibition.

INTRAMURAL FINALS.

115-POUND CLASS—Leibach (Freshman) defeated De Noto (Freshman).

Orcutt, Fishwick Bow In Florida Golf Upsets

St. Augustine, Fla., March 2 (A.P.).—Upsets today removed Maureen Orcutt, defending champion, and Diana Fishwick, leading English star, from the second round of the Florida east coast women's golf championship, leaving two British and two American players still in the running.

Miss Orcutt fell under a sound 4 and 3 drubbing administered by Miss Frances Williams, De Leon Springs, Fla.

Miss Fishwick, the British closed and French open champion, met her third defeat in as many Florida tournaments when she was beaten, 4 and 2, by Barbara Pyman, another English entry.

The tournament medalist, Kathleen Granham, also from Great Britain, trounced Mrs. Stewart Hanley, Detroit, 1 up on the eighteenth hole, and Frances Hadfield, Milwaukee, took a 3 and 2 count from Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City.

Cronin Hoping to Correct No-Hit Pitchers, at Plate

Sees No Reason Why Big, Strong Hurlers Should Be Weaklings With Bat; Nats Take First Batting Workout.

By BOB CONSIDINE
(Post Staff Correspondent).

BILOXI, Miss., March 2.—The baseball denizens encamped here on the Gulf graduated from the kindergarten to the first grade here today when a couple of men wheeled up the batting practice net and the boys began to weave this way and that trying to hit the not-very-well-controlled shoots of a collection of volunteer pitchers.

Once again the hand, and mind, of Manager Joe Cronin appeared in the day's business. Evidently it is Joe's decision to be very practical minded about this fallacy that pitchers shouldn't be made to stand up at the plate and make motions with a bat. Joe called a conference of all players behind the screen and they held a sort of open forum on the rights and wrongs of each hitter as he came to the plate.

Some time back Cronin expressed himself pointedly on the topic of hitting pitchers. For the life of him he can't see why hurlers, bigger, stronger and perhaps more physically coordinated than any other player on the team, should make such universal asses of themselves at the plate. Joe kind of thinks that any man who has made a study of curves and fast ones ought to know how to hit 'em.

Whitehill Shows Slugging Ability.

Three battery men stood out during the batting session. Earl Whitehill, who likes to look upon himself as something of a slugger, showed enough today to verify his claims by belting a few that would have been triples in most any man's league.

He takes a roundhouse swing on the ball, and steps into them like Babe Ruth used to. Cliff Bolton whipped out a number of outfield liners, and old Moe Berg, the educated catcher, lifted a couple of sky-high balls that would have carried into the stands of most any park on the circuit, but of course fell far short in this impossibly large field.

Sam Rice started off the hitting for the day. In fact, if he hadn't clouted one for the benefit of the newsreel boys standing nearby it is somewhat doubtful if they would have taken backstop out of the moth balls and brought out a fist full of dusty bats. But Joe Cronin is fundamentally an impetuous ball player, and like all

BILOXI BUNTS

BILOXI, Miss., March 2.—The baseball gents accumulated in this here fishing village had their pictures taken today by the complicated Fox Movietone equipment, and if the delicate mechanism could "take it" the reel is apt to be at the Fox shortly unless there's been another shuffle on F street.

Most of the laughs attendant to filming of the little picture showing the Nats practicing were informal, and, of course, went unfilmed by the cameramen.

In the first place, everybody stood around 20 minutes waiting for the machinery to get rigged up, and then there was another 10-minute wait while Al Crowder got dressed.

While things were being prepared to shoot the picture Clark Griffith picked up one of Joe Cronin's bats and began bunting a few to Johnny Kerr. That was really worth watching. Griff hasn't hit a baseball in a couple of years, but he stood up there today and met it squarely on the trade mark, carrying on a conversation with the players all the time.

"Say," said Griff. "Do you use this thin bat all the time, Joe?"

"Yeah," answered Joe, who was busy thinking up the speech he had to make into the movie microphone.

Griff kept bunting them for a moment, while the players waited for the crack they could see coming by the brightness of his little black eyes. "No wonder you struck out so much last year," he finally drawled.

The presidential batting drill concluded when he knocked a short pop fly and Kerr circling around under with much gusto was tripped up by Jack Russell and the ball landed squarely on his schnoz.

"What's the name of this picture going to be?" asked a rookie pitcher, while the cameras were recording a pepper drill. Moe Berg, whose bunts were being mishandled by a freshman infielder and two very green catchers, cracked "A Comedy of Errors, son."

Indians Play Today, Rain Or Shine

Cherokee Game and Lacrosse Promise Plenty of Action.

RAIN or shine, two grand old Indian pastimes will be offered Washingtonians and inaugural visitors at Central High School Stadium this afternoon. Staged under the auspices of the District inaugural entertainment committee, this double-header will be capped by the introduction of a brand-new game locally, Indian ball.

A duel of All-Americas revolves around a clash of lacrosse men representing Baltimore and Annapolis, at 2:30 o'clock, to open hostilities. No fewer than seven former University of Maryland All-Americas are to represent Baltimore, while several national standouts who once performed for St. John's College are to play for Annapolis.

Lacrosse All-Americans In Action.

Headlining Bill ("Moon") Evans, twice cited for All-America with Maryland, the Baltimoreans also include Jimmy Lee, Ossie Beck, Sam Crostwaith, Morris Nicholson, Joe Deckman and Herman Epstein.

Ed Lotz, Bill Poole, Bill Armacost and Clem Spring, former St. John's College superstars, will stand out for Annapolis.

Scheduled to arrive here early this morning, the Cherokees will proceed to the Harrington Hotel, establishing their headquarters there prior to game time.

For downright ferocity and hand-to-hand mixing, Cherokee ball likely will set a new high here. Though having discarded many of their primitive customs, the Cherokees still look forward eagerly to this game, which is reported to have been in existence for more than three centuries.

Although the white men have attempted to tone down the ferocity of their game during their few ventures off their western North Carolina reservation, the Cherokees have refused to brook any interference whatever.

Clinging steadfastly to tradition, they enter play stripped to the waist and barefooted, armed with a home-made bat in each hand and in pursuit of a rubber ball about the size of that used in golf.

Tickets for this double-header remain on sale at Spalding's, hotel newsstands and main inaugural office, 1409 G street northwest, until noon today. They are scaled at 50 cents for children and $1 for adults.

Cochran Twice Beats Bozeman in Cue Play

Walker Cochran, world champion three-cushion billiardist, yesterday won two exhibition matches from J. N. Bozeman, runner-up to him in the title tourney, in the Lewis & Kraus parlors.

In the afternoon, Cochran won, 50 to 42, in 27 snappy innings, having one run of eight and several of five, while he captured the night match, 50 to 36. His best cluster in this session was four. Bozeman getting a number of bad breaks.

Both players entertained the large galleries with trick and fancy shots.

ROSENBLOOM AT WORK.

New York, March 2 (U.P.).—Maxie Rosenbloom, recognized in New York State as light-heavyweight champion, came here today to begin training for his 15-round title bout with Adolph Heuser, young German contender, to be held March 10 at Madison Square Garden.

Babe Ruth Joins Hole-in-One Club

Begins War Dance as Ball Hit From Tee Trickles Into Florida Cup.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 2 (A.P.).—Babe Ruth walked up to the third hole on the Pasadena golf course today, aimed at the green 135 yards away with a No. 2 iron, and promptly entered the dream organization of all golfers, the Hole-in-One Club.

The Babe was playing with Frank A. Willard, artist, of Tampa and Chicago, against Lloyd Gullickson, pro at Pasadena, and Billy De Beck, the cartoonist.

From the tee it appeared that Ruth's ball had rolled beyond the cup. The Babe started a trot to the green. When he found the ball in the cup he began a war dance.

"Everybody in the world will know about that tomorrow," he said, as he picked up the ball and put it in his pocket.

Johnson Fails In Effort to Buy Club

Jersey City Deal Off; League to Act at Special Meeting.

NEW YORK, March 2 (A.P.).—The International Baseball League will hold a "desperation" meeting at the Hotel New Yorker Saturday to determine final disposition of the Jersey City Club's franchise, now that Walter Johnson's proposal to take over the club's muddled affairs has been rejected by certain creditors.

Johnson, one of the game's greatest pitchers and former manager of the Washington Club, worked for many weeks organizing backing and preparing to buy up the franchise. He secured plenty of backing, and the baseball world was prepared today for an announcement that the deal had gone through.

But certain creditors, who had promised to accept the offer made by the Johnson group, at the last minute went back on their promises and the deal was unexpectedly blasted. Johnson, who was slated to become president and general manager, returned to his home in Washington—a disappointed man.

20 Meetings Have Failed.

When the deal blew up, Charles H. Knapp, of Baltimore, president of the league, issued a call for Saturday's meeting. Twenty meetings have been held in the past in an attempt to straighten out the Jersey City tangle, but Saturday's session will be the last. Something definite must be done then because some of the International clubs will start for the training camps next week.

It was learned authoritatively today that the Skeeters' franchise may be shifted to Providence, R. I. However, baseball circles in Providence were mystified at such a plan. They knew of no one in that city who had sufficient cash to attempt such a promotion, which incidentally would require a large outlay to put the only available park in shape.

The Brooklyn Dodgers operated the Skeeters last season and intended to take it over as a farm club. But they were unable to come to an agreement with its owner, Sam Colaccurcio. Brooklyn was unwilling to assume the club's indebtedness. In addition to the Dodgers, the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees are its principal creditors.

Walter Johnson yesterday returned empty-handed from New York, where he went to make an offer for the Jersey City Club franchise at a special meeting of the International League's board of directors.

"They made me a proposition and then I made them a counter one and it looked as though I would be able to close for the club," said Johnson last night, "but then one of the men I was dealing with changed his mind and everything was off.

"I'm still willing to go through with the original deal in case they change their mind again," Johnson added.

Meanwhile Johnson still has a chance to land the managerial job and run the club for the league in case Owner Sam Colarricio surrenders his franchise.

Jim Bottomley Signs Reds' 1933 Contract

Tampa, Fla., March 2 (U.P.).—Jim Bottomley, former St. Louis Cardinals' first baseman, signed a contract with the Cincinnati Reds tonight.

Sidney Weil, owner of the Reds, refused to reveal details of the agreement, but authoritative sources said it represented a compromise somewhere between the $10,000 offered and $13,000 asked.

Five holdouts remain on the Reds' records.

Burke Leads Central to Victory

D.C. Champs Trounce Asheville, 48 to 32, in Last Period.

Eastern, Tech and G. U. Preps Defeat Seeded Foes.

Special to The Washington Post.

LEXINGTON, Va., March 2.—Four Washington teams won their first-round games here today and tonight in the annual South Atlantic basket ball tournament which opened here in the Washington and Lee gymnasium. Eastern provided an upset in the very first game when it easily defeated the second seeded team in the event, George Washington High, of Danville, 43 to 32, while Tech followed with a hard-fought 28-25 victory over Parker High, of Greenville.

Central High, seeded No. 1, scored in a night game by staging a last-period spurt to give it a 48-32 decision over Asheville High, while, in the final game of the program, the Georgetown Preps routed the Augusta Military Academy in a preparatory class game, 34 to 15. In other contests staged, Oakridge downed Danville, 50-9; Staunton nosed out Hargrave, 25-24, and Greenbrier swamped Fork Union, 42-20.

In taking the feature, Central simply showered baskets in the fourth period while holding Asheville well in hand. The latter had started with a rush, scoring 12 points while holding the District team scoreless. Then the latter retaliated with a 10-point splurge and was trailing by but 2 points when the quarter ended. As the gun barked ending the half, the Washingtonians were in the van, 23-18, and they were in front, 29-26, as the third period ended.

Central Ahead by One Point.

Asheville opened the fourth quarter with a basket which brought it to within 1 point of Central but, led by Burke, the Washingtonians suddenly rallied and tallied 19 points while Asheville could add but 4 to its total.

Burke scored 18 points and easily took starring honors, while Shore, his running mate, pressed him for the point lead, scoring 15.

Eastern Hustles Into Lead.

Displaying an exceptional floor game centering around Nolan, dark-haired, fast diminutive forward, and making good a majority of their shots, Eastern rapidly pulled away from the favored Danville team and held a 16 to 8 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Scoring was even for the second and third quarters, both teams making 11 points each in the second period and 9 in the third.

Eastern sewed the game up in the final quarter, allowing their opponents four points, while they scored seven to add three to their first-period lead. Waters, Eastern forward, and F. Ramsey, Danville center, were the scoring aces with thirteen points each, while Nolan, Eastern floor ace, had eleven. Eastern outscored Danville by five baskets and made five

THE PELICAN, ODDS-ON, WINS HIALEAH SPRINT FEATURE

Inlander Up To Finish Second

The Pelican Is First Favorite to Win; Bobbing Third.

Rough Rides, Mishaps Mark Running of Opening Race.

HIALEAH PARK, Fla., March 2 (A.P.).—The Pelican, gelded chestnut son of Haste, won his first purse of the meeting in the silks of Joseph E. Widener, in the Winter Oasis, a 6-furlong affair which topped the program here today. Paying $2.70 for a $2 ticket, the Pelican was the first choice of the day to score and won as his odds would indicate, being in hand as he led the Brookmeade Stable's Inlander across the finish line by two lengths. E. R. Bradley's Bobbing saved the show, another two lengths back, with the weakly ridden Daudet fourth. The time was 1:12 flat.

Inlander, a Florida Derby hopeful, worked out a full mile. The clockers timed the Infinite colt in 1:38 2-5.

Mishaps Mar Running Of Opener.

In a race replete with rough riding and mishaps, Madelon, paying $54.50 for $2, managed to drive home a winner in the opener by half a length over Dark Mist. Primeval was a close third. Lady Legs was cut down in the early running and had to be destroyed. Adelaide A and Mae Sweep, heavily backed starters, also were victims of mishaps. The former was shuffled back badly at the first turn, while Mae Sweep's rider, Belizzi, got caught in the webbing at the barrier and the filly ran away about a mile. Madelon kept close to the pace and overtook Dark Mist in the stretch to win going away.

Another long-price winner gave the crowd a thrill in the second event when E. R. Bradley's Bittybit, at $21.40 for $2, led home sixteen other juveniles. The son of North Star III nosed Tomfoolery out of the purse, while Betty Wee took the show a length back. The latter cut out the early running with Bittybit right alongside and the latter forged ahead in the final furlong. Tomfoolery finished with a rush and just failed to get up.

Irene's Bob Forgets To Stop.

Irene's Bob forgot to stop despite tough opposition in the third race, the gelding scoring by a length to return $15.40. Broadway Lights headed Don Romiro for the place award. "Duke" Bellizzi urged the winner right to the front and the G. M. Odom color bearer opened up a substantial lead. Broadway Lights, a slow beginner, closed resolutely on the outside once in his stride and had the winner "straight as a string" at the end.

Beau Jolie, the consistent and improved 5-year-old representing G. E. Phillips, rang up his third straight victory in the middle-classes purse, supporting feature occupying fifth place on the card. It was a hard-earned triumph, Indian Runner losing the verdict by a nose in the final nod, but Beau Jolie, obviously best, experiencing bad racing luck. Indian Runner drew away from Sea Fox and Jubilate upon entering the stretch and seemed a winner. Beau Jolie, in tight quarters and then forced to take to the outside while making his move, made up ground rapidly in the last furlong and got upon the wire to pay $7.80.

Ed Haughton's 5-year-old gelding, Brass Monkey, showed scintillating form to beat nine other platers in new track record time in the mile and a furlong sixth contest. The unfashionable route traveler completed the 9 furlongs in 1:50 2-5, a fifth of a second better than the mark created by Lightning Bolt. We Dun It, the favorite, was second, five lengths back and a length and a half before Votan. Brass Monkey was in slight trouble at the first turn, but under patient handling gradually caught the leaders and won easily. We Dun It was under punishment to beat Votan. The winner paid $10.90.

Hitting the Baseball Trail

Tampa, Fla., March 2 (A.P.).—The encampment of a half dozen members of the Cincinnati Nationals leaguers here was increased today by several pitchers and catchers. Owner Sidney Weil, and a number of other officials.

The reinforcements arrived on a morning train. They spent the day getting settled in their new quarters. The first regular practice was called for 2:30 tomorrow afternoon.

Paso Robles, Calif., March 2 (A.P.).—Pittsburgh's Pirates paraded at full training camp strength today and Manager George Gibson lost no time in putting the newly arrived infielders and outfielders to work.

Working time is short as the players will have to be ready for exhibition games within a week. Manager Gibson was greatly pleased with the first day's work of Floyd Vaughn at shortstop. Vaughn played winter ball and showed up here in fine shape.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 2 (U.P.).—Only two pitchers were absent today as batterymen of the Boston Braves went through their second session of spring training. Dr. Herb Pruett and Leo Mangum have not reported yet. Pruett, a full-fledged physician, is expected to request that he be put on the voluntarily retired list. He has bought another physician's practice in St. Louis.

San Antonio, Tex., March 2 (A.P.).—Bucky Harris led his Detroit Tigers into their first day of spring training here today, the batterymen working out in a two-hour session. The rest of the squad is not due until next week.

Spotted with a host of Beaumont Texas League graduates were such veterans as George Uhle, Firpo Marberry, Elon Hogsett and Vic Sorrel.

New Orleans, March 2 (A.P.).—Manager Roger Peckinpaugh had nothing but good news today about his Cleveland Indians.

He received word that Outfielder Dick Porter had signed his contract, leaving only Pitchers Ferrell and Ludlin and Infielder Harley Boss unsigned. In addition, all of the ten men now in camp were in excellent condition aside from Pitcher Clint Brown, who was a trifle overweight.

Pasadena, Calif., March 2 (A.P.).—The Chicago White Sox got off with another short drill today, stiff muscles still bothering the athletes. They did, however, get their first look of the season at curve-ball pitching, served up by one Bill Jones.

Jones, a member of a Pasadena club, had played ball all winter and was in shape. He showed enough to arouse Manager Lew Fonseca's interest and will be kept around for a trial.

Fort Myers, Fla., March 2 (A.P.).—Ed Coleman, Philadelphia Athletics' outfielder, today proved to the satisfaction of Manager Connie Mack that his ankle, broken last season, is in first-class condition. He raced out a hit in fast time in his turn at batting practice and showed no trace of a limp.

Winter Haven, Fla., March 2 (A.P.).—Declaring he felt he was "entitled to more than my contract calls for," Don Hurst, big first baseman of the Phillies, today announced himself a holdout.

Hurst checked in last night at a hotel here and prepared to wait for a larger salary offer.

The three pitchers unsigned on their arrival yesterday all put their names to contracts before the batterymen's first workout today. They are Flint Rhem, Ed Holley and John Beriy.

President Gerald Nugent said Hurst was not due in camp until March 10 with the other infielders, and until then could not be considered a holdout.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 2 (U.P.).—Sam Byrd, outfielder, today joined the New York Yankees training camp a week ahead of schedule. He was supposed to report with the second squad next Wednesday. Byrd and Cy Perkins both received minor leg injuries when spiked by Pitchers Brown and Brennan during a game of leapfrog. Holdouts Dickey and Ruffing are still absent as are Cy Moore and Lefty Gomez.

AT THE POST

DEAR AL: MIAMI, MARCH 2.

There is not much to report. The horses raced this afternoon, but not for your pal. Bennings stock hit a new low. My selections ran as if I owed them money. Here and there I had one as close as second, but the majority were paddling along well back in the fields. I chased Mike out the press box just before the fourth race in an effort to chase the jinx and then called him back in just before the seventh in the hope that he would bring me some luck. But tomorrow is another day and we may get a brand-new grip on them. If you have any dough left, you might try these. BILL.

FIRST RACE—PERNICKERTY and BLACK SHEEP have been assigned equal weights for this sprint and I like them in the order listed. Both are in excellent shape and seem to stand out among these The one I'm afraid of is SUPERCHARGE.

SECOND RACE—EVEN PLAY has had little racing luck of late and I'm going to try to put him over tomorrow. RACE STREET, the probable favorite, is consistent and should take the place award. FORCEFUL to take care of the rest of the purse.

THIRD RACE—ONDOT ran second in one test here and then came back to give a good account of himself against a superior field. This is the spot. CHANCE MEETING has been knocking at the door and should be no worse than second among these. SALUT D'AMOUR for the show.

FOURTH RACE—Looks like SOLACE has found the right field in this mile. SHIVA promises to provide the chief battle. GRACIAS is Mike's good thing but I'm putting this one third again.

FIFTH RACE—WHITE THORN may make them all sit up and take notice tomorrow. Beat some good ones last fall and has been primed to win races. According to the works, WHITE THORN is now ready. Watch out! RAPSCALLION, another fast worker, should take the place ahead of CHARLEY O.

SIXTH RACE—I thought this gang was over at Havana. I'm going to try to make dog eat dog with RUANE. This veteran has a way of coming to life on these occasions. THE BREAK and CALGARY KAY for what's left.

SEVENTH RACE—WISHING STAR has been having trouble connecting of late but I'm going to him tomorrow. Is as good, if not better, than anything in the field. IMPEACH'S present form is brilliant and should take the second money. FORT DEARBORN is a mystery as long as they insist taking the apprentice allowance.

WOODMONT'S GOLF PRO LET OUT

Thorn Released After 10-Year Term as Economic Move.

THE strong arm of the depression reached out yesterday and victimized Arthur B. Thorn, professional at the Woodmont Country Club for the last ten years.

Obliged to curtail activities at the club because of economic conditions, Woodmont officials served notice to Thorn that they would have to dispense with his services. This, they said, was the first step in their retrenchment program.

Morris Simon, chairman of the green committee, declared that the club regretted making the move.

Club Forced to Let Pro Go.

"Thorn is a man of the highest type," Mr. Simon said. "We hate to lose him, but are forced to do this. During the ten years he has been with us we have been pleased with his work."

A number of Washington clubs have been reported to be in shaky condition, but none thus far has taken the drastic action of doing away with its professional. Instead, they have slashed dues to retain members, made membership drives and cut down expenses to the bone along with other lines. Recently both Columbia and Indian Spring Golf Clubs announced reductions in both initiation fees and anual dues.

Thorn is considered one of the most popular professionals in the Middle Atlantic section. A native of Plainfield, N. J., he came to Woodmont in 1923 from the Hydewood Golf Club, of his home town, where he had served as pro for several years. He also was instructor at clubs in Cranford, N. J., and New York.

Has Been Golf Pro Since 1908.

Thorn has been in the golf game since 1908, at one time having been connected with Spalding's.

Holder of the course record at Woodmont with a subpar 68, Thorn held the record at Army and Navy with a 69 until it was shattered by one stroke by J. Monro Hunter, professional, a few months ago.

Back in 1930, the former Woodmont pro went to Richmond and set a dazzling pace to qualify for the National Open championship which was held that year at Interlachen That same season—a season that saw him flash some of his finest golf—Thorn qualified easily in the sectional test for the P. G. A. classic in which he was a participant at Fresh Meadow. During the decade he has been with the Woodmont Club, Thorn has carried off first prize in numerous weekly sweepstakes conducted throughout the Middle Atlantic sector.

Steam Roller Five Steals G. W. Show

Frosh Bone Crushers Go Down, 6-4; Undergrads Beat Seniors, 42-34.

The Varsity Steam Rollers flattened the Freshmen Bone Crushers last night, 6 to 4, in a free-scoring game that usurped the role of the advertised feature of the twin basket ball bill at George Washington University.

After the Rollers and the Crushers left the floor the Varsity Undergrads beat the Varsity Seniors, 42 to 34, but it was merely an anticlimax, for the Rollers and Crushers had stolen the show.

The riot gun of Timer Jack Espey mercifully halted the double massacre that threatened to eventuate in the first game between the school's football talent, who had donned basket ball togs for no good reason, six to a side. At great risk, Coach Joe Walsh consented to referee the game, and it proved to be a great risk.

In fact, just as he connected for the winning goal on a wild heave from the center of the floor, somebody connected with Gilbert Conn's nose and it was forthwith busted. It seems that in order to add spice to the game the personal foul rule was waived.

SARRON AND SCHWARTZ TO CLASH

Feathers to Feature Next Ring Program at Portner's.

BENNY SCHWARTZ, the Baltimore southpaw who has stuck enough left jabs into the eyes of enough featherweights to establish himself in the front ranks of that class, will take the pitcher to the well once again Tuesday night when he steps into the ring with Pete Sarron at Portner's. The distance will be eight rounds.

Whether Benny can get home again without a mishap depends on Sarron's mood, for the Birmingham boy is regarded as a top-flight warrior and capable of serving a fancy brand of boxing when aroused to action.

The Southerner demonstrated this not so long ago when he plastered Frankie De Angelo with everything in the book to win a decisive victory. Sarron follows no set style of fighting, but starts swinging with the gong. In his unorthodox manner he throws gloves from every conceivable angle.

Schwartz clouted De Angelo for another of those decisive victories the little Italian seems to give away. Benny's potent left, somewhat similar to the one Benny Leonard employed in his climb to the throne, is his most effective weapon.

The Baltimore boy recently dropped a decision to Pete Sanstol, which he blames on Sanstol's manner of crouching. Against Sarron, who walks in throwing punches, he thinks he has an opponent made to order.

Montgomery County Fives in Tournament

The Montgomery County Sportsmanship Tourney will be played tonight at Rockville High School with the first game scheduled for 7:30 o'clock. The tourney is similar to a consolation series with all teams in the Montgomery County series entered, with the exception of the champion Bethesda-Chevy Chase combination.

At 7:30 o'clock Rockville tangles with Gaithersburg, and an hour later Takoma-Silver Spring will engage Sherwood. A new system of scoring will be used. The winning team of each game will be credited with 10 points. Every foul committed detracts a point from the offending team's score.

GOVERNMENT LEAGUE.

Inasmuch as one loss will seriously impair a team's chances of pennant winning, fur should fly tonight when Bolling Field's Airmen and G. P. O.'s Typesetters clash in the opening game of the Government League second-half card.

Both clubs are among the favorites, G. P. O. having already won the first half bunting, and action starts at 8 o'clock on the Bolling floor. At 9, the Federal Aces will attempt to humble Investigation's faltering Sleuths.

Statistics Are Cast Out In Unique All-Star Team Entered in Post Contest

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

IN view of the great amount of time and labor spent in digging up statistical dope on diamond stars who have scintillated in Washington livery since Clark Griffith first came here back in 1912, it is most gratifying to see what a big help these figures have proved to be to one of the entrants in The Post's baseball contest.

His entry slip, received recently and signed "Denman Miller, Star-Times," shows that Mr. Miller most have spent hours in the daytime analyzing the records and comparing the players of the various positions and then must have lain awake nights giving the matter even more thought. In fact, it looks as though he did some dreaming, too, for here is the list he submitted: First base, Altrock; second base, Stewart; third base, Taylor; short stop, Reeves; left field, Barnes; center field, Matthews; right field, Brower; catchers, Tate and Picinich, and pitchers, Burke, Engel, Schacht and Courtney.

Other Features Considered By Miller.

But just as President Griffith may not depend altogether on records in naming the outstanding players who have performed here since he has been connected with the club, so has Mr. Miller apparently rated other features of play ahead of mer averages.

Practically all of his selections have a claim to fame. Going down the list, it must be remembered that Altrock led the American League in hitting for two seasons, getting one safety in one time at bat each year. Stuffy Stewart has the distinction of being the most-traveled of all ball players, while records do not show that any other third baseman fell down the steps and broke his hand on the eve of a world's series in which his team was to figure as did Taylor. Completing the infield, what shortstop could throw faster balls farther from first base than our old friend Bobby Reeves?

In picking his outfielders Mr. Miller must have allowed for the fact that Barnes had the smallest feet in the majors, that only "Rabbit" Maranville is a close rival to Matthews in cupping the ball on his catches and that Brower is the only Virginian in the running—and in these days the Old Dominion must have a representative on the slate.

Tate Won Medal for Homer Here.

When it is remembered that Tate won the only medal ever offered a Nat for making a home run here and that Picinich is the Nats' lone old-time receiver still in harness, Mr. Miller's catching selections are not at all out of line.

But the writer can not figure why Courtney was named among the pitchers, although Mr. Miller no doubt has a most excellent reason. It is easy to see how Burke, Engel and Schacht earned their berths. Other than Walter Johnson and "Sad Sam" Jones, Burke is the only Washington flinger, past or present, who is credited with a no-hit game; Engel was such a generous soul that he issued more passes than did his club while he was toiling, while Schacht has the distinction of having relieved the great Johnson once—and only once.

After analyzing Mr. Miller's team, though, the writer fears that perhaps his previous statements that President Griffith may not adhere closely to actual records, but may let sentiment or other factors govern his choices have been taken a little too seriously.

Fans who have delayed buying their opening day tickets are urged to make their choices and send in their slips—the more the merrier. Entries close March 15.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

MRS. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT will deliver her final address in the Pond's series from a small room off the stage in the Constitution Hall tonight (WRC, 8:30 p. m.). She will attend the preinaugural concert, leaving her box when it is time for her radio program, then returning to the hall itself for the remainder of the concert. Leo Reisman and his orchestra will play from New York.

The preinaugural concert will be given by Rosa Ponselle, soprano; Lawrence Tibbett, barytone; Efram Zimbalist, violinist, and the National Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Hans Kindler. A full hour of the program will be broadcast by WRC beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

Daniel C. Roper, who becomes the Secretary of Commerce tomorrow, will deliver an inaugural talk over WRC at 6:45 o'clock.

Francis A. Bishop, 92 years old, and his wife, who is 89, who have traveled from Washington State to be the guests of Ray Baker, chairman of the inaugural committee on distinguished guests for the inaugural, will be heard over WJSV at 1:45 o'clock this afternoon. Mr. Bishop is the oldest recognized military hero.

Toby Cook, the little Georgia boy who came here with a string of ponies, will speak during the same period.

RADIO announcers at the Capitol tomorrow morning will give the following graphic description of the participation of the Marine Band, "The President's Own," in the inaugural ceremonies:

"The Marine Band has played for the inaugural ceremonies at the east front of the Capitol for every President who has taken the oath of office there, and Saturday morning will again have this great honor. As President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt approaches his place to be sworn in the Marine Band will sound the traditional four ruffles and four flourishes, followed by 'Hail to the Chief.'

"As the new President leaves the platform after his induction into office the four ruffles and flourishes will again be sounded, and 'Hail to the Chief' will be played, after which the band takes its place in the inaugural parade.

"At the command, 'Fall in,' given by Capt. Taylor Branson, the Marine Band will march ahead of the Marines in the parade immediately following the Army troops, which always lead any military parade.

"The famous leathernecks, headed by their equally famous band, will march proudly before President Roosevelt at the reviewing stand in the Court of Honor to the strains of 'From the Halls of Montezuma' and the Marines' official march, 'Semper Fidelis,' both favorites of the new President, who was closely associated with the Marine Corps while he was Assistant Secretary of the Navy.

"And perhaps as President Roosevelt watches these famous Marines and their great band swinging by, there shall stand at his elbow, silent in the shadows of the past, those who long ago stood where now he stands, sharing with him the sound of martial feet tramping to the stirring music of 'The President's Own.'"

A "PREVIEW" of the inaugural parade will be heard over WJSV this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, when the United States Army Band broadcasts a program of the marches it will play in the parade.

A description of the band and the part it will take in the colorful pageant tomorrow will be given just before the musical program.

Arthur Godfrey, master of ceremonies on the WMAL Breakfast Club, got away to a fine start during the opening program yesterday morning. It is predicted he will have a large regular following if he maintains the pace set in his first broadcast. It will be a daily feature from 7 to 9.

The first and second sets of "Tristan und Isolde," the concluding performance in the Metropolitan Opera Annual Wagner Matinee Cycle, will be broadcast over WRC at 1:45 o'clock this afternoon.

The usual Saturday afternoon broadcast will be omitted tomorrow in order that descriptions of the inaugural parade may be heard.

"Tristan und Isolde" will be sung in German, with Artur Bodansky conducting. The cast will be as follows:

Tristan, Lauritz Melchior.
King Marke, Ludwig Hofmann.
Isolde, Frida Leider.
Brangaene, her servant, Maria Olszewska.
Melot, Arnold Gabor.
Kurvenal, Tristan's servant, Friedrich Schorr.
A shepherd, Hans Clemens.
The steersman, James Wolfe.
A sailor's voice, Hans Clemens.

THE twelve leaders in radio are, according to a country-wide survey made by "Variety:"

1. Jack Pearl (Baron Munchausen).
2. Eddie Cantor.
3. Ed Wynn.
4. Amos 'n Andy.
5. Rudy Vallee Varieties.
6. Burns and Allen-Lombardo Orchestra.
7. Myrt and Marg.
8. Al Jolson.
9. Chesterfield Program (Ruth Etting, Bing Crosby, Hayton Orchestra.
10. Ben Bernie.
11. Fred Allen.
12. Kate Smith.

The runners-up, among radio favorites, were:

Marx Brothers.
Stoopnagle and Budd.
Paul Whiteman.
Morton Downey.
The Goldbergs.
Mills Brothers.
March of Time.
Maxwell House Showboat.
Lawrence Tibbett.
N. Y. Philharmonic.

Edwin C. Hill.

The premiere of a new work by Abram Chasins will mark the return of the Philadelphia Orchestra, under the direction of Leopold Stokowski, over WJSV at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The number, Chasin's Concerto, No. 2, for piano and orchestra, is unusual for its scoring in one continuous movement. It will be performed with the composer himself at the piano. Other selections on the program will be Stokowski's reading of the Schumann Symphony No. 4, and an orchestral version of Wagner's opera, "Das Rheingold."

George Gershwin will appear with Edwin C. Hill on an "Inside Story" program (WJSV, 9:30 p. m.).

THE Rt. Rev. Arthur Foley Winnington-Ingram, Bishop of London, will be the first of seven bishops of the Anglican communion to speak in a series of Lenten services, when he addresses radio audiences in this country and England between 1 and 1:15 o'clock today. He will be heard locally via WJSV.

Jack Benny, his wife, Mary Livingstone; a weekly selection of guest artists, and an orchestra under the direction of Frank Black will head the new Chevrolet program series, formerly featuring Al Jolson, at 10 o'clock tonight over WRC.

THE background of the Roosevelt Cabinet will be reviewed on the eve of the inauguration when the "March of Time" goes over a network, including WJSV, at 8:30 o'clock.

The Old Philosopher

SAYS:

Question—Don't you think our country is going to the dogs?

Answer—No. Some people are going to the dogs, but the country as a whole is just as staple as it ever was. Many people think because hard times hit us, depression overtakes us, and radical measures are adopted that the country is going to the bow wows. That is not so. That is just a phase of progress and out of all the muck and mire of political and social chaos will come good. So many of us are prone to take a morbid view of things; we listen to the street-corner crowd—the lamppost leaners, for they are sure the world is gone hay-wire, and little do they do to help it. The saner crowd—the average man of the street, while he may be hit by a passing depression still holds great faith in the country and belief in the judgment of the American people. America is far from the bow wows. Some Americans, however, who are always preaching penury and woe would be far better off in the kennels of dogdom. We stand on the threshold of great things. A new hope is taking hold of us and with courage, faith and a little more elbow grease to the job in hand we shall stand in the sunlight of promise and prosperity will be ours.

2 SHOT AS WOMAN ASSISTS IN HOLDUP

Captor and Gunman Trade Bullets After Robbery; Both Culprits Caught.

A holdup late yesterday at the A. & P. store at 1201 Mount Vernon avenue, Del Ray, Alexandria, and the slight wounding of two persons by bullets resulted in the quick capture of the man and woman who allegedly staged it.

The woman gives the name of Virginia Harding, aged 27 years, of Indianapolis, Ind., and the man, J. B. Walters, 25, of Pittsburgh, Pa.

The story as told by Jack Varney, of 212 La Verne avenue, Del Ray, clerk, was that shortly after 5 p. m. he noticed a dark red coupe park in front of the store, and in about ten minutes a man and woman entered the store. The man asked for two packages of cigarettes and tendered a dollar. Varney gave him the cigarettes and change. Then, he said, the man walked over to the manager of the store, Ralph Harris, of Arlington, Va., pulled a gun and ordered Harris and Varney in the back room of the store.

Shots Are Exchanged.

Varney said they immediately complied, but that he went right on out the back door and around to the side of the store and seeing William E. Allen, night watchman at George Mason High School, directly across the street, called "holdup." Allen ran over and at that time the woman, closely followed by the man, came from the store, and got into the car. Allen caught the door handle with one hand and with the other held his gun on Walters, who shot at Allen, the slug striking him a glancing blow on the left hand. Allen shot back, his bullet striking Walters in the hand. Both received superficial wounds.

Varney grabbed Walters by the collar and with Allen's help pulled him from the car, and the woman stepped on the gas and drove off.

In the meantime two calls had been made to police headquarters, and Capt. John S. Arnold and State Game Warden Harry Johnson left in one car, Sergt. Fred Kaus and Policeman Hicks in No. 1 cruiser. The latter took Walters into custody, and Capt. Arnold and Johnson went after the woman. They overtook her at Columbia Pike and Russell road, and took her back to Alexandria.

The woman had money taken from the store in her possession, and the manager of the store said he would have to check up to determine how much was missing.

57 Mermen Seek Titles in Southern

Duke Choice to Land Conference Honors Today and Tomorrow.

University, Va., March 2 (A.P.).—Fifty-seven swimmers, representing half the members of the Southern Conference, will compete in the annual indoor swimming meet in the University of Virginia pool tomorrow and Saturday night.

Duke is regarded as the favorite to replace Georgia Tech as the conference water champion. Tech swimmers, hosts to all previous title meets, have won all championships heretofore.

Virginia, this season's host, has 20 men entered; Duke has 17 entries, Washington and Lee 12, North Carolina State 7 and Maryland 1.

Preliminary heats Friday night will eliminate all but four or five contestants in each of the eight racing events. Six divers will be chosen for the finals. No points will be scored until the final events Saturday night.

French Plan Fight On Open Tennis

Federation Head Is Hostile to Move; Action Due This Spring.

Paris, March 2 (U.P.).—An open fight against the proposal of the United States Lawn Tennis Association to hold a tournament involving amateur and professional players will be launched in the spring meeting of the international federation, French tennis writers predicted today.

Decision of the U. S. L. T. A. in favor of such an open tourney, caused a greater commotion here than it did in the United States.

The first reaction, crystalized in an opinion of Pierre Gilliou, president of the French Tennis Federation, was distinctly hostile to the unprecented action of the American association.

It is possible that French official circles may undergo a change of heart between now and March 18 when the International Federation meets, but it appears that a unanimous vote against a "free-for-all" will be cast.

The basic objection to an open is that it violates the traditions of the game.

BATTING PRACTICE STARTED BY NATS

ball players, he couldn't stand around watching somebody else take their raps at the bat.

Joe, with his wide-elbowed stance, ripped out a score of beauts, which was more or less expected. The center of all eyes was Cecil Travis, the much discussed rookie slugger, the first time he sauntered to the plate. His first hot ball knocked down Jack Russell, the pitcher, but did not injure him. Travis really hits that ball. He had difficulty meeting only the underhand twists of Paul Lines, but then that was a general quandary.

The boys broke three bats during the session, all of them happening to be Joe Cronin's.

The park bristled with boards of strategy all day. The pitchers had another long session in picking off runners. Johnny Kerr took Travis aside for a bit of information on handling ground ball. Clark Griffith personally supervised Eddie Linke's first real speed ball work-out, which saw the fat rookies burning the ball over the plate with the greatest speed of any pitcher in camp. The batters had an extended workout in bunting and hit and run plays. If the 1933 Nats aren't a smart ball club, it won't be Cronin's fault.

Nick Altrock and Al Schacht donned the spangles for the first time this season and proved to be as profoundly unfunny as ever in their movietone skit. They ought to be content, now that that act of theirs has broken the endurance run of "Abie's Irish Rose."

31 Specials Will Park In Potomac Freight Yard

Arrangements have been completed at the Potomac freight yards, Alexandria, for the parking of 31 special passenger trains coming from various sections of the country for the inauguration. The trains will begin to arrive this evening, according to Robert M. Colvin, superintendent, and the majority of them will remain until Sunday night.

There will be 5 special trains from the Bronx, New York, and 26 from New York City, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Baltimore and other cities.

SPOKESMAN FAVORS ARLINGTON GAS CUT

ARLINGTON COUNTY,
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 500. Clarendon, Va.

Agreeing to a temporary reduction in the gas rates of the Rosslyn Gas Co. for Arlington County, pending a hearing before the State Corporation Commission, will avoid strong opposition on the part of the Public Utilities Commission to any postponement to the hearing set for today, declared Edmund D. Campbell, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of Arlington County.

Campbell stated that the commission has been definitely advised by attorneys for the Washington Gas Light Co., of which the Rosslyn company is a subsidiary, that they will ask for a continuance on the ground that they have been unable to accumulate the data which has been demanded of them by the State Corporation Commission when the case was reopened after a delay of nearly two years.

Campbell stated that the Arlington County Commission is ready to proceed with the hearing and will take the position that, since the case has been pending for a long time, it would be unfair to the domestic users in Arlington County to have the case continued unless the officials of the gas company either voluntarily or by order of the commission, make a reduction in the rates pending the final hearing.

The State Corporation Commission has granted a charter to L. A. Walker & Sons, Inc., with offices located at Clarendon, Va. The maximum capital stock is $2,500. The officers are L. A. Walker, president; Kate M. Walker, vice president; J. Foster Hagan, secretary, and H. L. Walker, treasurer. The above-named also constitute the board of directors.

The Young Democratic Club of Arlington County will hold a ball this evening at Windsor Arms with dancing from 10 to 1 a. m.

The committee in charge of arrangements are James Caton, chairman; Ellis Stoody, Miss Clara Coffman; Miss Janice Rice, Howard Sharpe and L. Turnburke.

Alexandria Police Nab 234 During February

The report of Captain of Police John S. Arnold, of Alexandria, for the month of February gives a record of 234 arrests in the month, with traffic violations in the lead, followed closely by drunks and prohibition. The report of Detective Sergt. Edgar Sims and Detective James Bayliss shows property stolen valued at $1,059.80, with $638 worth recovered, and in addition the police recovered out-of-town property to the value of $890.

Virginia Health Highest Recorded Despite Slump

Richmond, Va., March 2 (A.P.).—The economic depression, although deadly to many a pocketbook, finds Virginia's citizenry enjoying the best general health on record, Dr. Warren F. Draper, State health commissioner, said today.

Pointing to a death rate from all causes of 11.8 per 100,000 population, the lowest recorded figure, the commissioner said this healthy fact was not in spite of the depression, but in some measure because of it.

Acquitted by Jury, Sonnenberg Freed

Lawrence, Mass., March 2 (A.P.).—Gus Sonnenberg, heavyweight wrestler, was acquitted today by a jury of charges of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor and so as to endanger.

Judge Albert P. Hayden immediately ordered the discharge of the wrestler, who had appealed a previous conviction in lower court, where he was given a three-month sentence and fined $200.

The charges were the outgrowth of an accident in North Andover last July. Sonnenberg's automobile was in collision with a car driven by Patrolman Richard Morrissey, of the Lawrence police force. Morrissey died as the result of injuries he received.

A charge of manslaughter was dismissed in lower court.

Clark Griffith had a 74 today for the Biloxi Country Club course, sinking a 50-yard chip shot out of a trap among other things.

Sam Rice celebrated his second day in camp by having an argument with Mike Martin.

County Federation in Favor of Exempting Those Who Are Below $1,200.

While maintaining its stand against salary cuts in the schools, the Montgomery County Civic Federation last night voted to urge that in the event county salary cuts are deemed necessary that employes receiving less than $1,200 a year be exempted.

The federation further urged that teachers and others in the lower salary brackets should suffer a lower ratio of slash than those in the higher brackets, and that in view of the cut already given school janitors that they too be exempted. The discussion preceding the adoption of the resolution clearly showed the federation generally is opposed to salary cuts.

J. A. P. Farnham pointed out that the average taxpayer would pay but $2 less a year if the 10 per cent county salary slash is maintained. The federation also voted to urge that the minimum standards of school study and administration be maintained as defined by State and local educational authorities and to ask the Legislature to retain the special teachers and subjects which it has been proposed to eliminate.

The federation also indorsed proposals favoring reduction of general property taxes and replacement of income lost by savings in State and local budgets and from other sources not burdensome to the taxpayers and approved Gov. Ritchie's recommendations relating to diversion of the gasoline tax fund to counties and to the annuity bond fund, and asked the county delegation to support these measures.

The federation approved recommendations by the finance and budget committee presented by Frank B. Severance that the board of county commissioners be reduced to five or less; that the disbursement committee be abolished and replaced by a comptroller; that the commissioners make and abide by a budget and that the annual levy be so based, including suburban districts; that all public welfare agencies be consolidated.

The body also opposed formation of any special fire taxing area where the majority of the citizens were opposed and that in such event areas be established, that representatives of each town and taxing area involved should have a place on the fire board or other administrative body which handled the money collected. The question of the Cabin John Park fire tax was held to be purely local.

Women Golf Stars At Richmond April 2

Richmond, Va., March 2 (A.P.).—The woman's golf committee of the Country Club of Virginia is planning an international match here April 2, which will bring to Richmond Maureen Orcutt and Mrs. Opal Hill, American stars, and Katherine Garnham and Betty Dicks Perkins, English luminaries.

Definite assurance that the players would come here was announced today, although definite selection of the date may depend on the progress of the North and South tournament at Pinehurst.

Sutter Beats Mangin In Bermuda Finals

Hamilton, Bermuda, March 2 (U.P.).—Clifford Sutter, of New Orleans, the United States third ranking tennis player, today defeated Gregory Mangin, of Newark, N. J., 6—2, 1—6, 6—2, in the final for the men's singles title of the Bermuda tennis championships.

The singles tourney became an all-United States affair yesterday when Mangin, American indoor champion and No. 7 in the national rankings, eliminated the last of the English players, R. K. Tinkler, in the semi-final.

In the women's doubles final, also an all-United States contest, Miss Virginia Rice, of Boston, and Miss Virginia Hilleary, of Philadelphia, defeated Mrs. Harry Brunie, of Boston, and Miss Florence Le Boutillier, of New York, 6—3, 6—3, 6—2.

Hitting the Headpin

The Post No. 1 team of the Daylight League provided most of the fireworks yesterday, rolling a high game of 580 and a high set of 1,625, while Peedie Clark, of that team, had the best individual set with 369. Moore, of Evening Star, had the top individual game of 152.

The Padgett Printers, with 509; the Gobel Co., with 1,461; Keefer, of Italics, with 120 and 334, were the standout performances in the Nation-Wide League.

Miss Jennie Malcolm, of Agriculture, last night rolled the second high Ladies Federal League set of the season on the Arcadia drives when she totaled 373, one of these games, 143, being high for the night. Largely as a result of her efforts, the Agries had a team total of 1,516 while making a clean sweep over Veterans' Administration. High team game honors went to the leading Treasury team, 532.

The Cost team captured all the grapes in the Interstate Commerce Examiners League last night at Columbia. The team figures were 527 and 1,497, with one of its members taking individual honors, Yerrick's 141 and 385 standing out like a sore thumb.

Survey showed the way in the Interior League, taking all honors. The team had marks of 607 and 1,806, while Watson rolled a 151 game and a 376 set.

There were no changes among the first three teams in the Intercollegiate Alumni League after last night's matches at the Rendezvous. Michigan maintained its lead by taking two from Oregon, while the second-place tie between Yale and Princeton was unchanged as each won two of three games—Yale from Dartmouth and Princeton from Navy. Maryland and V. M. I. made clean sweeps in their matches with Brown and Harvard, while Lehigh took the odd game from Penn and V. P. I. dropped two of three to Cornell.

Garnett, of V. P. I., had high individual game of 135, with set honors going to Hill, of Cornell, with 352. Princeton's 560 and Maryland's 1,601 topped the teams.

$1,000 Auto Crash Verdict.

In the United States Court for the Eastern District of Virginia, Judge Luther B. Way presiding, sitting in Alexandria, a verdict of $1,000 was awarded Abigail E. Schaffer, of New Jersey, against Adolf Stoff, of Clarendon, in her suit for $10,000 for alleged injuries sustained in an automobile accident.

GRANGE IS AGAINST FAIRFAX TAX RAISE

20 Per Cent Salary Cut for Two School Officials Proposed Instead.

The Pomona Grange, of Fairfax County, Va., at its quarterly meeting voted to recommend to the county board of supervisors not to increase the school levy for the next fiscal year as asked by the county school board recently. It also asks that the salaries of the divisional superintendent of schools, Wilbert T. Woodson, and the rural supervisor of public schools be reduced 20 per cent and that the teachers' pay be cut 10 per cent, in order to prevent the proposed increase in the school levy.

The Grange held that the county levy should be reduced as much as possible, but it disregarded the recommendations of its budget committee, which advocated drastic cuts in all county activities, but no reduction in teachers' salaries of less than $100 per month.

It was pointed out that the principal increase in the school budget was for hiring additional teachers because of increased enrolments in the county schools and the decrease in the annual contribution of the State educational department for teachers' pay.

The Grange voted down the abolition of the county police force and doing away with the services of the rural supervisor of schools, substituting the 20 per cent reduction proposal in the salaries of the two school officials instead.

Academy Swordmaster Succumbs in Annapolis

Annapolis, Md., March 2.—Prof. George Heintz, 61 years old, for 28 years swordmaster at the Naval Academy, and instructor of the midshipmen's fencing teams, died in Emergency Hospital, Annapolis, today following a brief illness of pneumonia. Foul Goals Decide For Tech.

Both Tech and Parker High scored eleven field goals, but the District of Columbia team succeeded in six out of ten foul tries, while the South Carolina team could make only three out of ten.

The game was rather slow, both teams handling the ball nervously and missing many shots. Tech gained a one-point lead at the end of the first quarter, 6 to 5, and maintained this lead through the rest of the game, although the Parker team threatened to overcome the small margin several times.

The score at half-time was 13 to 9, and at three-quarters, 20 to 16. Wheeler, shocky-haired Tech forward, led the scoring with 16 points, while Berry, Parker center, was second with 11. Eastern's defeat of Danville and Tech's victory over Parker will provide the tournament with one of its most interesting battles tomorrow afternoon, when these two teams will meet in the rubber game of a series that will decide the supremacy between them.

Tech and Eastern have battled twice this season, each winning one game.

G. U. Prep Wins Handily.

Jumping into the lead at the start of the second quarter and guarding closely throughout the game, Georgetown Prep, of Garrett Park, Md. Washington suburb, defeated Augusta Military Academy, of Fort Defiance, Va., 32 to 15. The game started off slowly, with Augusta scoring first. The first period ended in a 5-to-3 tie.

Georgetown held the losers to 3 points in each of the two middle periods, while garnering 10 points for herself in the second and 7 in the third. Augusta tried desperately, though not successfully, to cut the lead with long shots in the last quarter.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

(As it may have been done.)

MR. ROOSEVELT—Now I'd better get down to naming my Cabinet . . . Let's see . . . What material have I from which to draw? . . .

Inner Voice—There's Al Smith. He was once the party's candidate for President and he is perhaps the outstanding Democrat of our day.

Mr. Roosevelt (ignoring the suggestion quite abruptly)—I guess I'll begin with that new job, Director of the Budget. Now let me think a minute . . .

Inner Voice—Alfred E. Smith has had more experience in budgets than any man in the party. He's pretty fearless and . . .

Mr. Roosevelt (impatiently)—The name was on the tip of my tongue a moment ago . . . What was it? . . . Oh, yes, Douglas, or something like that . . . Quite a fellow, Douglas . . . Now, how about a Secretary of the Treasury? . . . had a man in mind for that job.

Inner Voice—The name wasn't Smith, was it, Governor?

Mr. Roosevelt (still cold)—Woodin, that was it. Woodin for Secretary of the Treasury. Now who'll I name Secretary of State?

Inner Voice—You remember Al Smith, don't you, Franklin?

Mr. Roosevelt (impatiently)—Smith? Smith? Was he a tall thin fellow with red whiskers and a mole?

Inner Voice—You and he were buddies at two conventions. You even nominated him for the Presidency.

Mr. Roosevelt (with a faraway look)—Cordell Hull's the fellow I'm trying to think of. Cordell Hull for Secretary of State. Now for a man for Secretary of War.

Inner voice—You haven't named Smith for anything yet, governor.

Mr. Roosevelt—Dern, did you say? Thanks! George H. Dern for Secretary of War. Now how about a Secretary of the Navy?

Mr. Roosevelt—Ah, those good old songs of the Southland. They remind me of just the man for the job—Senator Swanson. Now I come to the question of a Secretary of the Interior.

Inner voice—Once upon a time there was a great Democrat by the name of Alfred E. Smith. You placed his name in nomination for the highest office in the land twice, christened him the Happy Warrior and * * *

Mr. Roosevelt (slightly pained)—Ickes, did you say?

Inner voice—Not Ickes; Smith.

Mr. Roosevelt—I'm sure you said Ickes. Alfred E. Ickes * * * I remember him perfectly. Now, who will I name Secretary of Agriculture?

Inner voice—The Smith I'm trying to get you to remember wore a brown derby. Now it seems to me * * *

Mr. Roosevelt—Oh, now I remember him. His name is Wallace!

Inner voice (in great despair)—I give up, governor. I guess I was thinking of two other fellows.

WHAT UNCLE SAM NEEDS.

President-elect Roosevelt has been naming business men and legislators to his Cabinet, when what he really needs is Chandu the Magician.

Elmer Twitchell bought some South American bonds during the boom and says he figures they must be fairly good, as the condition of both countries is, while serious, not critical.

HANDICAPPED.

Al Smith talked common sense to a Senate committee recently, but it couldn't understand him, as it had no interpreter.

The Ford secretary who disappeared from Detroit says he "just woke up" in Traverse City. His brakes didn't hold.

Parks to Employ 2,000 of Jobless

Improvement Program to Provide Work for Idle Until July.

Plans for keeping 2,000 men and women employed daily until June 30 on improving parks and school grounds in Washington were outlined yesterday at a meeting of the District job-assignment committee, of which Capt. Howard Clark, Assistant Engineer Commissioner, is chairman.

Some $442,000 will be expended from municipal unemployment relief funds. Photographic records of the project before and after improvements will be kept by the committee. Consideration is being given to staggering the work schedules by weeks instead of days as at present.

One of the improvement jobs will be the digging of a trench in Anacostia Park to prevent the overflow of Kingman Lake.

HOUSE PASSES BILL FOR REGULATION OF CAPITAL BONDSMEN

The Post Is Near Victory in Drive to Correct Evil Operations.

The House yesterday unanimously passed and sent to the White House a bill for the regulation of professional bondsmen in the District, giving the local courts authority to protect the public against any unscrupulous operations.

The measure would punish unethical collusion between bondsmen, attorneys and the police, and authorize the courts to weed out all undesirable persons engaged in the business of executing criminal bonds in the District.

Passage of the bill climaxes a campaign waged by The Washington Post over a period of years, aimed at remedying many of the abuses now prevalent under the broad latitude allowed professional bondsmen.

Virtually No Restraint.

Up to the present time, bondsmen have conducted their business with virtually no restraint by the courts, and have been accountable for their conduct to no responsible public official.

Active in the drive to get remedial legislation has been J. P. Mullen, local attorney, who sponsored the measure before both District committees.

The bill makes it unlawful for any bondsman to give anything of value to any attorney, police officer or other official, and, inversely, makes it unlawful for any attorney to give anything of value to any bondsman or policeman, for procuring any person to employ his services.

Advance Information.

It requires that a list of all persons engaged in the business of executing criminal bonds be posted in a conspicuous place in every police precinct, available to persons detained.

A bondsman would be prohibited from entering a precinct for the purpose of obtaining employment, unless called by someone in custody.

Nor could a policeman give advance information of a raid or a search warrant to a bondsman, without penalty.

A police official would be designated to take bail or collateral at times when the Police Court is not open. Violations of the act would incur a fine of from $50 to $100 and imprisonment of from 10 to 60 days.

Capital Resident Found Dead at Rail Terminal

Badly mangled and decapitated the body of a colored man, later identified by papers in his pockets as Harris M. Jenlick, 35, 1412 First street northwest, was found early last night at the Washington Terminal.

Railroad detectives immediately started an investigation to ascertain the train that ran over the man. An inquest will be held early next week.

Woman Painfully Hurt In Automobile Accident

A collision between two automobiles last night at the intersection of Fifth and Quincy streets northwest sent Mrs. Luella Brinkley, 46, of 231 Fifteenth street southeast, to the hospital with severe cuts about the face.

The car in which Mrs. Brinkley was riding, driven by her son, Edwin A. Brinkley, 22, struck a car operated by Edwin A. Callahan, 19, of 230 Rhode Island avenue northeast, according to Tenth Precinct Police. At Sibley Hospital Mrs. Brinkley's condition was pronounced as undetermined.

Man Arrested in Brutal Robbery; $235 Stolen

Joseph Emery Hobbs, 42, 914 Alabama avenue southeast, was arrested by Detective Sergt. J. J. Tolson last night in connection with the attack on and robbery of George O. Hyde, 64, 504 School street southeast, early yesterday.

Hyde was found unconscious in his home with his head lying in a pool of blood. He had a long gash in his head and was weak from loss of blood. At Casualty Hospital his condition was reported serious. Hyde told police he had been robbed of $235.

Bliss N. Davis, Mail Official, in Retirement

Bliss N. Davis, of 3100 Connecticut avenue northwest, was presented with a traveling bag by his associates at the Post Office Department from which he was retired after 41 years of service.

At the time of his retirement he was assistant superintendent of equipment and supplies.

OLDEST G. A. R. HERO GREETED

RUM CAR CRASHES AFTER WILD CHASE

Jars of Whisky Are Seized and Occupant of Auto Sent to Hospital.

After a 35-mile liquor car chase from Baltimore, followed by a sort of "smash-the-car" game on the streets of Washington, the score last night apparently stood two to one in favor of Officers R. A. Brantly and W. L. Garis, Federal revenue men. Inaugural whisky, amounting to 164 half-gallon jars, was seized.

It started when the revenue men sighted a suspicious-looking sedan leaving the suburbs of Baltimore, and gave chase. The wild ride that followed led through all towns between the two cities with no slacking of speed. At First and L streets northwest the revenue men, realizing that something would have to be done to stop the car, drove into the side of the fleeing vehicle and overturned it.

The driver and lone occupant of the car, who later gave his name as Thomas Gorhan, Negro, 23, of 742 Lamont street northwest, was extricated from the wreck and taken to Sibley Hospital for treatment. While in the hospital with the injured man the car belonging to the officers was virtually picked to pieces by a crowd of Negroes, who gathered at the scene. After treatment for cuts and bruises, Gorhan was charged at the Second Precinct Station with illegal possession and transportation of whisky.

Holdup Fails as Woman Motorist Steps on Gas

An attempt was made last night to hold up two women as they were getting in their parked car at Fourteenth street and Rhode Island avenue northwest, according to Second Precinct police.

Florence Nelson, of 316 B street southeast, and Isabel Jouvenal, 4521 Forty-ninth street northwest, told the police that as they were getting in the car they were approached by a white man who produced a gun and demanded money. Quickly stepping on the gas, Miss Nelson drove the car away, she said, leaving the would-be holdup man bewildered.

TRAFFIC TOLL TO DATE.

While traffic conditions are abnormal, because of the inaugural, it is wise to trust implicitly and place yourself in the hands of traffic policemen and electric signal lights rather than try to take matters into your own hands.

	1932	1933
Deaths	19	12
Injuries	616	584
Accidents	1,319	1,392

GEROME DESIO DIES AT RESIDENCE HERE

Gerome Desio, 85, pioneer jeweler of Washington, died yesterday at his home at 1608 Wyoming avenue, following an illness of five weeks.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Margaret M. Desio, he is survived by the following children: Victor E. Desio and Tanena F. Desio, both of Washington, and Jerome A. Desio, of San Francisco, Calif., and Mrs. Russell F. Didier, of Rhinelander, Wis.

Mr. Desio was born in Palermo, Italy, and came to this country in 1872, where he established the Victor E. Desio & Co., of this city, exclusive jewelers. The first store was located on Pennsylvania avenue and later removed to F street. Following several years of success here the business was taken over by his son and daughter, Victor E. and Tanena Desio. Th retired in 1931.

In 1920 Mr. Desio took out naturalization papers and at that time was the oldest person ever to apply for citizenship.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. at St. Paul's Church, at Fifteenth and V streets northwest, the Rev. Lawrence Kilkenny officiating. Interment arrangements have not been completed.

OLDEST UNION HERO FINDS CITY CHANGED

Man Who Marched Before Lincoln Here Is Guest of Inaugural.

The Union's oldest hero, somewhat feeble of body but bright of mind and eye, came back to Washington yesterday for the first time in 68 years to again parade down historic Pennsylvania avenue as he did when he marched in the Grand Army of the Republic before President Lincoln.

He is Francis A. Bishop, of Retail, Wash., who at the age of 91 years is the oldest holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor and a veteran member of the Legion of Valor.

Seated beside his wife in an automobile which bore the couple from the Union Station to a downtown hotel, the aged man's eyes dimmed with tears as he became lost in the past.

Finds City Changed.

Before him spread the majestic buildings and beauty of Washington. He was almost overcome with emotion as he told of the Washington of other years—Pennsylvania avenue a dirt street, long before the event of the horse car and the absence of many of the old landmarks familiar to his memory.

Now all that is gone and the sudden realization of the complete change almost overwhelmed the aged visitor. But he is enthusiastic about the "new city" and pleased with the growth of the capital of "such a great Nation."

Mr. Bishop remembers well when he was a private in the Fifty-seventh Pennsylvania Infantry, a part of the Army of the Potomac. And well does he remember the Battle of Spottsylvania where the Confederates captured the flag of the Pennsylvania regiment. Private Bishop, against great odds and in the face of extreme danger recaptured the company colors, for which he was voted the supreme decoration by Congress.

Guest of Ray Baker.

He has come to ride in the inaugural parade as a special guest of Ray Baker, chairman of the inaugural committee on distinguished guests. Special arrangements will be made for the entertainment of the veteran and his wife while they are in the city.

It is planned for Mr. Bishop to have a part in the inaugural ceremonies and a place for him in the presidential reviewing stand, as near to the new President as possible.

Other medal of honor men in Washington include Sterling Morelock, 1819 G street northwest, through whom Mr. Bishop was brought to the attention of Mr. Baker; Capt. Joel T. Boone, White House physician; Lieut. William Hamberger, 2227 Twentieth street northwest; Earle Gregory, 2650 Wisconsin avenue northwest; Robert Bloom, 1319 T street southeast, and P. B. Keefer, 2115 Third street northeast.

Worker Hurt in Fall.

Merritt Everhart, 34, of 504 D street northeast, suffered a fracture of the jaw, a broken wrist and lacerations yesterday when he fell from the first floor to the basement of the new Labor Department Building, Fourteenth and Constitution avenue.

He is an employe of the construction company.

COL. OVERTON C. PIERCE.

OVERTON C. PIERCE, ARMY OFFICER, DIES

Native of Kentucky Holder of Many Decorations From World War.

Col. Overton C. Pierce, of the Air Corps, United States Army, died yesterday at his home in the Northbrook Terrace Apartments, Sixteenth and Newton streets northwest, following a protracted illness. He was 66 years old.

Col. Pierce had been a resident of Washington for many years. He was a native of Lancaster, Ky. He came here some years prior to the World War and was employed in the War Department.

He saw active service during the Spanish-American War and was wounded in action while stationed in the Philippines. At the outbreak of the World War, Col. Pierce went to France as a lieutenant colonel in the Motor Transport Corps. He was promoted to colonel a short time later.

Col. Pierce received many awards in recognition of his services, among them being the Cross of the Legion of Honor and the Medal Militaire of France, from the French president. The British medal for distinguished conduct and the Italian war cross also were conferred on him.

Col. Pierce also held a citation signed by Gen. John J. Pershing for "exceptionally meritorious and conspicuous service."

To a Degree

Awed Thief Elects to Flee When He Finds Victim Has an LL. D.

"Excuse me!!! I did not know you were a 'D. of L.'"

He also discovered a rear window and a front window of his home had been jimmied. The burglar evidently entered the rear window first, but found the kitchen door locked.

Nothing was taken from the home. Mr. Lingamfelter believes that his LL. D. sheepskin hanging above his desk caused the burglar to abandon his plan to loot the home.

CITIZENS ADVOCATE CUPOLA RESTORING AS HARRIS TRIBUTE

Burroughs Group Points Out Taft School One of Last Architect Designed.

Restoration of the cupola to the new Taft Junior High School as a tribute to the memory of Albert L. Harris, District municipal architect, who died last week, was urged in resolutions adopted last night by the Burroughs Citizens Association.

The Taft school building, it was pointed out, was one of the last designed by Mr. Harris and included a cupola in keeping with other school buildings designed by the architect.

Blames Prejudices.

Removal of the cupola was attributed by the association to "the recent custom of certain committees" in Congress to enter gentlemen's agreements with District officials and to impose restrictions which handicap the administrative officers of the District in proper discharge of their functions.

"This practice," it was asserted, "has resulted in substituting the whims and prejudices of uninformed or poorly informed individuals for the experienced judgment and knowledge of the administrative officials, or of experts employed by them, to the impairment of the proper and economical functioning of the District government."

Protests Restrictions.

The association voted to protest to the new Congress against legislative restrictions in appropriation bills, and against private agreements entered into between administrative officials of the District and members of congressional committees.

Capt. H. A. Chapman, of the District Fire Department, addressed the association. A resolution was adopted recommending that a member of the Fire Department address pupils in schools of the Burroughs community at least once a year.

Upon retirement Tuesday Mr. Kendall was congratulated upon a fine record by Secretary of State Stimson.

Mr. Kendall came to Washington 47 years ago and was engaged as an architect until 1918, when he became research assistant in the War Trade Board. When that board was discontinued in July, 1919, he was assigned to the special library service of the trade adviser's office of the State Department, where he later became reference librarian.
